Cooperative Councils Sponsor Students

HARRISBURG — Cooperative trade associations in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware are sponsoring 53 high school students to the National Institute on Cooperative Education (NICE) in Rochester, NY, July 25-29.

NICE, which is sponsored by the American Institute of Cooperation, is the largest annual educational event devoted to cooperatives. The youth program is only one portion of the conference, which includes sessions for managers, directors, young farmers, vocational agriculture teachers, extension agents and land-grant university staff.

The Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives, through its system of volunteer multi-county councils, is sponsoring 48 students; the New Jersey Council of Farmer Cooperatives, four students; and the Delaware Council of Farmer Cooperatives, one student. In addition, Atlantic Dairy Cooperative is sponsoring five students from the three states.

The students were selected on a competitive basis, and all demonstrate community involvement, leadership skills and basic knowledge of cooperatives. This core group, along with 25 students from the New York Council, will help host this year's event, which should draw 1400 people from across the nation.

Four of the students were selected from those attending the 1987 conference, and they will have expanded leadership roles in the 1988 program. They are Irene Benner, Millerstown; Junia Laughery, Union City; David Price, Nicholson; and Janet Sweinhart, State College.

The other students follow:

Randy Aman, Kimberton; Michelle Arment, East Earl; Keith Beattie, Atglen; Krista Bender, Guys Mills; John Bicksler, Bernville; Michael Boyer, Huntingdon; Joan Brofee, Millerstown; John

PA Ayrshire Breeders Receive Awards At Field Day

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster) — Robert and Bonnie Wentworth hosted the Pennsylvania Ayrshire Field Day at their 1026 River Road farm in Quarryville on Saturday, July 16.

Ayrshire history runs deep in the Wentworth family. Robert's grandfather, Edwin Wentworth, started with Ayrshires on a farm in Amherst, Massachusetts in 1931. He processed his milk and sold it in the town of Amherst. He also showed his Ayrshires at local and state fairs later traveling to Chicago, Ill. and Waterloo, Iowa to show cattle.

In 1963 Edwin received the "Distinguished Service Award" from the National Ayrshire Breeders Association. Robert's father, Fred, continued the family business of farming and retailing the milk in Amherst. With retirement for Fred approaching and housing development pressing on all sides, he decided to relocate.

In June 1987, Robert and Bonnie moved their 85 head of Ayr-

STRASBURG — The summer meeting of Lancaster County's Extension staff and board members was held Monday evening at Hershey Farm. County Agent Jay Irwin reported that the Extension personnel have extra work because of the drought.

"We try extra hard in times like these to help our distressed farmers with feeding and harvesting information," Irwin said. "In our weekly Extension staff meeting this week, we established that Lancaster County has lost at least 50 percent of its corn crop."

Lilli Ann Kopp, President of the Extension Board, presented 25-year service awards to Home Economist Doris Thomas, and Head Secretary Suzanne Schmalhofer.

Thomas served as a home economist in a local gas company and taught home economics for six years at Solanco High School before joining the Penn State Extension staff in 1963. In 1975, she received a Distinguished Service Award from the National Association of Extension Home Economists and currently serves as vice president of the national association.

Schmalhofer received the Epsilon Sigma Phi Extension Secretarial Award in 1987 as the Outstanding Extension Secretary in Pennsylvania. She became the head secretary and office manager for the Extension Service in 1977.

Kopp reported that the Extension staff has a grand total of 191 years of service to the people of Lancaster County.

Reserve Program Hay May Be Donated

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng said this week producers in counties not suffering from drought may harvest hay under various annual acreage reduction programs and the 10-year Conservation Reserve Program if they donate the hay to farmers in drought-stricken areas.

Previously hay could only be taken from land in counties approved for emergency haying or grazing of such acreage due to drought.

A producer who wishes to donate such hay should contact the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office for harvesting permission, Lyng said.

Following harvesting of hay from this acreage, the producer must donate the hay through a designated state agency engaged in drought relief efforts. The producer must also obtain certification from this state agency that the hay has been donated and file the certification with the local ASCS office.

Contact your local ASCS office for more information.

Beauty Captures Holstein Show Title

BY PAT PURCELL

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster) — It is not often that every competitor in a dairy show is able to be a winner, but such was the case at the Lancaster County Holstein Show on Thursday at the Solanco Fairgrounds.

Although not all 106 entries earned a blue ribbon or a trophy, each competitor did gather either praise or a better knowledge of the animal's shortcomings for having shown. Show judge Paul King, formerly of Kingway Holsteins in York, took the time to discuss his reasonings for placings with each competitor.

After the show King commented on the quality of the show and said he hoped the extra time he spent gave the competitors some encouragement and some pointers for improvement. Being one of the first major shows to kickoff the season, no doubt competitors will heed King's advice.

King left the dairy farming last year, but continues to devote much of his time to the industry by judging dairy shows throughout much of Pennsylvania. He and his wife Kathy now reside in West Virginia.

The prestigious banners of Premier Breeder and Premier Exhibitor were split this year. Lloyd and Leroy Welk, owners of Welk Acres in Quarryville were awarded the coveted Premier Breeder for 1988. David and Joe Kolb of Kolb Brothers in Lancaster received the 1988 Premier Exhibitor title.

It was Metcalfs Valiant Beauty-ET owned by Thomas McCauley of Elizabethtown which captured the Grand Champion spot. This 5-year-old had succumbed to the pressures of the high temperatures the day before, according to McCauley and had not shown her best at the 4-H County Round-up on Wednesday, but regained her composure and form on Thursday to show at her best.

McCauley noted that although the number of entries were down in

Area Youth Receive Conservation Scholarships

EPHRATA (Lancaster) — Four Ephrata area agricultural students received scholarships to attend the 1988 Lancaster County Youth Conservation School July 24-30. They are:

Jenny Haller, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Richard Haller, 207 W. Main St., Ephrata. Jenny is a member of the Ephrata Junior High School Jr. Ag. Club and her $75.00 tuition was sponsored by the Club.

Keith Zimmerman, son of Mr. & Mrs. David Zimmerman, 100 Woodcorner Road, Lititz. Keith is also a member of the EJHS Jr. Ag. Club and his tuition was sponsored by the Ephrata Area Young & Adult Farmers' Association.

Jeremy Redcay, son of Mr. & Mrs. John Hatfield, 335 E. Pine St., Ephrata. Jeremy is a member of the Cloister FFA at Ephrata Senior High School and his tuition is sponsored by the Northern Lancaster County Game & Fish Association.

Michael Weiler, son of Mr. & Mrs. Norman Weiler, 771 Hopeland Road, Lititz. Mike is also a member of the Cloister FFA and his tuition is sponsored by the Ephrata Area Young & Adult Farmers' Association.

These successful applicants will report (reported) to camp at Northern Lancaster County Game & Fish Association located in West Cocalico Township on Sunday afternoon, July 24th. The school is conducted by the Lancaster Coun-

Acres Corn Update: Rainfall over the weekend along with forecasts for continued rainfall unleashed the bears today with corn opening and closing locked limit down. Expanded limits remained in effect of 15 cents, with limitless July posting a loss of $.30 and settling at $3.03-1/2 Although some questioned how much the rain benefited the crop, the overall effect was bearish to the trade. Generic certificate bids were steady today with bids of face value to as much as 101-1/4%

Acres Soybean Update: Limit down again today for the July through May 1989 months, with many left wondering how far can it go Continued beneficial rainfall has ignited the selling passion with many now turning optimistic The July option expired quietly at $8 29, down 45-1/2 cents Trading was generally quiet today with some spread activity featured. Higher European values this morning allowed beans to trade actively this morning Expanded limits remained in effect for today's trading of 45 cents

Acres Wheat Update: Wheat futures closed lower from 4 cents to 5-3/4 cents, erasing yesterday's gains with pressured attributed to heavy fund selling. Further pressure early in the session stemmed from news that the USDA had rejected several export bonus bids, along with sharply lower soybean prices The July option expired midday at 11 cents lower at $3 65.

Acres Cattle Update: Live cattle closed mixed again today with the spot option settling 33 points higher while the deferred months settled as much as 63 points lower Weak cash fundamentals kept August gains in check with some spreading featured in the August/October Expectations for lower midday quotations also pressured Feeders settled mostly unchanged today with the spot month posting a 53 point loss, while November gained 13 The other months were unchanged

ACRES NEXT DAY OUTLOOK: cash -steady to weak futures-steady to mixed

Cattle on Feed pre-estimates were released today as follows.

Acres Hog Update: Live hogs closed mostly lower this afternoon registering losses of 75 points to limit The July option expired at midday, with a gain of 55 points at $47.20. The weight of expected increased marketings pressured along with weakening cash fundamentals. The establishment of new short positions added to the selling pressure with June 1989 settling lower the full daily limit.

ACRES NEXT DAY OUTLOOK· cash - steady to lower futures - steady to lower.

A DAIRY RATION BALANCED FOR EACH DAIRY FARM

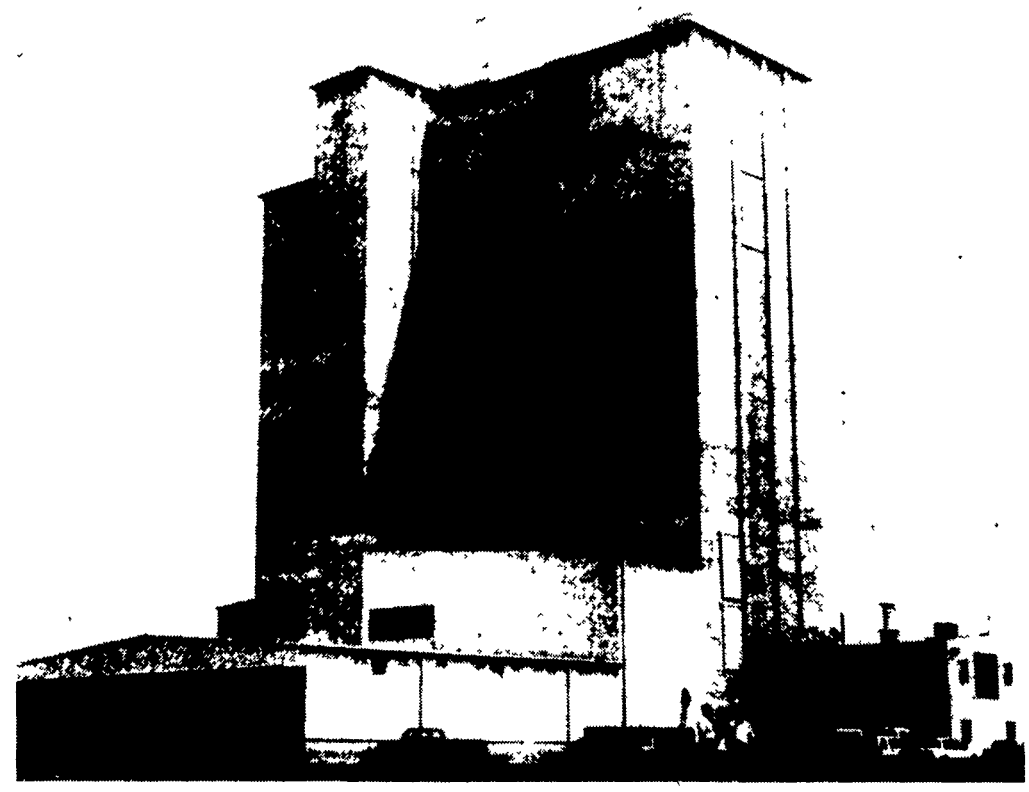
PENNFIELD DAIRY FEEDS

FOR TODAY'S DAIRYMAN

WE DESIGN YOUR DAIRY RATION TO MEET YOUR NEEDS.



Mt. Joy Mill - Built To Meet YOUR Needs

Pennfield's new Mt. Joy feed mill has a feed production line specifically designed by Pennfield to produce PFR (Precision Formulated Rations) custom formulated dairy feeds balanced for each dairyman's feeding program. This customized ration will be pelleted to prevent separation of vitamins and minerals from the feed ingredients. The ration will be balanced to meet specific needs such as PROTEIN, BY-PASS PROTEIN, MINERALS, STARCH LEVEL, ADDED FAT, NDF (Neutral Detergent Fiber), ADF (Acid Detergent Fiber), PALATABILITY, TOTAL RATION DENSITY, and FEEDING PROGRAM PROFITABILITY.

AREAS TO LOOK AT TO IMPROVE PROFITABILITY

1. Use 2- feed system for milk cows. Fresh cows get high density feed for peak lactation, and tail enders are fed least cost ration.
2. Increase forage feeding to lower producing cows - this will reduce amount of feed needed to balance program.
3. Don't keep extra benefits - it costs approximately $300 per year to feed each heifer. Milking cows x 60% gives you total number of heifers birth to fresh. Example 50 milk cows x 60% = 30 heifers total.
4. Work on a better growing program for the generally neglected yearling heifer. Bigger "spring of rib" heifers will eat more forage and give a bigger milk check during their first lactation. Heifers need to average 15,000-16,000 lbs. of milk for their first lactation.
5. Use NPN (non-protein nitrogen) to reduce protein costs in mid to late lactation dairy rations.
6. Reduce overhead- rented ground and poorly utilized equipment can be costly. It generally pays to grow your forages, but look at using custom services for silo filling.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

JULY 25-31, 1988

Nights get foggy, warm, and soggy.

Louis Blerlot made first airplane flight across the English Channel July 25, 1909 Full moon July 28 (Thurs) Veteran 'Bonus Army" evicted from encampment in Washington, D C , July 28, 1932 Average length of days for the week 14 hours, 36 minutes Flooding near Bridgeport, Conn , caused over $250,000 damage July 29, 1905 The cheapest and best way to convince a fool is to agree with him

Ask the Old Farmer: Would you tell me how to rid my house of fleas? E F, Guilford, Conn

Mix up a soapy water solution and pour into shallow dishes setting the dishes in the rooms where the pests are found Directly over each dish place a desk lamp that shines down into the water Do this at night and have the room completely dark The fleas will jump into the water and be unable to get out because of the soap For the first four or five days you ll catch a lot but keep at it for two weeks to get all the fleas

Home Hints: When delphiniums have finished flowering cut back stalks and fertilize for a second blooming

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Through midweek clear and warm end of week showery and cool
Greater New York-New Jersey: Week begins sunny and hot, thunderstorms mid week, end of week rainy and mild
Middle Atlantic Coastal: Through midweek sunny and hot, thundershowers at end of week
Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Beginning of week rainy and warm midweek sunny and hot, end of week rainy and mild

OPINION

4-H Week Begins Monday

Pennsylvania 4-H'ers across the state are fine tuning their skills, polishing their performances and otherwise getting ready for Penn State 4-H Week that begins on Monday.

More than 1,400 young people and 100 adult volunteer leaders will join Penn State faculty at the University Park Campus for three days of classes, competitions and presentations.

"This year's program is especially full," says Dr. Robert Lewis, professor of 4-H Youth in the College of Agriculture and chairman of Penn State 4-H Week. "In addition to the 4-H project competitions, Penn State faculty in the College of Agriculture, Science, Engineering and several other areas, will give presentations on career opportunities, hold workshops on teen issues, as well as workshops in animal science, plant science, engineering, home and family management and foods and nutrition," he says.

4-H'ers will have a chance to discuss current topics such as money management, peer pressure, decision making, sexuality and drugs as well as develop new communications skills in public speaking, photography and public relations. They will also attend workshops in citizenship, international travel and leadership.

Members of 4-H throughout Pennsylvania will compete in a number of 4-H project areas as well as participate in regional sports competitions in softball, swimming, tennis, basketball and volleyball. Contests include livestock, vegetable, flower and poultry judging, as well as physical fitness, clothing and textiles, riflery and orienteering. The annual Fashion Revue is always a popular contest culminating in an evening presentation of young men and women modeling creations they made in 4-H clothing and textile projects.

New this year is the 4-H Canine Superbowl for participants in the 4-H Leader Puppy, 4-H Dog Obedience and Handling and 4-H Seeing Eye Puppy projects. The superbowl includes training and showmanship workshops in each project area. Also new is a Rabbit and Cavy Bowl and Skillathon. Cavies are small animals, such as guinea pigs and hamsters, and are becoming a popular 4-H project.

When it comes to 4-H, everyone has a chance to learn. Extension agents across the state dedicate themselves as teachers to our youth. In addition, a large number of volunteer leaders lend time and skills to the program. And moms and dads get their children involved.

While next week has been designated as 4-H Week at Penn State, yet one week is not long enough to commemmorate the benefits of the 4-H program. Because of all the dedicated people involved any week of the year could be called 4-H Week. Or you could say "every" week of the year.

To Adjust To The Drought And Tight Feed Supplies

There is a great deal of valuable information written to assist you during the drought. I only want to highlight a couple of items.

First of all, farmers should estimate the extent to which they will be short of feed and start planning early for alternative courses of action. Keep in mind that planting crops during droughty conditions is risky due to lack of sufficient moisture to germinate and sustain the crop. So, it is not advisable to invest in a lot of fertilizer and chemicals.

Brassicas such as rape and kale can be planted in July and August and produce top growth for grazing. Small grains such as rye, barley, oats and wheat can be seeded in July through mid-October to provide some fall grazing and additional feed the following spring. Wheat for grain however, should not be planted before the "fly-free" date.

Corn is a real concern. Ensile stressed corn stands when the leaves fail to unroll at night and tops begin to brown. At this stage, the crop probably won't recover; ensile the crop before it becomes too dry and fiber quality deteriorates. If the leaves unroll at night, don't ensile the crop; it is still accumulating nutrients. Again, don't be in too big a hurry to ensile it. Evaluate corn fields closely.

To Be Aware Of Lightning Danger

Hot summer temperatures often bring severe thunder and lightning storms; and we've had some in certain areas this summer, and no doubt there will be more to come. We urge parents to warn their youngsters of the danger of seeking shelter under a tree or swimming in a pond or creek before and during a storm. Safety in a truck, car or building should be encouraged as the storm approaches, as well as during the storm. Stay away from electric fences and farm equipment that is out in the open.

Buildings with lightning rods should be checked to be sure the rods are grounded in moist soil and free of debris that would prevent the cable from taking the charge into the ground.

To Fertilizer Strawberry Plants

Most strawberry growers have realized good returns from their plants in recent years. The prices are favorable and the market is there. In order to realize the maximum yield next spring, we suggest the plants be well fertilized this summer. An application of 20 to 30 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre over the plants during July or August should give strength to new runners and increase fruit yield. This application should be made when the plants are dry to avoid burning the leaves. In the home strawberry patch use about one-fourth pound of ammonium nitrate per 100 square feet of bed space. Good care of the strawberry plants this summer will bring about better yields next June.

To Check Pets For Fleas

Warm weather favors the development of fleas and you will find them jumping right now. First of all treat the dogs and cats with commercial flea powders. Flea collars appear to do a good job against fleas but check the pet frequently because the skin of some animals becomes irritated by the material in the collar. For indoors, treat infested areas with ant and roach aerosols. Do not overlook the bedding of pets or their sleeping quarters. Sevin does an effective job in this area.

Because fleas often infest lawns in the summer, treat the grass with sprays or dusts containing either Sevin or Diazinon. Apply these sprays according to the directions on the container.

FARM FORUM OUR READERS WRITE

Editor's Note: Here's the Kadler story.

"A man who owns land and lives on it eventually creates his own self-portrait in the fields." Vance Bourjaily (American writer)

Everyone dreams of living in "the country". In a world of high technology where everything is precisely calculated, the openness and freedom of country life has an appeal to even the most exacting city dweller. People buy dried apple wreaths, wooden sheep and cows, flour sack aprons, handwoven baskets, and patchwork pillows to bring a feeling of nostalgic hominess to even a high rise condominium in the city.

My Dad has lived the country life in Glen Arm for almost eighty years. His grandfather bought the farm with money obtained from the Gold Rush in California. As a

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHEN SOMETHING'S "TOO HEAVY"

Background Scripture: Exodus 18.

Devotional Reading: 1 Corinthians 12:4-11.

I'm sure that Moses was shocked at the response of his father-in-law, Jethro. Undoubtedly, he had assumed that his father-in-law would be impressed with all that he did in a day's time. Surely Jethro would be proud and have nothing but praise for his son-in-law!

Instead, Jethro demanded: "What is this that you are doing for the people? Why do you sit alone, and all the people stand about you from morning till evening?" (18:14) Still certain of his position, Moses replies: "Because the people come to me to inquire of God; when they have a dispute...I decide between a man and his neighbor, and I make them know the statutes of God and his decisions" (18:15).

INDISPENSIBLE

Before we consider Jethro's reply, let us think for a moment and ask ourselves if Moses' retort doesn't strike a familiar chord with us. Are there not times when we too think that we have to do it all by ourselves? If someone needs to lift up the world, we assume that we have to carry it on our shoulders alone.

When we assume that kind of an attitude, whether we realize it or not, it is a challenge to the authority of God. For, what we are saying is, that, unless we do it all alone, it won't be done, or at least not correctly. Actually, it is an arrogant rejection of our need for God. It proceeds from our assumption that we are indispensible. In reality, only God fits that description.

What Jethro said to Moses, he might just as rightly say to some of us: "What you are doing is not good" (18:17). Then he goes on to conclude: "You and the people with you will wear yourselves out, for the thing is too heavy for you." The only thing that is damaged when we admit something is too heavy for us is our false sense of self-sufficiency.

MOSES GAVE HEED

In church work we usually find that people fall into two categories: those that don't want to do anything and, those who want to do it all by themselves. Perhaps one of the reasons many people don't want to do anything is the ready availability of those who want to do it all alone. We may think we are doing others a favor when we carry their share of the load, but usually we are hurting them, keeping them from realizing and accepting their own responsibility.

Moses, we are told, "gave heed to the voice of his father-in-law and did all that he had said" (18:24). And when something is too heavy for any of us, we too need to learn to accept advice and help from sources beyond our own strength.

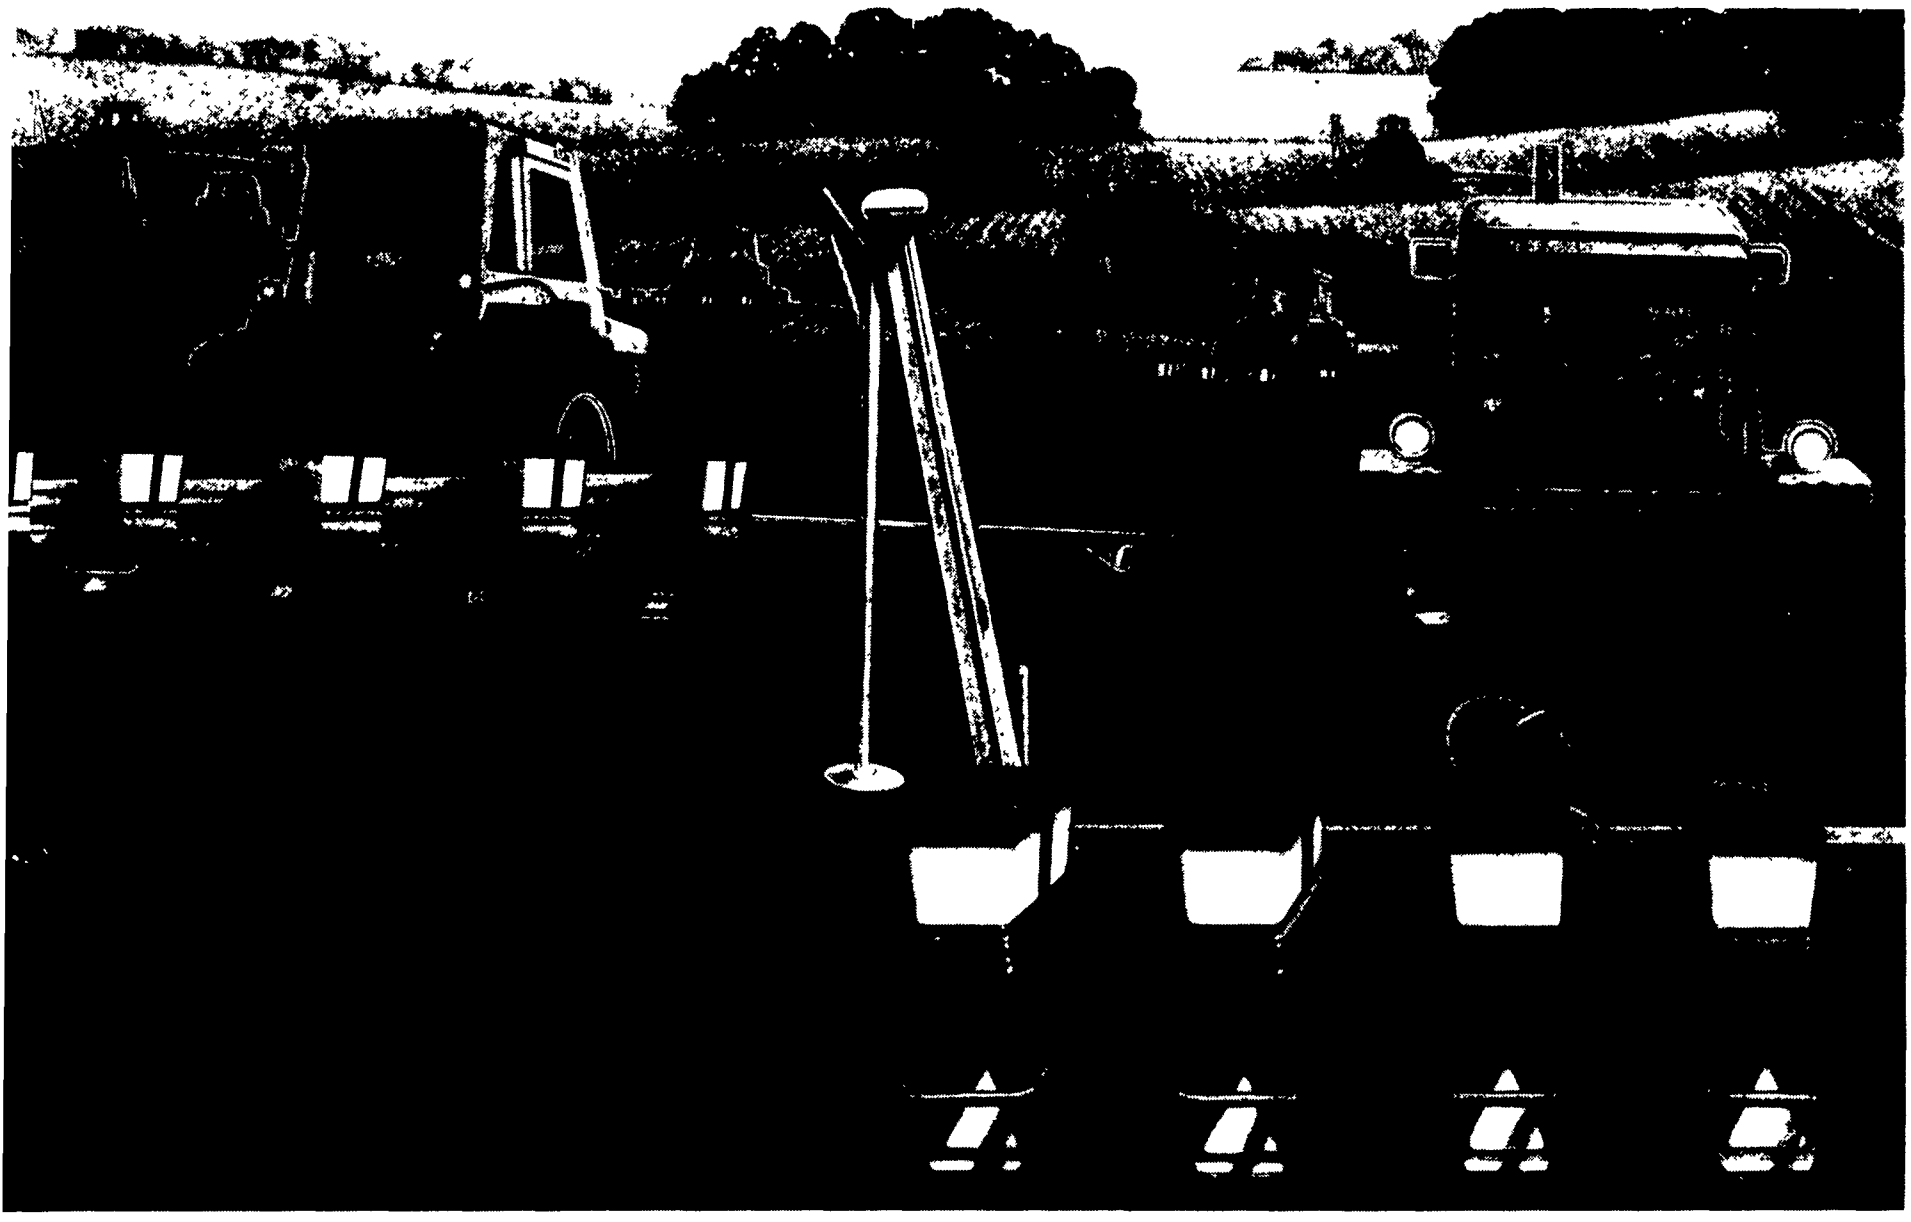
I LEARNED THAT YOU SHOULD NEVER EAT TWO SWIRLS OF COTTON CANDY, THREE SLUSHES, TWO CORN DOGS AND THEN RIDE THE 'GIANT-WHIRLEE-GIG'.



We Put More Men In The Field Than The United States Army.

Currently, Uncle Sam keeps around 300,000 army soldiers on active duty.

Farm Credit, on the other hand, helps keep over 2 million farmers on active duty. With more loans for more farming needs than any other lending institution.

For many of you, we've been there from the beginning. With money for land, as well as your house and barn.

We help stock the farm, too. With loans for everything from cows to catfish. Seeds to saplings. Fertilizer to fencing.

And when it's time for a new tractor or pick-up, just call us to get the wheels turning.

Farming has been our only field of interest for seventy years. That's because we're farmers too. Farm Credit is owned and controlled by the same farmers who use its services.

What's more, come rain or shine, we'll stick by you in any kind of weather. And when you think about it, that's reason enough to join our ranks.

Giant Genetic And Economic Returns

B.G. CASSELL AND J.M. MATTISON

STATE COLLEGE (Centre) — Variation among people, animals and practices is what produces diversity. Seldom is one piece of advice appropriate for everyone. Use of AI on heifers may be an important exception for dairy farmers.

Using AI dairy sires on heifers has long been a recommended practice, yet adoption has been slow and thousands of excuses can be obtained for not using AI in the heifer breeding program. In many herds, the milking cow and newborn calf are the focus of dairy producer's concerns. Heifers fall into the category of "out of sight-out of mind." Yet their well-being represents a significant capital investment and "genetic warehouse" in any dairy operation. By slightly modifying management practices and implementing an AI program in these heifers, significant returns in both investment and genetics will be available for dairy producers.

A recent Virginia Tech study (which included 500,000 freshenings from January 1966 to April 1985) indicated the frequency of calves produced by heifers and by older cows. Almost 32% of all calvings occured in heifers. Thus the significance of heifer AI is obvious. In a 200 cow herd, natural service for heifers would equate to passing up the opportunity to have 15 additional AI sired replacements available per year.

Heifer calves resulting from "jumper bulls" or beef sires are genetic liabilities, offering less economic return across their entire lifetimes. This difference can mean hundreds or thousands of dollars of income to a dairy producer using AI and especially Heifer AI. These facts make it clear that "one small step", the addition of Heifer AI to a breeding program, will add "Giant Genetic and Economic Returns" to dairy farm profitability.

NEW

For alfalfa growers

Pounce on leafhoppers.

Introducing new Pounce 3.2EC Insecticide from FMC. It's everything you've ever wanted in a potato leafhopper insecticide and more.

Pounce controls potato leafhopper fast. The high tech pyrethroid chemistry in Pounce provides excellent control of leafhopper and seventeen other alfalfa insects including alfalfa weevil, aphids and loopers. And you can spray Pounce right up to the day you harvest for maximum yield protection.

Pounce is effective at rates as low as four ounces per acre so it's competitively priced compared to what you have been using.

That's Pounce 3.2EC insecticide for effective, quick and economical potato leafhopper control right up to the day you harvest. It's just been cleared for use and it's available at your chemical dealer now.

Lancaster Holstein

this year's Lancaster County Holstein Show from previous years the competition was still quite tough, but said he is looking for even tougher competition coming up at the Championship Show to be held August 15 at Shippensburg.

John Brubaker of Christiana brought out his herd's best cow and took Reserve Grand Champion. C Harliff Shiek Amanda took first in her class at the competition last year. Her most recent record is 25,000 lbs. with a 4.5 butterfat test, according to Brubaker. Amanda's dam is Harcliff King Janet and sired by Puget Sound Chief.

It was Justin Howes of Elizabethtown who was selected as having the 1988 Best Senior Animal Owned and Bred in the show with his 5-year-old, Legacy Sexation Percy, sired by Oceanview Sexation. Matthew Welk of Peach Bottom, took the 1988 Best Junior Animal Owned and Bred in the show with Welk-Crest Eddie Lou Ella, sired by Woodbine-K Valiant Eddie ET.

Jay Landis, President of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association served as Breed Manager for the show and noted that the number of entries may have been down this year because of the discouraging heat and weather conditions,

Junior Champion of the Lancaster County Holstein Show was Bethany Kauffman (right) and Reserve Junior Champion went to Sandra Kauffman. Making the presentations were: Lancaster County Dairy Princesses (Alt.) Diane Hershberger (far right) Julie Greider, and (Alt.) Sue Trimble with show judge Paul King.

but the quality of the show was still good. Landis reported that while in State College the day before he learned that most shows throughout the state were running with decreased entries, but added that with the rain that he felt that Holstein breeders would regain their enthusiasm for showing.

Lancaster 4-H Dairy Show Winners Named

BY EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

QUARRYVILLE — The Lancaster County 4-H Dairy Roundup held here Wednesday, like all 4-H Roundups, got the youth involved, and parents and grandparents to ringside to watch. In addition, both parents and youth receive praise for the effort of showing 150 head of fine dairy animals.

Lancaster County Dairy Agent Glenn Shirk said the entries represented the fine work of many families across the county. "We have a good of young people and a good group of animals in our dairy club," Shirk said. "Everyone can learn something here today."

In the Holstein show, a pair of Elizabethtown 4-H'ers took top honors. Justin Howes won the grand champion with a tall black Sexation daughter from the five years and over class. The winner was Legacy Sexation Percy. While only ten years old, Howes had won honors last year with his 4-H calf that later died. But he used the experience as a basis to write the winning essay that recently netted him a free Holstein calf presented by the Lebanon County National Bank.

The Reserve Grand Champion was shown by veteran 4-H showman Tom McCauley. Another Sexation daughter, Woodbine-ND Sexy Cindy-ET, topped the 4 year old class.

Matthew Welk Peach Bottom, showed his first place senior yearling to the junior championship, and Nikelle Wivell, Columbia, followed with the second place senior yearling to the reserve junior championship.

In the Jersey show, Helen Arrowsmith, Peach Bottom, had all the champions except one. A stylish senior two year old, Hillacres Top Brass Jester was the senior and grand champion. The champion is a Top Brass daughter. And Arrowsmith's age cow Hillacres Master Victoria was reserve senior and reserve grand champion. Tim Ulrich, Quarryville, had the junior champion with a first place senior yearling, and Arrowsmith had the reserve junior champion with a first place junior calf.

Brothers Steve and Scott Wagner, Quarryville, showed the championships in the Guernsey show. Steve had the senior and grand champion with his senior two year old, Bo Joy Rev Molly, and Scott had the reserve senior and reserve grand champion with the three year old, Bo Joy Rev Robin. Both champions are daughters of Fre Lyn Telstar Revelation-ET.

Steve also had the junior champion from the summer yearling class. And John Henisee, Elizabethtown, had the reserve junior champion.

The junior champion was the senior champion in the Brown Swiss show. Thomas Zartman Jr., Ephrata, showed his senior calf, Meadow Hill Johnny D Pretty-ET, to the top. And Steven Wagner, Quarryville, had the reserve grand champion with his senior champion three year old, Marty L. Toto. The reserve senior champion was shown by Gerald Boyd, Ephrata. And the reserve junior champion was shown by Scott Wagner.

In the Ayrshire show, Angela Spickler, Mt. Joy, had the grand champion with her senior yearling, St. C Johnny's K Moon Angelique. Spickler also had the junior champion and the reserve junior champion. Dana Clark, Lititz, had the reserve grand champion with her senior two year old, Spruce Villa Hi Champ Mandy.

Type judges for the show were: Robert Knutzen, Rising Sun, Md., and Earl Keefer, Millersburg. Fitting and showing judges were: William Lesher, Reading, and David Swartz, Chester County Agent.

ATTITUDE MAKES A DIFFERENCE

Proper milking procedures and a positive attitude are required to minimize mastitis and maximize quality production from a milking herd. Milking should be done by responsible and conscientious persons. Good management dictates that the person milking must be constantly alert to conditions that may spread mastitis organisms from cow to cow. Correcting such conditions assists the production of high quality milk from healthier udders.

Human Society Reps To Address Penn Ag Convention

GETTYSBURG — Gail Black and Nancy Wathen, D.V.M., representing the Humane Society of the United States, will be two of the guest speakers at PennAg Industries Association's 110th Annual Convention. This year's convention will be held at the Gettysburg - Sheraton Inn from Sept. 18-20, 1988.

Ms. Black, who attended the University of Texas, Grayson County College, and the University of Colorado, is a Research Associate in the Farm Animal and Bioethics Division at the Humane Society of the United States. Prior to joining the Humane Society, she was a Sales and Marketing Representative for Organic Farms, Inc., Beltsville, Maryland. She also was a Consultant in Sustainable Agriculture, working with farmers, manufacturers, wholesale distributors, certification programs and associated organizations to create local ecological food systems.

Dr. Walthen received her Bachelor of Science and Doctor of Veterinary Medicine from Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan. She also received a Master of Education in Community Mental Health Counseling from Northeastern University, Boston, Massachusetts. She has technical expertise in such program areas as animal welfare, brucellosis and avian influenza and was the recipient of a $1000.00 award from the Deputy Assistant Secretary, USDA for her leadership role in the Avian Influenza Task Force, Lancaster, PA, which seriously threatened the U.S. poultry industry.

The speakers will be addressing farm animal abuse and will discuss the Humane Society's recommended humane standards for rearing livestock, poultry and dairy animals.

For further information, please contact PennAg Industries Association at (717) 733-2238.

Dairy Promoters Attend Seminar

SYRACUSE, New York — Dairy princesses, alternates and maids from 35 counties across New York State recently participated in a three-day dairy training seminar at the SUNY-Morrisville campus. The event, sponsored by the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC), provided the participants with valuable information concerning local and national dairy promotions as well as hands-on work experience.

Professionals from various agricultural businesses shared their knowledge of writing press releases, public speaking, nutrition and supermarket display case organization with the young promoters. The instructors even tested the promoters within the workshops by having them prepare their own press releases, give impromptu speeches and answer dairy-related questions.

For the first time, the group was exposed to dairy case management. The seminar given was a smaller version of the one ADADC presents to management personnel at the supermarket level. The one presented to the seminar participants discussed the techniques behind dairy case management such as setting up displays to increase impulse purchases, product and case care along with general product knowledge.

"There is a lot more to a dairy case than people realize," said dairy princess program coordinator Shirley Griffith. "There is a definite psychology to where things should be placed."

The knowledge the young promoters received will be put to good use throughout the year as they visit local supermarkets. They will know how to rotate dairy products and which ones to use when doing a promotion.

The dairy princesses will be able to test the skills they obtained at the seminar when they compete for the 1988-89 State Dairy Princess title. The state pageant follows the seminar each year. This year's pageant is being held at SUNY Cortland on August 18 and 19.

The dairy princess program is one of a variety of promotions used by ADADC to increase the use of milk and milk products. ADADC is a dairy promotion organization representing 20,000 dairy producers from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

THE NEWEST IN THE KUBOTA® LINE NEW B SERIES - COMING SOON!

HOW TO HANDLE SUCCESS.

Just climb onto a Kubota and enjoy your view from the top-of-the-line compact tractor.

With the new B-Series, we've reached what we think of as a turning point in tractor design. It's called the Bi-Speed Turn.

Most simply, the front wheels take corners sixty percent faster than the rear wheels. Sharp turns are not only tighter than those of ordinary 4-wheel drive, they're smoother, less damaging to turf, far less unsettling to the driver.

But then, Kubota has been the innovation leader since we introduced the first compact tractors to feature liquid-cooled diesel engines, 4-wheel drive and hydrostatic transmissions.

Service and support are ever present because, unlike many other tractors, every Kubota is still made by Kubota. And you wouldn't want your success handled by just anyone.

HarvestStore Has Survived Farm Recession, According to New CEO

DEKALB, IL. — Harvestore Products, Inc. has emerged from the farm recession as a smaller, but stronger company.

That's the assessment of James C. Schaap, recently named as the company's president and chief executive officer. Harvestore is a major manufacturer of systems to store and handle livestock feeds and manure for the agricultural market, and storage systems for drinking water, waste treatment, and dry bulk materials for the municipal and industrial markets.

According to Schaap, the company last year returned to profitability and has remained firmly in the black after a program of cost-cutting and consolidation in response to the depressed farm economy.

All of the company's manufacturing and management activities have been combined under one roof. Former manufacturing plants at Elkhorn, Wis. and Eureka, Ill. have been sold and their functions moved here to the company's main plant. Corporate offices, formerly at Barrington, Ill., also have been moved to DeKalb.

Schaap, an 11-year veteran with the company, moved up from the position of executive vice-president of marketing to replace Jack Estes. Estes was named president for manufacturing and engineering at the Water Products Company division of A.O. Smith Corporation, which owns Harvestore Products.

A graduate of Hope College in Holland, Mich., Schaap went on to earn an MBA degree in marketing and management at Western Michigan University. Prior to joining Harvestore in 1977 he held several management posts with Allis-Chalmers Corp. He served Harvestore as area and regional marketing manager, was a principal in a Harvestore systems dealership in Iowa, and returned to the company as director of marketing.

"Harvestore has emerged from the farm recession as a viable company," Schaap pointed out. "We are selectively but aggressively pursuing our markets. We have enjoyed considerable growth in our municipal and industrial markets to complement the agricultural business. We have renewed our efforts on new products and we're embracing new technologies as they emerge."

He explained that cost-cutting measures have substantially reduced the company's breakeven point, while investments in new and more efficient manufacturing equipment allow it to continue to meet demand for its products.

The Harvestore executive cited the company's loyal customers as its greatest asset, rivaled only by a stable workforce and dedicated network of U.S. and Canadian dealers.

"We are a leaner and meaner, but wiser company that will remain competitive into the future," he concluded.

Butter is Focus Of Current Promotion

COLUMBUS, Oh. — The Federal Order 36 Advertising and Promotion Agency and Mid East United Dairy Industry Association are focusing on Real butter in a current advertising and retail promotion, featuring "Today Show" weatherman Willard Scott as spokesman during the July 11 - 31 promotion period.

After a successful debut as the spokesman for the organizations' recent "Gourmet Cheeseburger" spring promotion, Willard Scott returns to entice consumers to use Real butter. In the advertisements, "Have Your Veggies Willard's Way.. With REAL Butter," is a friendly invitation which provides a strong promotional message that nothing less than real creamery butter can enhance the taste of fresh summer vegetables. Scott is featured in a 30-second television commercial and 30- and 60-second radio commercials in network and on local markets.

Complementary artowrk featuring Willard Scott and fresh buttered vegetables appears on point-of-purchase materials in dairy cases and produce sections of supermarkets and convenience stores.

Mid East United Dairy Industry Association (U.D.I.A.), which administers the Federal Order 36 Advertising and Promotion Agency, is the advertising and promotion program for dairy farmers in Ohio, western Pennsylvania and parts of West Viriginia and northern Kentucky, and areas of adjacent states. Together with U.D.I.A. member organizations nationwide, Mid East U.D.I.A. and the F.O. 36 Agency contribute to the $110 million investment for a unified promotion program for the dairy industry through the divisions of the American Dairy Association, National Dairy Council and Dairy Research, Inc.

State Dairy Herd To Be Dispersed

HARRISBURG — Agriculture Secretary Boyd E. Wolff announced recently that the state will cease operations and disperse the dairy herd at the Danville State Farm.

"This move will save taxpayers nearly $180,000 in the coming year," said Wolff, "However, we will preserve the farm and all 475 acres of precious farmland."

"Our decision in this matter resulted from careful study and analysis. Recognizing the value of nutritious food produced near our citizens' homes, we are committed to farmland preservation," added Wolff, "Thus we plan to lease the farm to a private producer after the state ceases operations. That way we can preserve the land, keep it in production, and at the same time end a boondoggle that has existed at taxpayer expense since 1982."

The Danville State Farm was formerly owned and operated by the Department of Public Welfare and was used to produce food for the Danville State Hospital. It was transferred to the Department of Agriculture by the Legislature in 1982.

The Danville State Farm employs eight state workers. The Department of Agriculture will attempt to relocate those workers to other state agencies operating in the Danville area.

The farm's 216 animals include 120 milk cows. All animals will be sold at auction in mid September. Some machinery at the farm will be relocated to the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, while other equipment will be offered to other state agencies through surplus proceedures.

The farm, located along Route 11 north of Danville, in Montour County, has failed to produce income sufficient to offset operational costs.

"Losses from operations at the Danville State Farm were placed on the shoulders of taxpayers," said Wolff, "We will remove that burden with changes that will benefit all involved."

Wolff pointed out the planned leasing of the farm demonstrates the department's faith in the initiative, ingenuity, and efficiency of farmers in the private sector, "We believe food and fiber should be produced by private enterprise, not by government," he said, "and we are convinced this farm will prosper when it is leased to a private producer."

The Department of Agriculture will solicit bids for a lease on the Danville Farm from interested farmers. Several farmers have already inquired about a possible lease of the Danville State Farm.

Farm Vandalism Bill Signed Into Law

HARRISBURG — Vandalism of farm property has become a specific crime and prosecution of farm vandalism has become much easier under legislation recently signed by Governor Robert Casey, according to Sen. Noah W. Wenger (R-36), a co-sponsor of the measure.

According to Wenger, persons convicted of vandalizing farm property, machinery or other equipment will be charged with a third-degree felony offense if damage was intentionally caused. The conviction becomes a first-degree misdemeanor if the loss is more than $1,000 and a second-degree misdemeanor if the loss is more than $500.

"Each year, farmers experience damage to crops, fencing and sometimes machinery," explained Wenger. "Repairing and replacing damaged property can be costly, sometimes so costly that it can result in a financial setback for a farmer, particularly if crop damage is severe."

Wenger said the new law makes it clear that people who recklessly damage farm property have committed a crime and will be treated as criminals.

"Individuals should always ask permission before entering non-public land and should respect property rights," said Wenger.

farmer, Dad has discovered the serenity of living with the rhythms of the earth. Many seasons have come and gone and still he greets each special time of year with a renewed enthusiasm.

Spring brings the renewal of life in the budding trees and the robin's nest. As soon as the ground is dry enough, he is on his tractor plowing the fields, readying the soil to receive the seeds for new crops. The freshly-turned furrows draw seagulls, looking for morsels to feast upon.

As a boy, Dad learned how to hitch up the teams of four work horses for plowing. One horse was always the leader and responded to the commands of the driver. The horses would stop when they heard the gong of the dinner bell signaling lunchtime on the farm.

The plants grow as the spring rains and summer sun bring the new crops to fruition. By June the first cutting of the alfalfa crop is ready. In the heat of the afternoon sun, one man is operating the large baler while the other workers load the baled hay onto the truck. Dad drives the truck now, having relegated the lifting to younger men. By the end of the summer, he takes great pride in the barn stacked high with hay for the dairy cows to eat during the bleak winter months.

Mid-July, and the sweet corn is ready for harvesting. Early in the morning while the dew is heavy in the fields, the men are walking up and down the rows of corn, cutting the ripe ears from the stalks. Boys hired for "corn season", are putting the ears in burlap bags, five dozen to a bag. Owners of roadside stands arrive around 8 a.m. to stock their stands of "Maryland-Grown Silver Queen". Each day, Dad brings the fresh succulent corn for me to drop in boiling water for several minutes so we can feast on the harvest. On Sunday afternoons, he heads for the farmpond, hoping to land one of the large bass fish that was stocked there years ago.

During the autumn months, the corn is cut and ground into ensilage to be stored in the silo for cattle feed. When the first crisp air brings a hint of the coming winter months, Dad watches the sky, waiting to see the Canadian geese fly South. In November, the goose hunting season opens, and he and his friends head for Kent County where they rent ground for hunting. All thoughts of farm work are gone from their minds, as they concentrate on the hopes of the geese flying near and low.

Farm work dwindles almost to a standstill during the winter months. Cattle must be fed and milked and new calves tended, but the fields lie dormant in the cold weather. It's the time when farmers catch up on their reading, and Dad spends the afternoons pouring over The Lancaster Farmer, Hoard's Dairymen, and the daily newspapers. A snow storm can change this placid pace very quickly when lanes need to be plowed and pipes unfrozen. A loss of electricity means the milking machines cannot operate, so the emergency generator is put into use.

Soon the winter storms give way to heavy rains and windy days. March slowly ushers in the warmer days of early spring. And the never-ending cycle of the seasons repeats itself again.

As faithful as the changing seasons, my Dad continues to renew his own faith in the country church of his boyhood. Every Sunday he greets parishioners at the door, hoping to see some new faces among the familiar. Year after year, he looks after the church cemetery where his parents and my mother are at rest. This is his community where his roots go deep. As new people move into the community, the life-style is changing, but Dad and his family's farm are still there- an anchor of stability in a mobile world. Whatever happens to the family farm will someday be in the hands of future generations.

shire cattle to their present location and are continuing the Wentworth tradition of farming with Ayrshires. The herd is A.I. bred and on DHIR test.

A bright sun on Saturday morning forecasted a hot day. The field day was attended by 84 people with 51 families being represented. By 10:30 a.m., the arriving guests participated in the cheese tasting and other contests set up for their pleasure. Two classes of cows for judging proved interesting with much discussion on which one was best. Three pairs of daughter-dams were presented for the guests to match. Only two persons had perfect scores on the match-up.

Dinner was delicious barbequed chicken with all the "fixings" including milk and cookies. In a short business meeting after lunch, Milt Brubaker reported on the need for consignments to the Elite Ayrshire Sale in conjunction with the PA All-American Dairy Show at Harrisburg on September 27.

Earl Keefer brought members up to date on the young sire program with 10 young sires, two of which are plus proven and seven in the process of being proved.

Dwight Hunter gave details of the Pennsylvania state Ayrshire show herd going to the World Dairy Expo at Madison, Wis., October 5. Betty Keefer gave a youth report and the association voted to contribute $25 to the PA dairy judging team for expenses to travel to the World Dairy Expo.

Susan Kulp, president of the Southeastern Pennsylvania Ayrshire Club, stated the club will conduct a raffle this fall to raise funds for the club.

County Dairy Agent Glenn Shirk scored the judging cards and gave an discussed water and water quality for the dairy herd.

Dairy Promotion Group Seeks Board Members

HARRISBURG — "Dairymen who love a challenge, we have one for you," announced Jim Harteis, Ebensburg dairy farmer and Board Chairman of the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program.

The PA Department of Agriculture is looking for men and women to serve on the Board of the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program. Board members must be working dairy men/women or be an employee of a dairy farm. In addition, each member must contribute 10-cents per hundred weight of promotion assessment to the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program. All Board members are expected to be active, and will be appointed to the Board by the Secretary of Agriculture, Boyd E. Wolff.

Secretary Wolff explained that over the past year, the Board has gone from an Advisory Board to a Board with direct authority. This change was made possible when Governor Casey signed ACT I of 1987 into law, returning control of Commodity Marketing Programs to farmers. "This Act frees farm commodity groups from most state operating procedures," stated Secretary Wolff.

"In other words, we call our own shots and control our destiny," said Jim Harteis. The Department of Agriculture has taken on the role of advisor.

"With the expanded authority, this program has become a real challenge. We owe it to the Pennsylvania dairy farmers to find the best people possible to serve as Board members. These Board members will be responsible to the dairy industry in Pennsylvania to increase consumption of dairy products," explained Secretary Wolff.

Anyone interested in serving on the Board can be nominated by a dairy cooperative, a farm organization, or by an independent dairyman/woman who contribute to the program. All nominations must be submitted by August 15, 1988 to the Secretary of Agriculture, c/o The Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, 2301 N. Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17110.

Directors who are appointed will begin serving their three-year term on October 1, 1988.

Those whose terms expire September 30, 1988 include: Carl Brown, Pine Grove; Ernie Miller, Hamburg; Beverly Minor, Washington; Dr. John Plummer, Chalfton; Elder Vogel, Rochester; Chris Wolff, Jr., Bloomsburg; and, current Vice-Chairman, Thad Woodward, Canton. These members may also be renominated.

Dairy Farm Open House

Dairy farmers, their families and agri-business personnel are invited to Burk Lea Farms, 3099 Grand Point Road, Chambersburg on July 19 at 7:00 p.m. Janice and Stanley Burkholder are sponsoring this educational event in cooperation with Franklin County Cooperative Extension and numerous agri-business firms they work with.

Dr. Dennis Buffington, Head of the Department of Agricultural Engineering at Penn State, will be the speaker. His topic wil be reducing summer heat stress in dairy cattle.

Some of the interesting things to see at Burk Lea Farms include: a new steel framed drive through free stall barn with 116 self locking headgates, free stalls with railroad ties and whole rubber tires as the surface material, totally open sidewalls and roof insulation, and a stepped gravity flow manure channel.

Directions to the farm are as follows: From I-81 take Route 30 east from Chambersburg to the first road to the left, Franklin Farms Lane. Take this road which goes past the Franklin Farms complex, nursing home and prison. You will go one mile to Walker Road. Turn left and go to your first road to the right, Kohler Road. Follow Kohler Road for approximately one mile to Grand Point Road. Turn right and follow Grand Point Road for 1½ miles to Burk Lea Farms.

Loan Officer Hired By Southeast Farm Credit

Barbara L. Barber has been hired by Southeast Farm Credit Service as a Loan Officer in the Silverdale Branch; Branch Manager Dean Shollenberger announced the hiring.

Mrs. Barber is a graduate of State College (PA) High School and received a Bachelor of Science degree in horticulture/retail management from Penn State University in 1979.

Previous to joining Farm Credit, Mrs. Barber was Assistant County Supervisor and Agricultural Management Specialist for Bucks and Montgomery counties with FHA. She also gained banking experience from Cumberland County National Bank (in the Harrisburg area), a former employer.

Mrs. Barber and her husband, Rick, a freelance artist, reside in Perkasie. She is serving accounts in Bucks County.

Southeast Farm Credit service, an arm of the nationwide Farm Credit System, serves the financial needs of agriculture in the 5 county Philadelphia area. Loans for purchases of country homes are also provided by Farm Credit.

Ohio Cheesemaker Commends Jerseys On 'Special Milk'

COLUMBUS, OH. — Keynote speaker, Phil Mueller, president and general manager of Minerva Dairy, Inc., Minerva, OH, sparked imagination and enthusiasm in marketing Jersey milk among members attending the 30th Annual Meeting of National All-Jersey Inc. (NAJ) on June 23, 1988 in Portland, ME.

Mueller, a fourth generation cheesemaker, was undoubtedly the highlight of this year's meeting. Under his leadership, Minerva Dairy was one of the first cheese plants in Ohio, and in the country, to adopt end product pricing of milk. He has also been a strong promoter of Jerseys. Last year, 16 new dairy farms were started in his area. As a result of his providing a market influence, 12 were Jersey herds.

Mueller compared the Jersey dairy today to his cheese factory and noted the competitive edge each has due to their exclusive product. "You produce a special milk, and in today's environment, a cheese factory needs to produce a specialty cheese. I think you should realize that you have a product people want. You as Jersey producers are milking a cow that has special characteristics which ends up giving the milk that special composition we at cheese factories are after."

Mueller explained why cheesemakers, like himself, prefer to buy Jersey milk. "When I buy Jersey milk, I can make 12-½ to 13 pounds of cheese out of it compared to 9-½ to 10 pounds out of other milk. That's a difference in efficiency of production of 25 to 30 percent. I have the same overhead costs, and I've made twenty-five to thirty percent more cheese. If you turn around that simple statement, your milk is worth 25 to 30 percent more than other milk."

"In my opinion, there should be more Jerseys. And there will be. The reason there will be is because there's a demand for Jersey milk--a result of the increased demand for cheese. Cheese factories no longer want to take the milk that happens to be around after it's not put in the bottle anymore."

Mueller's comments were enthusiastically received by an organization that since 1976 has been working to put component pricing into Federal Orders. NAJ President Richard Clauss, Hilmar, CA, discussed NAJ's efforts to promote equity in milk pricing through multiple component pricing (MCP).

"The benefits of Equity pricing for the Jersey breed are great, but the benefits to the whole dairy industry are greater." "Equity pricing has increased producer income for all dairy farmers and strengthened the dairy industry. Equity pricing bolsters the Minnesota-Wisconsin price. Equity pricing encourages the production of high-protein quality milk, the kind of milk both plants and consumers need. It is not a breed issue, but an opportunity for the dairy industry in America."

Clauss noted that Jerseys are becoming the choice of commercial milk producers looking to maximize return on investment. "Premium prices for Jersey milk have led many dairy farmers milking other breeds to switch to or add Jerseys. In early May, 30 days after component pricing went into effect in the Great Basin Order, 150 Jerseys were moved from New England to Idaho. They went to new herds and expanding herds. The reason-Equity pricing."

Added NAJ Executive Secretary Maurice E. Core, "Over one-half of the markets in the United States are currently on some form of equity payments. In 1987, we estimate Jersey producers received over $20 million additional dollars due to Equity."

NAJ Assistant Secretary and Treasurer Calvin Covington commented on the progress made through NAJ efforts. "Approximately 60 percent of all milk produced in the United States today is eligible for Equity Pricing. Equity Pricing in one federal order and 60 percent of all milk eligible for MCP shows that progress has been made."

NAJ's greatest success story occurred in 1987 with USDA's decision to adopt a multiple component pricing plan to the Great Basin Federal Milk Marketing Order effective April 1, 1988. Building upon that accomplishment, the NAJ Board of Directors urged adoption of MCP in all Federal Orders by the year 2000. Covington stated, "We have made significant progress toward this goal. We cannot say enough concerning the positive impact that MCP in the Great Basin will have on the industry and the breed. We consider the influence this decision will have to be in the same realm as the invention of the Babcock test for butterfat.

Covington reported that NAJ and is subsidiary, All-Jersey Sales Corporation (AJSC) did well financially in 1987. Both companies completed the year with an excess of revenues over expenses of $38,556. As of December 31, 1987, NAJ members equity was $416,672, a 10% increase in equity from 1986.

Covington commented on NAJ's two marketing franchise programs, All-Jersey and Jersey Pride Natural Cheese. "All-Jersey continues to be approximately 25 percent of NAJ's milk marketing revenue. We are seeing renewed interest in All-Jersey. One new All-Jersey plant has been franchised in 1988 and another is a strong possibility. Jersey Pride is still in its infancy but sales are holding steady.

"The main source of AJSC revenue is from commission earned from cattle marketing. In 1987, Jersey Marketing Service marketed cattle valued at almost $3.2 million, and earned revenue of $185,422.

Atlantic Joins Effort To STOP Further Price Cuts

SOUTHAMPTON (Berks) — Atlantic Dairy Cooperative has joined with other cooperatives throughout the nation in a campaign to stop additional cuts in the support price for milk.

Spearheaded by the National Milk Producers Federation (NMPF), the campaign to "Stop the Price Cuts" is aimed at avoiding further reductions in the support price program. Immediate attention is being given to a possible price cut on Jan. 1, 1989.

Under current farm bill legislation, the Secretary of Agriculture has the authority to lower the support price by 50 cents each year if government purchases of surplus milk are expected to exceed 5 billion pounds. For 1988, purchases have already reached the 7 billion pound mark.

As part of its campaign plan, NMPF has coordinated a national drive to collect 150,000 signatures on petitions. The petitions will be sent to Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng, urging him to not implement another 50-cent cut.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative is participating in this program and plans to circulate petitions among members during its summer picnics. The first of these six gatherings is set for July 26 at Bland Park in Tipton.

"Our goal is to send a message from the grass roots to Washington, D.C., that enough is enough," said Dr. Paul E. Hand, Atlantic's general manager.

According to NMPF estimates, another price cut will cost dairy farmers more than $700 million in lost income. Pennsylvania would be among the hardest hit states, with an estimated $53 million loss in income.

"When you see projections like these, it becomes clear why dairy farmers cannot afford further price reductions," Hand said. "It is imperative that we do all we can to prevent such action."

Additional information on the "Stop the Price Cuts" campaign will be provided at Atlantic's member picnics. In addition to Bland Park, picnics will also be held on: Aug. 1, Muddy Run Park, Buck; Aug. 4, Cowan's Gap State Park, Allen's Valley; Aug. 4, Knoebel's Grove, Elysburg; Aug. 8, Kutztown Park, Kutztown; and Aug. 21, Salisbury Township Park, Gap.

Free Nitrate Testing Offered For Drought-Stressed Crops

COLLEGE PARK, MD — For the second consecutive year, the University of Maryland's Cooperative Extension Service and the state Department of Agriculture have teamed up in a drought-related free testing service for Maryland farmers.

The test determines if levels of nitrates in drought-stressed forage crops are sufficient to present health danger to livestock.

Actual testing is being conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service at the University of Maryland's Wye Research and Education Center on the Eastern Shore.

The program is being funded by the Maryland Department of Agriculture as a part of Governor William Donald Schaefer's plan to assist drought-stricken farmers. It began July 7 and is expected to run for about 10 weeks.

Dr. Lester R. Vough, Extension forage crops specialist at College Park, commented that drought conditions typically cause dangerous buildups of nitrate in the stalks of corn and other forage crops such as sudangrass and sorghum.

High nitrate levels in feeds can poison livestock by interfering with the blood's ability to carry oxygen, Dr. Vough explained. This causes an animal to literally suffocate.

Symptoms of nitrate poisoning include blue gums and mucous membranes, rapid pulse and breathing, muscle tremors, staggering and blindness. The malady causes animals to go off feed; pregnant animals often have miscarriages. In severe cases, animals die within three or four hours after eating nitrate-contaminated feed.

Kevin M. Morrissey, a faculty research assistant for the University of Maryland, suggests that farmers with drought-stressed forage crops should also check the nitrate level in the water which their livestock drink.

He explained that even relatively small levels of nitrates in water could cause a problem when combined with relatively high levels of nitrates in livestock feed.

Morrissey advised farmers to submit forage and water samples to the testing laboratory in quart-size jars or plastic bags.

Eastern Shore farmers are asked to bring their samples directly to the testing laboratory at the Wye Research and Education Center near Queenstown. Farmers west of the Chesapeake Bay may mail samples to the Wye REC, P.O. Box 169, Queenstown, Md. 21658.

The Wye Research and Education Center is located 3½ miles south of U.S. Highway 50, on Carmichael-Wye Neck Road. Watch for the Cheston Lane entrance about ½ mile beyond the Carmichael Methodist Church.

Office hours at the testing laboratory are Monday to Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The telephone number is (301) 827-8056. Farmers can expect to have nitrate test results phoned to them within 24 hours. In emergency situations, the turn-around time can be reduced to 10 hours.

PA Crime Stoppers

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — Pennsylvania Crime Stoppers is offering a cash reward UP TO $1,000.00 for information leading to the arrest of William Van Scoten. If you know this person and/or where he is presently located, you are urged to call Pennsylvania Crime Stoppers TOLL-FREE at 1-800-4PA-TIPS.

William Van Scoten is wanted by the Pennsylvania State Police in Wyoming, Wyoming County, for Escape. Van Scoten was committed to the State Correctional Institution at Dallas in July 1970, as a result of his being convicted of several burglaries in the Easton area of Northampton County. He was sentenced to serve 10 to 20 years for those crimes. On July 12, 1972, he was among other prisoners performing various duties related to flood cleanup operations following Hurricane Agnes in the Kingston-Wilkes-Barre area. He specifically was assigned to a kitchen detail at a local fire company and was able to walk away undetected on that date.

Van Scoten is described as a white male, age 59, with light brown hair, blue eyes, and fair complexion. He has dyed his hair black in the past. He has a medium build, being 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighing 150 pounds. Weighlifting was one of his hobbies or activities while in prison. He has a tatoo of a girl on his right shoulder, a cross located on his lower right arm, a heart on his left hand, and a star also located on his left hand, near the thumb. He has previous experience in operating heavy equipment, and is believed to be well-versed in farming and dairy procedures. He formerly resided in the Easton, PA - Phillipsburg, N.J. area.

William Van Scoten

Not only does Pennsylvania Crime Stoppers pay rewards for information leading to the arrest of its "Fugitives Of The Week", cash rewards UP TO $1,000 will also be paid for information resulting in arrests of persons involved in ANY serious crimes or the capture of ANY OTHER wanted persons. If you have information on this "Fugitive Of The Week", ANY OTHER SERIOUS CRIME, or WANTED PERSON, call Pennsylvania Crime Stoppers TOLL-FREE At 1-800-4PA-TIPS. 30 YEARS AGO
THIS WEEK

-Homegrown early sweet corn, tomatoes, Cobbler potatoes and some early peaches began moving to Pennsylvania markets in limited volume during the past week, the State Department of Agriculture said today.

Heavy rains halted farm activity in Northwestern counties during the week ended Monday, the Pennsylvania State Crop Reporting Service said. In a number of other areas, showers hampered haymaking and grain harvest.

Rain throughout the state caused a hay spoilage problem. Many fields had been cut but the crop spoiled on the ground because of unfavorable weather.

- The Lancaster County Cooperative Council this week named winners of the annual youth awards program. This year eight delegates will attend the American Institute of Co-operatives annual meeting to be held at Penn State Aug. 24 to 28.

The winners are Robert W. Armstrong, 18, of R1 Drumore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Armstrong; Charles H. Rohrer, 18, of R1, Paradise, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Rohrer; Wilbur H. Hosler, 16, of R3 Manheim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark W. Hosler; John S. Yost, 18, of R2 Narvon, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. John Yost.

Luke Brubaker, 17, of R1, Mt. Joy, son of Elam R. Buckwalter; James L. Nolt, 16, of R1 Manheim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin R. Nolt; Richard L. Hackman, 17, of R1 Willow Street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. Hackman; and Miss Doris M. Sollenberger, 16, of R2 Holtwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ivan Sollenberger.

Franklin County Program Brings

Empty Wheelchairs, Idle Crutches And Smiles

BY BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin) — Matthew's and Ellie's wheelchairs are empty. Steve's metal crutches lie idle on a wooden ramp. For one hour a week, these devices are completely unnecessary to the children who normally rely on them.

Matthew, Ellie and Steve are on horseback for that hour, learning to control their mounts, exercising their bodies, building their self-esteem, and having a wonderful time. When a child is accustomed to looking at the world from wheelchair height, sitting high up on a horse and controlling it does wonders for the child's self-confidence. Even those children who have little concentration at other times are able to listen, respond, and follow directions while on horseback.

Matthew Lagiovane hollers, "Walk on!" and the horse he is riding obeys immediately. Matthew, 14, sits perfectly straight in the saddle as he holds the reins in one hand and balances a wooden egg on a spoon held in his other hand. From the horse's back he can throw a ball into a bucket on the ground and pitch beanbags into a hoop. Sit-ups and arm exercises performed while the horse walks appear effortless for him.

Matthew was born with spina bifida.

Six years ago, the first time he got onto a horse's back, Matthew leaned so far forward that his face touched the horse's mane. Volunteers stationed on either side of the horse had to hold him up. Exercises were performed with the horse at a standstill.

Matthew's greatly increased skills are the direct result of the instruction he has received in the Horsemanship for the Handicapped program.

Established in 1981, the Franklin County program operates under the auspices of the Cooperative Extension Service and the local chapter of the Easter Seal Society.

Julie Kegerris and daughter Ellie ride Penny, a 12-year old Appaloosa mare. Sidewalkers are Bob Kessler and Sandy Robinson. Barbara Campbell leads the horse.

"Drop your reins and do a helicopter," Sharon told Matthew. This exercise helps to strengthen his arms.

Steve Ebersole brushes Dusty in preparation for riding him.

The Franklin County commissioners donated the use of 1.5 acres of land on the county farm to the program. A horse barn and riding ring now occupy that land, and fourteen students come there regularly for instruction. Four of the programs' five horses were also donated.

The youngest of the donated horses is Jeannie, a ten-year-old mare who is blind in one eye. She is docile and cooperative with the students, and Matthew enjoys riding her. Because he is allergic to horses, he must take an anthistamine before each lesson and wear a mask while on horseback.

In the six years Matthew has been taking lessons, he has had five "emergency dismounts" when the horse he was riding - never Jeannie —reared. "He accepts it as part of the lesson," said Susan Rotz, stable manager for three years. Last year, he received a "Bucking Bronco" award in recognition of his dismounting experiences.

Matthew, who wears a body brace, is quick to praise the program. "I've gotten more muscles in my arms, and I sit up straighter," since starting the riding lessons, Matthew said. "And sometimes I feed the horse a carrot," the seventh grader added, smiling.

The program starts in late spring each year and runs through October or November. Lessons are divided into eight week sessions, to give the volunteers a break, but "most want to come back again right away," explained Rotz.

Volunteers serve in four different capacities; as leaders, who walk at the horse's head to guide it; sidewalkers, who walk beside the horse and either hold the rider on or are there in case he or she starts to slide off; backriders, who sit in the saddle behind the more severely handicapped children and hold them on; and instructors, who are responsible for tailoring the lessons for each individual student.

All five of the instructors are involved in the Pennsylvania Qualified instructor's Course for Therapeutic Riding, according to instructor Sharon Cashell. "There are certain ways to mount kids with certain disabilities, and different ways to teach each child as far as riding, mounting and dismounting," she said. And of course, instructors have to know how to handle the occasional emergency dismount.

Tailoring the lessons for each student is important because of the wide range of abilities among the fourteen students. Some ride independently; others need more help. Just because a child cannot ride unassisted is no reason he or she cannot participate in the program. Back riders are provided for children with little strength in their trunk and upper body.

Ellie Kegerreis, a pretty, petite 11-year-old, is confined to a wheelchair due to cerebral palsy. Her mother, Julie, is president of the program's Board of Directors and also serves as a back rider for children like her daughter.

Riding horseback helps Ellie with head and neck control and benefits her leg muscles. Ellie's thigh muscles are tight, her mother explained, and the stretching involved in straddling the horse helps to extend them. The heat and movement of the horse massage and loosen her muscles. "Some of the kids have their legs drawn up at the beginning of the lesson," Julie said, "and by the end of the lesson their legs are relaxed." Many of the children with cerebral palsy ride with only a bareback pad between them and the horse to maximize their contact with the horse's warmth and movement.

While Ellie cannot speak, she understands what is said to her and thoroughly enjoys her riding lessons, if her smile is any indication.

She often helps to brush the horse before a lesson. "We try to teach the children some stable management also," said instructor Sandy Robinson, "instead of just having them come in and ride."

Steve does "Around the World"--turning himself completely around in the saddle without assistance--to develop coordination and balance.

Sandy demonstrated to student Steve Ebersole, 13, how to clean out the hooves of the horse he was about to ride.

"Dusty has shoes on his front feet," she explained, "and that makes them deeper. They hold more dirt. This doesn't hurt him," she continued, as she used a foot pick on Dusty, "but you do have to watch out for the sensitive spot, called the frog."

After the foot-cleaning session, Steve curried Dusty and sprayed him with fly repellent.

Steve, who has spina bifida, has been riding for four years, the last two under Sandy's instruction. The horse he was accustomed to riding is ill and will be leaving the program, so he is now learning to ride and care for Dusty, an Appaloosa.

Steve's confidence has improved since he started riding, says Sandy. At first, he didn't trot the horse or ride alone. "He gets on and rides by himself now," she said. He's obviously athletic; he just has to believe he can use it. He also talks more now — he's not as shy."

"Steve had side walkers when he first started riding," his mother, Wilma, added. "He only started trotting last year. His legs tend to draw together — the warmth of the horse relaxes them."

After the lesson, a smiling Steve couldn't think of anything he disliked about the program. To him, trotting is the best part.

To this observer, the best thing about Horsemanship for the Handicapped is the empty wheelchairs and the idle crutches.

And the smiles.

All children applying to the program are screened by a physical therapist, and must have their doctor's permission to participate. The program requires riders to wear special belts and helmets for safety.

Anyone interested in more information about the program may contact Bob Kessler at the Franklin County Extension Office at 263-9226.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

For every major issue that affects our national lives, a host of theories explaining the phenonemon will crop up.

There are political, military, financial, social, philosophical, scientific and meterological theories.

Take the almost-nationwide drought, for instance.

Explanations are blamed on a host of possibilities, from the splitting of the Jet Stream, which normally brings rain-bearing weather, to punishment for the supposedly wicked ways of people of this country.

Then there's the "greenhouse" effect theory. This supposition lays blame on the burning of fossil fuels for warming the earth. According to weather records, the four hottest years in history have occurred in this decade. Lucky us.

El Nino, a warm ocean current that swoops up through the Pacific and affects weather patterns through atmospheric pressure changes, also comes in as a theoretical possibility.

Especially fascinating to me is a theory of one scientist who already last fall predicted drought conditions. That was based on a lack of volcanic activity in the earth's equatorial zone. Volcanic eruptions apparently toss a lot of gas into the air, which converts to sulfuric acid, which combines with water into itty-bitty bits called "aerosols."

Hence the origin of the acrosol can, no doubt, which sprays into the air itty-bitty bits of anything from wasp eradicator to Milady's Perfume #23.

Anyway, aerosols absorb sunlight and thus somewhat shade the earth. No volcanic eruptions means no aerosols, which means more sunlight reaches you and I. Which could explain why the thermometer on the side of our calf nursery read 117-degrees at 5 p.m. last Saturday.

Enough of theories about the weather drought. We have another sort of drought here on the farm for which we need a good theory of explanation.

It began mid-May with the birth of twin bull calves to Pear, our son's three-year-old 4-H show cow. In less than a week, another cow calves, with twin bulls.

Twins are not usually cause for rejoicing. Our experience over the years is that cows delivering twins have far greater than normal follow-up health and reproductive problems.

During June, twins were born on the 7th, the 19th, and the 24th. Two sets were bulls. One set was a mixed bull-heifer pair. And, of course, a heifer born twin to a bull is about 95 percent likely to be sterile.

Half-way through July, we have had yet three more sets of twins. Bulls, every one of 'em.

Out of nine single-calf births in June, seven were bulls. One of the only two heifers was dead at birth. Out of 17 single births to date in July, 13 have been bull calves.

And, looking back to April, six out of eight calvings were bulls. Or, out of a total 42 calvings and 50 calves, we have seven healthy replacement heifers.

While we've had "heifer droughts" and "twin floods" before, they've never come so concentrated in time, nor in gender.

Since we do all our own artificial insemination of cows to be bred, we're gathering theories on this overabundnace of bull calves.

Was it sunspots? Too much new feed - old feed - good feed - or bad feed?

Mineral imbalance? Our high-acid water? Volcanoes? Or lack of 'em?

Updated A.I. suggestions are to thaw semen in water a bit warmer than what was the accepted temperature for some time. Maybe all those "girl" chromosones were too chilly to "take."

Or, perhaps the Lord simply knows that feed this winter will be scarce and expensive - and is providing us that many fewer mouths to feed for the duration.

Quick And Easy Thirst Quenchers

Whether you are preparing a festive party punch or a delicious summer milk cooler, remember that you are not only drinking something that tastes refreshingly good, but it's nutritious as well. These cooling beverages will quench any thirst.

Turn fruit juices into refreshing summer thirst quenchers with a simple sugar syrup. In a simple syrup, granulated sugar blends and highlights flavors and also adds the body needed for ice-cold beverages.

A flavorful variation combines sugar and apple juice with ginger and citrus peels. All the ingredients simmer into Apple Blossom Syrup with a taste appeal for all ages.

And Apple Blossom Syrup is a handy time-saver for active summer schedules. Simply prepare the syrup in advance and refrigerate. On a moment's notice, the syrup can be used as a base for individual soft drinks or party punch and also as a topping for fresh fruits or ice cream.

APPLE BLOSSOM SYRUP

1½ cups apple juice
1 cup sugar
⅓ cup firmly packed, shredded fresh ginger root
Peel from 1 orange
Peel from 1 lemon

In medium saucepan, combine all ingredients. Bring to a boil, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Simmer, uncovered, 10 minutes. Remove from heat, cool to room temperature. Strain and refrigerate. Yield: About 1½ cup syrup.

APPLE BLOSSOM SOFTDRINK

Combine 2 to 3 tablespoons syrup with 8 ounces chilled club soda.

SPARKLING FRUIT PUNCH

In a large pitcher, combine 1 cup syrup, 1 cup pineapple juice, 2 cups orange juice and 2 cups chilled club soda. Add slices of orange, lemon or lime. Serve over ice Yield: 1½ quarts.

SPICED ICE

In container of electric blender, combine 2 to 3 tablespoons syrup and 1 cup crushed ice Process until slushy Or pour syrup over finely crushed ice in dessert glasses.

FROSTY APPLE HEALTH DRINK

1 gallon cold milk
1 12-ounce can apple concentrate
1½ -quarts vanilla ice cream, softened
Cinnamon
Nutmeg

Add all ingredients in a large bowl and beat until frothy. Pour into a chilled punch bowl. Add cinnamon and nutmeg to taste. Serves 25.

ANSWER - Mrs. S. K. King, Gordonville, requested recipes for making buttermilk and sour cream that tastes like the store-bought items. Thanks to an anonymous reader for both recipes.

Buttermilk

2 cups skim or whole milk
2 tablespoons commericial buttermilk

Combine ingredients in clean quart jar. Let stand covered with plastic wrap in warm place for 16 to 24 hours or until thickened. Refrigerate in covered container. Shake well before using. Makes 2 cups. Keeps up to 2 weeks. To replenish: Use 2 tablespoons of this buttermilk as the starter for a new batch.

Homemade Sour Cream

2 cups light cream
2 tablespoons buttermilk

Combine both in hot, clean, glass with a screw lid. Cover tightly and shake gently to thoroughly. Mix the buttermilk and cream. Let stand in warm place until thickened for 24 to 48 hours. Store covered in refrigerator. Stir before serving. use within 3 weeks. Makes 2 cups.

ANSWER - M. Horst, Narvon, requested recipes for casseroles that can be prepared ahead of time, frozen, and put straight in the oven. Thanks Edna High, Lititz, for mailing the following. Readers, we are looking for more.

Yumsetti

1 pound noodles or macroni
3 pounds ground beef
1 onion
2 cans peas
2 cans cream of mushroom soup
1 can cream of celery soup
1 cup sweet or sour cream
½ loaf of bread, crumbled

Cook noodles in salt water and drain. Brown meat and onion. Mix soups, noodles, peas, and cream with meat. Pour into casserole dishes. Brown bread crumbs with lots of butter in a teflon skillet. Top casserole with crumbs. May be frozen. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour.

Foods For Fitness: Facts And Fiction

New York, N.Y. — Summertime is a great time for fitness fun. Leisure-time activities, including bike riding, tennis, swimming and evening walks are enjoyable fitness activities for the lazy hazy days of summer. You'll want to eat well to stay in top shape, but contrary to popular beliefs, there are no miracle foods or nutrients that improve your fitness performance. According to Dairy Council, Inc., a nutritionally adequate diet is important for exercising individuals and can be obtained by eating a wide variety of foods.

There are many misconceptions regarding nutrition and fitness. Can you determine which of the following statements are myths and which are facts?

1. Myth or Fact? Extra vitamins and minerals can give you extra energy before exercising.

2. Myth or Fact? Eating honey, sugar or a candy bar is an excellent way to get quick energy before exercising.

3. Myth or Fact? Consuming large amounts of protein will increase muscle size and strength.

Believe it or not, each statement is a common myth. Here are the facts:

1. Vitamins and minerals don't supply energy, so it's impossible to "supercharge" the body this way with extra energy. The energy boost for exercise comes from eating a wide variety of foods. Taking large amounts of some vitamins can be harmful.

2. Eating sweets an hour or less before exercise can cause low blood sugar - causng a feeling of weakness and hunger. The energy used for exercise comes from foods eaten days and even weeks before.

3. Excess protein will not increase muscle growth or muscle strength. A wide variety of foods will supply the energy needed for heavy muscular workouts which, in turn, stimulate muscle growth and strength.

Many nutrition practices that contribute nothing to fitness still are widely used. If you separate the fact from the fiction by eating a variety of foods from the four food groups -- milk, meat, fruits and vegetables, and grains -- you can prepare yourself, nutritionally, for fitness fun.

ANSWER - V. M. Martin, Springfield, VA., requests recipes for all kinds of crackers. Thanks Ida Keeny, New Freedom, for the following. Readers, we are looking for additional ones.

Oatmeal Snack Crackers

3 cups old fashioned or quick oats
1 cup raw wheat germ
2 cups whole wheat flour
3 tablespoons honey
¾ cup oil
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons water

Mix oats, wheat germ and flour in a large bowl. Heat water, oil and honey until very warm. Pour over mixture. Mix well. Divide and roll out on floured board ⅛ -inch thick. Cut in squares. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Sprinkle lightly with salt. Bake at 300 degrees for 20 minutes or until done. Cool. Store in tight containers.

ANSWER - I.R. Luttrell, Holtwood, requested a recipe for a good Italian salad dressing similar to the Good Season Salad dressing mix. Thanks Donna Lencoski of Latrobe for sending one and also to May Ozimek of Flemington, N.J.

Good Reasons Italian Mix

1 tablespoon garlic salt
1 tablespoon onion powder
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons dry oregano leaves
1 teaspoon black pepper
¼ teaspoon dry thyme
1 teaspoon dry basil leaves
1 envelope (one serving size) dry cream of chicken cup of soup OR 2 squares soda crackers, crushed, plus 1½ teaspoon chicken bouillon powder and 1 teaspoon non-dairy creamer.
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
¼ teaspoon celery salt
2 tablespoons seasoned salt
1 tablespoon dried grated lemon rind or the grated rind of one large lemon.

Mix all ingredients together and force through a fine strainer with the back of a large spoon and store in covered container to use within 3 months.

To use: Combine 2 tablespoons above mixture with ¼ cup vinegar, ⅔ cup oil, 2 tablespoons water and shake. Makes 1 cup.

Homemade Italian Dressing

In 1 quart canning jar, mix
1 cup red wine vinegar
½ cup good olive oil
1½ teaspoon Parmesan cheese
2 cloves garlic, crushed
½ teaspoon dijon mustard
½ teaspoon basil, chopped
½ teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon freshly ground pepper.

Shake in jar and refrigerate. You may add 1 cup tomato juice.

Thirst Quenchers

STRAWBERRY COOLER

1 cup sliced fresh strawberries
2 tablespoons honey
2 cups cold milk
1 pint strawberry ice cream, softened

Place strawberries, honey and a small amount of milk in blender container; cover. Puree until almost smooth. Add remaining milk and ice cream. Blend until smooth and frothy, about 1 minutes. Serve immediately in tall chilled glasses garnished with a fresh whole strawberry. Yield: 4 glasses.

BANANA COOLER

2 medium-sized bananas, sliced
2 tablespoons honey
2 cups cold milk
1 pint vanilla ice cream, softened
½ teaspoon ginger, if desired*

Place bananas, honey and a small amount of milk in blender container, cover. Puree until almost smooth. Add remaining milk, ice cream and ginger. Blend until smooth and frothy, about 1 minute. Serve immediately in tall chilled glass garnished with banana slice.

*Omit ginger if drink is to be served to children.

CRANBERRY TEA

4 cups water
12 whole cloves
1 long cinnamon stick
2 tablespoon sugar
4 tea bags
2 cups cranberry juice cocktail

Place water, cloves, cinnamon stick and sugar in saucepan. Cover and bring to a boil.

Remove pan from heat and remove cinnamon sticks and cloves. Add tea bags to water, cover and brew for 3 minutes or longer if a stronger tea is desired. Remove tea bags.

Add cranberry juice cocktail. Return to heat and boil. Serve hot in mugs. Makes 6 servings, about 70 calories each.

Gertrude Dougherty

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

A marinade adds extra flavor to barbecued meat, poultry or fish. And, your microwave helps add extra flavor to the marinade.

A marinade is a combination of seasonings, acid, and, often, oil. The seasonings — such as onion, spices and herbs — add a distinct flavor to grilled meat, poultry or fish. The acid — such as wine, lemon juice, vinegar, beer or buttermilk — helps tenderize meat and also adds flavor to all foods. Oil — especially olive oil — helps seal surfaces to keep food juicy.

Often marinades are combinations of uncooked ingredients. Others may call for cooking to develop flavor and soften seasonings. In either case, your microwave is a big help.

Heating herbs with liquid ingredients, as in New England Buttermilk Marinade, helps develop a more pronounced flavor in the marinade and, in turn, in the grilled food.

By microwaving tomato-based marinades, like Tangy Texas Marinade, there's no scorching and sticky pan to wash. In Southwest Red Pepper Marinade microwaving softens peppers, onion and chilies, for a mild-cooked taste and smooth pureeing. Done conventionally, you'd have to roast the vegetables under the broiler or over a gas flame to char them and then peel off the blackened skin before pureeing.

For safety's sake, cool marinade completely before adding meat, poultry or fish. If you want to use the marinade for a sauce to pass at the table, bring it to a boil and boil about a minute before serving.

Marinating time varies according to the food and size of food. Generally, meats need longer marinating to develop flavor and, in the case of less tender meats such as round steak, to tenderize. Larger pieces, such as roasts, thick steaks or thick chops, need more time then shellfish, fish or chicken pieces. Here's a general guideline to follow.

MARINATING TIME CHART

Cover food and refrigerate. Stir or rearrange occasionally, spooning marinade over food.

Chicken: 4 or more hours. Beef round steak or ribs: 8 to 12 hours. Pork chops or ribs, beef sirloin or lamb chops: 4 to 8 hours. Fish steaks or fillets: 2 hours. Shellfish: 1 hour.

Southwest Red Pepper Marinade

2 large red bell peppers
1 small yellow onion
2 jalapeno chilies
2 cloves garlic
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 tablespoon lime or lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt (optional)

Rinse peppers and dry thoroughly. Halve onion and remove skin. Wrap each pepper, each onion half and chilies separately in plastic wrap, leaving seams for vent. Place on microwave-safe plate. Microwave (High) 8 to 10 minutes, turning peppers over once. Let stand, wrapped, 13 to 15 minutes until pepper skin wrinkles. (For this recipe there's no need to rub skin off under cold running water.) Halve peppers and chilies, remove seeds and membranes, cut peppers into fourths. (Use gloves with chilies.)

Use food processor fitted with knife blade to finely chop onion, peppers, chilies and garlic. Add oil, lime juice and salt. Process until smooth. (Or use blender, blending all ingredients at once into a smooth puree.)

Pour into a gallon-size zipper storage bag. Add 4 to 6 servings fish, poultry or meat to be grilled or broiled. Close zipper-top of plastic bag securely. Turn bag to evenly distribute marinade and coat food. Place bag in pan. (Or in a glass dish, coat all sides of meat or poultry with marinade; cover tightly.) Marinade, refrigerated according to above timings, turning food occasionally. Baste meat or poultry with marinade while grilling or broiling. Makes 1 cup marinade, enough for 4 to 6 servings.

Note: This is especially good for salmon steaks, poultry and pork chops.

New England Buttermilk Marinade

2 tablespoons packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 clove garlic, minced
½ teaspoon dried basil
½ teaspoon dried oregano
1 cup buttermilk

Combine all ingredients, except buttermilk, in microwave-safe small bowl. Microwave (High) 45 to 60 seconds or until bubbly. Cool completely. Stir in buttermilk. Pour into a gallon-size zipper storage bag. Add 4 to 6 servings meat or poultry to be grilled or broiled. Close zipper-top of plastic bag securely. Turn bag to evenly distribute marinade and coat food. Place bag in pan. (Or in a glass dish, coat all sides of meat or poultry with marinade; cover tightly.) Marinate refrigerated, according to above timings, turning food occasionally. Baste meat or poultry with marinade while grilling or broiling. Makes 1 cup marinade, enough for 4 to 6 servings.

Note: This is especially good for round or sirloin beef steak kabobs.

Texas Tangy Marinade

1 small onion, chopped
⅓ cup dry wine or pineapple juice
2 tablespoons catsup
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon wine vinegar
2 cloves garlic, crushed
½ teaspoon dried sage
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ cup olive oil
1 teaspoon soy sauce

In medium microwave-safe bowl, stir together, onion, wine, catsup, Worcestershire sauce, vinegar, garlic, sage and mustard. Microwave (High) 1½ to 2½ minutes or until onion is tender, stirring once. Stir in oil and soy sauce. Cool completely. Pour into a gallon-size zipper storage bag. Add 4 to 6 servings meat or poultry to be grilled or broiled. Close zipper-top of plastic bag securely. Turn bag to evenly distribute marinade and coat food. Place bag in pan. (Or in a glass dish, coat all sides of meat or poultry with marinade; cover tightly). Marinate, refrigerated according to above timings, turning food occasionally. Baste meat or poultry with marinade while grilling or broiling. Makes about 1 cup marinade, enough for about 4 to 6 servings.

Note: This is especially good for beef chuck steak, ribs and poultry. With this type of tomato-based marinade, baste only during the final 10 to 15 minutes of cooking. Otherwise, outside surfaces of food will burn.

Chocolate Milk Facts

New York, N.Y. — Chocolate milk is as good as it tastes! For both children and adults, chocolate milk is a tasty and healthy choice: it's packed with nutrition, and a flavorful pick for healthy eating.

According to Dairy Council, Inc., chocolate milk contains the same nutrients found in unflavored milk. Both are key sources of protein, calcium and riboflavin, as well as other vitamins and minerals needed by the body.

What makes chocolate milk so unique? The flavoring added to make chocolate milk provides additional carbohydrate, making it a good milk choice for growing children and active adults. But unlike other sugar-containing foods, chocolate milk contains components which may decrease its cavity-causing potential.

Chocolate milk leaves tooth surfaces quickly, whereas sticky carbohydrate-containing foods remain on tooth surfaces longer, allowing more time for carbohydrates to form acids. Recent studies suggest that milk contains minerals and buffering agents that neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay. Additional protection is provided by the cocoa in chocolate milk, which may block cavity formation.

Health-conscious eaters can choose chocolate milk without worrying about its caffeine and sugar content. Because chocolate-flavored milk is only one percent cocoa, it contains a very small amount of caffeine compared to the amount in coffee or cola beverages.

Chocolate milk's calorie-count differs among the various forms of milk it's made with. For instance, low-fat milk contains less fat and, thus, less calories than whole milk. Chocolate milk made with milk containing one percent milkfat has only 158 calories per 8-ounce serving.

Fresh Air Girl Visits The Farm

BY LOU ANN GOOD

MANHEIM — Each summer hundreds of city children look forward to spending time in the country. Most come for a 10 day to 2 week visit. They are called Fresh Air children.

Barbara West is one of these. She comes from Reading, Pennsylvania, where she lives in a row house with nine brothers and sisters.

She started visiting Dave and Robbin Martin's Manheim farm when she was six-years-old. Now, she is 14. Usually fresh air children are six to eight-years-old. But if their host families prefer they can keep inviting the fresh air children until they are age 16.

Fortunately, the Martins love Barbara so they keep inviting her year after year. And Barbara loves coming and playing with the Martin's five children: Melissa, 8; Joshua, 6; Laura, 5; Carla, 3; and Abigale, 2.

The Martin's recall that the first time Barbara entered their barn where they have 80 milking cows, she said, "Oh, they stink!"

The odor doesn't bother her anymore. Sometimes, while she is visiting, the Martin's replace their 50,000 broilers with new baby peeps. Then Barbara helps unload them.

Better than those chickens, Barbara prefers the 20 Red Island hens that lay eggs on the farm. She likes to feed them scraps and gather their eggs.

And what does she like best? "Water battles."

To cool off on hot days the children get out the water hoses and chase each other. Better than squirting each other, they like to drench Dave, the daddy of the clan.

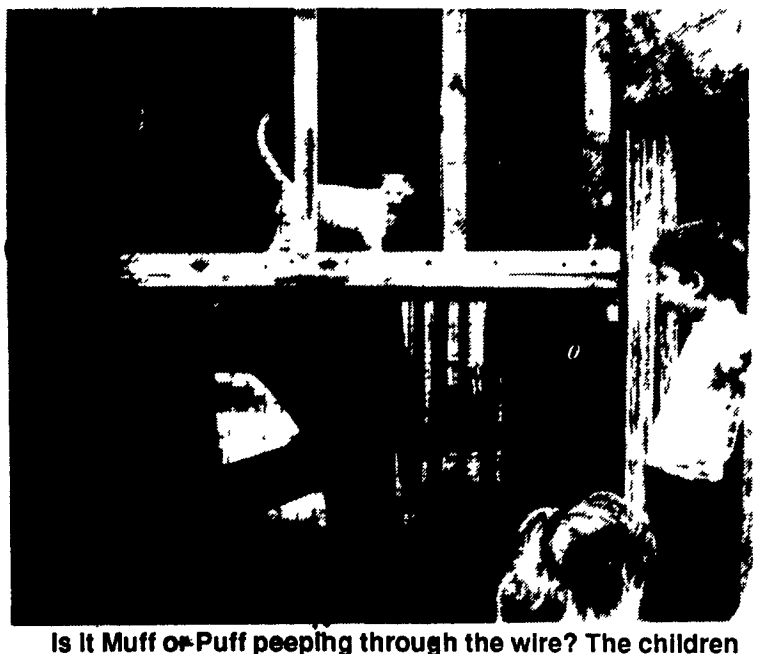
Whenever Barbara sits down, several of the Martin children snuggle up to her. Since Barbara has been visiting them for seven years through the Summer Visitation Program, she's almost like part of the family.

A barn swing above a mountain of wood shavings provides hours of fun. The children swing over the saw dust then jump into the heap for a soft landing.

Twenty Red Island hens rush to the fence when the children come near. The hens expect the children to feed them scraps from the table.

A play house in the hay? That's what the Martin clan pretends. They find the cubby holes and the staggered hay bales offer plenty of hiding spaces for their individual spots.

Laura and Melissa never grow tired of the many cats on their farm.



Is it Muff or Puff peeping through the wire? The children can't tell because both cats look the same.

Montana 4-H'ers Visit Columbia County

BY HELEN KELCHNER
Columbia Co. Correspondent

BERWICK (Columbia) — Columbia County hosted 25 members of a Montana 4-H group last month in an exchange program in which local 4-H members had visited Montana last year.

The young people become aware of similarities and differences in opposite sections of the country through a one-week living experience with a farm family. 4-H projects as well as physical land features can be startling to the first-time visitor.

Bloomsburg members were impressed by the bigness of Montana where the view is in terms of miles. The Western 4-H members, by contrast, noticed the hilly terrain of Pennsylvania with lots of trees and a general closeness where animals can be seen from the roadside. Considering the average Montana ranch is 500 acres contrasting to the 100 acre Pennsylvania farm, our state appears crowded by comparison.

The visitors liked the greenness' of Pennsylvania and, especially the friendliness of everyone they met. Upon their arrival in mid-June, the current drought had not yet set in to any extent. One of the first comments from one of the chaperones was how beautifully green the area was. Montana was already well into a drought situation that had stunted growth of spring pasture grass.

Because of the short growing season, corn is not raised in that Western state and forage crops make up the bulk of feed for beef cattle.

While Pennsylvania youth train to manage dairy herds, Montana 4-H'ers study range management in which beef cattle are the primary livestock. Other projects are similar to local interest such as sewing and cooking for girls, but they invariably include beef or dairy goat raising along with their homemaking training.

The Montana entourage landed in Philadelphia, had a quick tour around the square to view Independence Hall and the Liberty Bell and arrived at Bloomsburg Town Park at 9:30 p.m. The arrival was two hours late. The welcoming

A 4-H Festival Day was held at Millville Elementary School in which 300 4-H members took part in common activities. Here the two groups demonstrate the art of introduction under the guidance of Pam Brown, Columbia County Home Economist.

BACK HOME

It was 6:30 a.m. and we were on our way West. The van was packed to the roof with strollers, back packs, luggage, bottles, diapers, snack food, toys, car seats, four adults, four children, and oh yes, the wedding gift. Our destination was the Buckeye state in eight hours or less!

My family seems to enjoy hot summer weddings as we all have been married in May, June or July. So it wasn't surprising that my cousin would also choose the warm days of July to say "I do". And our travels west were not only for the wedding but the extra benefits of a non-holiday family reunion and family vacation.

Four days passed quickly, and now that we have returned, I'm seeking the end of the piles of laundry. However, as the rejuvenated garments are stacked into the laundry basket, enjoyable moments of the weekend come back to mind. I recall with a chuckle the words we tried to get away with in our travel Scrabble game, the joy of welcoming the new bride into our family, the fun of spending an evening together with our extended family, and the laughter shared over family jokes that are funny only to us!

And then in addition to the wedding and the reunion of family and friends, there was the trip to Sea World. Four generations of Skiles, ages 85 to 8-months, entered the gates as together all 18 of us petted the dolphins and paid tribute to Shamu the whale. This side trip was the creative gift of my father who captured the feel of the entire trip: "Let's make a memory".

It probably doesn't matter that 11-month-old Elise and 8-month-old Tim and Audrey won't remember the wedding. Five-year-old Amy and Beth probably won't remember how many pounds Shamu weighed, and 3-year-old Sam and Kim will probably forget the shape of dolphin teeth. What is important though are the memories of a trip and time spent together. And every year a wedding anniversary will bring back these pleasurable memories.

Special moments such as these don't just happen; they have to be planned on purpose. Making family memories does not have to be a four day event, although I highly recommend it if you can do it. But in this hectic world when the pace at which we all live is so frantic, we as families must make a covenant with each other to make time to make special memories. Most special moments won't just happen. Our family had been making plans for months for this time together, and Dad spent days working out the logistics of the Sea World trip.

Our beautiful memories of yesterday were once moments of today. As families, we don't have guarantees on the tomorrows, but we do have the moments today.

So as I return to my desk, now piled almost as high as the laundry and ponder what "words of wisdom" to impart to my readers this week, I'm struck by the importance of the family memories that we have just created together. My hope is that by sharing a glimpse of our family "making a memory" you, too, will be inspired to do likewise. The lyrics of musicians Bill and Gloria Gaither in the song "We Have This Moment Today" remind us that "We have this moment to hold in our hand, and to touch as it slips through our fingers like sand. Yesterday's gone and tomorrow may never come, but we have this moment today."

Let's make a memory!

Montana 4-H'ers

committee had to renew friendships under the dim park lamps aided by an occasional flashlight. The very informal picnic under dimly lit conditions broke the ice for the tired travelers and their hosts.

During the one week stay, the visitors were treated to a family day at scenic Ricketts Glen with its series of waterfalls, a visit to Hershey Park and the Susquehanna Steam Electric Plant in lower Luzerne County. They toured Centralia and an Ashland coal mine, and also visited an Amish farm in Lancaster.

In an all day festival of 4-H events at Millville Elementary School, the combined members joined in activities common to both states like archery, wildlife study, physical fitness, horse scrubbing and the like.

The host families made an outstanding effort to integrate the Western visitors into Pennsylvania life which is described by one as being somewhat faster paced than Montana.

4-H members are urged to consider being a part of this yearly exchange program for a week of learning about agriculture and family living in a locale other than their own.

Linda Hendricks, Columbia County Extension Assistant coordinated the activities for this 4-H exchange.

The Montana group came from Broadwater County and Lewis and Clark County located in the western part of their state. Crow Creek Clover 4-H Club was represented.

Lancaster County Market Hog Show

The 230-pound York-Duroc-Hampshire cross barrow shown by Sheldon Heisey of Elizabethtown walked off with top honors at the Lancaster County FFA Market Hog Show and Sale on Wednesday. And Doug Clemens of Hatfield Quality Meats walked off with the barrow for $2.05 per pound.

Judge Henry Gruber liked the hog's leanness, muscling, and loose movement over qualities of the reserve champion hog, a Duroc-Spotted cross gilt shown by Jason Miller of Elizabethtown. John Wagner of White Oak Mill bought the reserve champion for $1.05 per pound.

Heisey, who will be attending Bloomsburg University in the fall, has been in FFA for four years as part of the Elizabethtown chapter. He also has been a 4-H'-er for nine years. Out of the nine years he's been raising market hogs, this is Heisey's first grand champion, although he's had three reserve grand champions. He purchased the hog from Robert Haverstick of Millersville.

Miller's 225-pound gilt is his first reserve grand champion in the four years that he's been showing market hogs. He began his market hog career with a grand champion at the Elizabethtown fair. This is Miller's first year as a member of the Elizabethtown FFA chapter. He is a senior in high school.

Twin Valley

Duane Stoltzfus, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Stoltzfus of Morgantown, was named the 1988 winner of the DeKalb Agricultural Accomplishment award at Twin Valley High School. The award, sponsored nationwide by DeKalb-Pfizer Genetics, is presented to the outstanding senior agricultural student demonstrating superior scholarship, leadership and supervised agricultural occupational experience program. The award was presented at the Annual Twin Valley Awards dinner.

Duane is a 1988 graduate of Twin Valley High School where he served as treasurer of the FFA chapter and secretary of the Berks County FFA. His agricultural experience program consisted of caring for registered Holsteins and working on the Gary Stoltzfus dairy farm as well as his parents' dairy farm. Duane has won numerous awards in dairy judging and has competed in agronomy and land judging FFA contests as well as public speaking and parliamentary procedure. He has won awards with his record books. He was a member of the Berks County FFA dairy cattle judging team that won the Pennsylvania FFA contest at Penn State and will represent the Pennsylvania FFA in Kansas City in November. Duane has enrolled at Penn State University in dairy science, but is planning a career in veterinary medicine.

As this year's winner Duane received a pin and certificate and will have his name engraved on a trophy displayed in the agricultural room. The DeKalb award, often considered the highest honor an agricultural student can receive on the local level, is presented at nearly 3,000 high schools annually. DeKalb-Pfizer Genetics has presented this award for 41 years. The company also sponsors the national FFA Placement in Agricultural Production proficiency award. Based in DeKalb, Illinois, DeKalb-Pfizer is an international researcher, producer, and marketer of corn, sorghum, soybean, and alfalfa seed.

Capital And Southeast Regions Announce Fashion Revue Winners

BY LOU ANN GOOD

LITITZ — During last week's 4-H Fashion Revues held in eight Pennsylvania regions, the best of the best surfaced. Now, those winners are scheduled for state competition on July 26 at Penn State University.

Both the southeast regional held at Ursinus College, Collegeville and the capital regional held at Cumberland Valley High School chose seven senior winners.

Seventy-three participants at the capital revue and forty-seven at the southeastern revue modeled a wide variety of styles. There were wool tailored suits, silky prom gowns, sporty outfits and dressy fashions that demonstrated the skill and attention the 4-H'ers gave to details.

Gwendolyn Perry

Gwendolyn Perry of Berks County modeled a black leather goatskin jacket. She said, "I just wanted to be different and have a challenge."

Since she had worked with wool the last two years and had won at the regional level last year, the sixteen-year-old needed a bigger challenge. She was not disappointed. To create her jacket, Gwen needed four goatskins. She needed to tape instead of pin the European Berda pattern on the skins. Rather than cutting with sissors, she needed a special cutter and seams needed to pounded and glued open.

Since any wrong stitching that needed to be ripped would show needle holes, Gwen, at the suggestion of Michele Rodgers, Berks County home economist, made a sample jacket out of linen and then adjusted the pattern to fit. The leather jacket compliments a jade knit dress with eight zippers.

Lori Brandt

Lori Brandt, a ten-year member of Campbelltown 4-H in Lebanon County placed in the senior division at the Capital Regional Revue. She fashioned a 100% gray wool suit that featured a semi-fitted, lined jacket with button packet and raised neckline. It had shoulder pads and welt pockets. The skirt was straight and lined and featured a center back vent with soft front pleats and side pockets. The rose-colored blouse was loose fitting with a concealed button closing and a tie collar. The Palmyra High School graduate is a frequent winner at county levels.

Kerry Freese

Most of the participants have been working on their sewing and textile projects for five months or longer. Many, such as Kerry Freese of Nottingham, travel great distances to find that elusive fabric that they hope will catch the judges' eyes. In January, Kerry spent three days in Washington D.C. searching for just the right material and pattern.

A nine-year veteran of 4-H sewing, Kerry has won blue ribbons, but this year was a first for the gold. She stitched a Vogue designer original gown with a fitted, lined bodice and with front princess seams. The neckline ruffle extends into rosettes. The poly taffeta gown features a 20-inch hand-picked zipper which she found challenging.

Monica Shenk

The senior division starts for 14-year-olds through 18. Although many winners are older teens, not all are. One, fourteen-year-old, Monica Shenk of Manheim, impressed the judges with her lined wool skirt with its nine hemline pleats and a cotton blouse and multi-colored sweater. This was the first year in the senior division for Monica.

Unlike many of the contestants, Monica found her fabric near home. She purchased the sweater knit from Lititz Sewing Center and the 100% Pendleton wool fabric from a Lancaster store.

Was it hard? Monica said, "I like to see the outfit put together but it's tough to meet all the requirements."

Scoring

Participants do not accumulate points merely through their stitching ability. They have been taught modeling techniques at local 4-H meetings to aid them in poise and in putting their best step forward.

The score sheets enable judges to indicate excellent, good or needs improvement in the appropriate areas. According to Doris Thomas, Lancaster home economist, participants can accumulate 100 points.

A possible 15 points can be earned for appearance that reflects, neatness, good posture, suitable makeup and a pleasant facial expressions while modeling the garment.

An additional 15 points can be gained under the fashion category by how well the 4-H'er uses color, line, texture, trims, style and accessories. Is the style becoming to the individual, and do accessories coordinate with the outfit?.

Design earns 15 more points if the outfit looks smart and put together, effective use of color, texture and appropriate to the pattern and fabric coordination.

Fifteen more points can be earned if the garment has an overall smooth fit with an absence of fitting wrinkles and twisted seams and adequate ease for design.

The construction category allows participants to earn up to 40 additional points. Scores depend upon level of difficulty, appropriate interfacing for fabric and design, smooth, even flat collars, lapels, cuffs and inconspicuous hems and facings.

According to Helaine Brown, home economist for Montgomery county, a quota system for each region is based on project enrollment in 4-H clothing and textile projects.

The senior winners from regional revues across the state will compete at the State Fashion Revue held at Penn State University on July 26. State judges will select 10 honorees whose combined scores from the State Revue and submitted 4-H reports will determine Pennsylvania's representative to the National Revue held in November.

Winners for both the southeast and the capital region are listed as follows.

Southeast Regional Winners

The top seven gold award winners at the southeast regional included the following: Kristine Horvath, Northampton; Karen Mengle, Berks; Noel Scheib, Chester; Debbie Werley, Lehigh, Gwendolyn Perry, Berks; Lisa Finnin, Montgomery; and Suzanne Weber.

The five honor awards in the senior division of the southeast regional included Terri Hershey, Chester; Michele Wojszwillo, Berks; Elizabeth Borst, Chester; and Sara Donegan of Bucks County.

Junior winners included Sherry Peiffer, Schuylkill; Jill Malthaner, Chester; Kristen Schickling, Montgomery; Lisa Geschwindt, Berks; Anita Russo, Montgomery; and Stephanie Wojszwillo of Berks.

Judges at Montgomery County included Christine Rebman, Ellen Phillips, Marie Schoen, Nancy Thomas, Jody Carney, and Colleen Gillies.

Capital Regional Winners

The senior gold winners from the capital region included: Lori Brandt, Lebanon; Monica Shenk, Lancaster; Amy Fyock, Lancaster; Kerri Fries, Lancaster; Melissa Wenger, Lancaster, Belinda angle, Franklin; and Dana Heine of Cumberland.

Judges for the capital region included Ruth MacDonald, Mary Meyers, Janet Eastman, Beth Bitner, Jan Stong, and Connie Hartman.

Veal Cookoff

HARRISBURG — The entry deadline for the second Annual Pennsylvania Veal Cookoff is August 5, with finalists' recipes being prepared at the cookoff in late August during National Veal Month, according to Chip Lines-Thomas, PA Veal Coordinator.

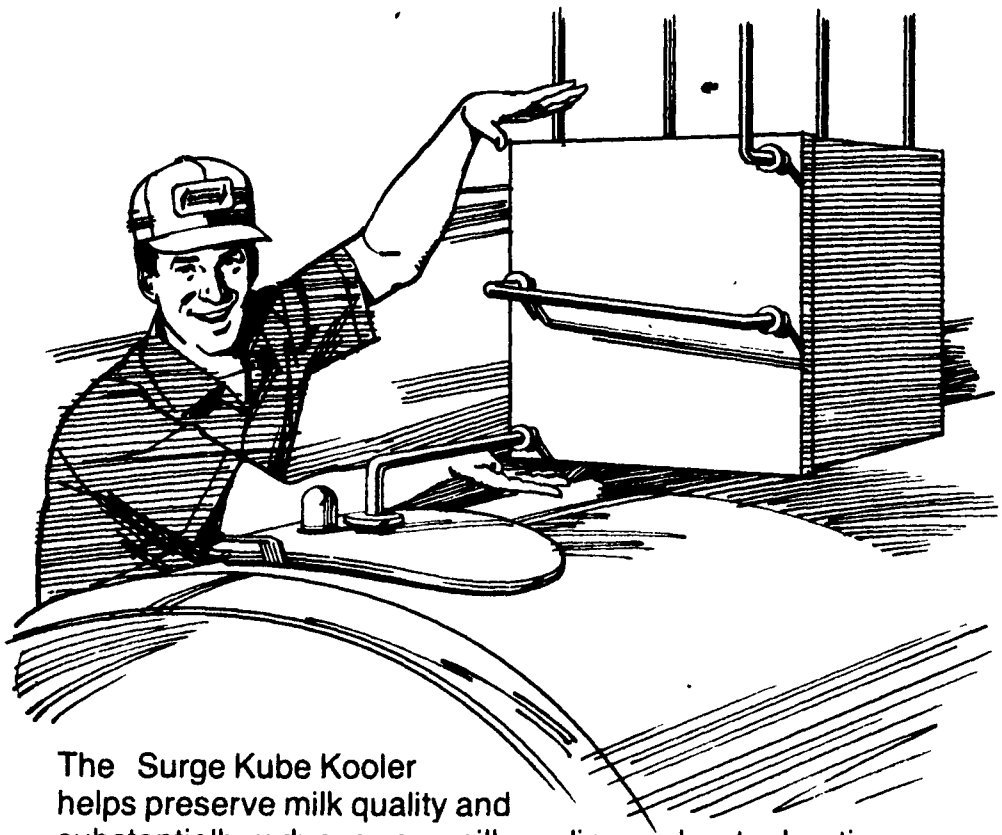
Thomas said the Cookoff, featuring more than $575 in cash and prizes, will be held at the Williamsport Arewa Community College in late August. The Cookoff is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Beef Council through beef and veal producers' checkoff funds.

Any PA resident 18 years or older, with non-professional cooking status, is eligible to enter the Veal Cookoff contest. Recipes using all cuts of veal may be submitted by August 5, and must serve two to four people. Each recipe must contain a minimum of ½ pound of milk-fed fancy fresh veal.

Veal recipe entries are screened by a panel of three experienced judges for taste, ease of preparation, originality and appearance. A professional chef will prepare each of the top ten finalists' recipes for final judging.

A complete set of rules and entry forms can be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Pennsylvania Veal Cook-Off, Box 125, Monroeton, PA 18832, or by calling Chip Thomas at 717-265-7871 or the PA Beef Council at 717-545-6000.

SURGE SQUEEZES MORE PRECOOLING INTO LESS SPACE.



The Surge Kube Kooler helps preserve milk quality and substantially reduces your milk cooling and water heating costs. And it does all this in less space—just a 22" cube.

Now dairymen with small milkrooms can benefit from efficient pre-cooling. The Kube Kooler can be installed above the milk tank, suspended from the ceiling or wall mounted.

The Kube Kooler is constructed of durable, corrosion resistant copper and stainless steel for long life. No moving parts or gaskets to wear out. The Kube Kooler is designed for more efficient cooling and effective cleaning.

Check out the compact Kube Kooler. You'll be surprised at how much can be done in so little space.

We can make your cows worth more.

About Conserving Water

Many communities are requesting that individuals restrict their use of water because of the severe drought we are experiencing this summer. Conserving water in the home does not necessarily mean a change in lifestyle. It may only mean cutting back and reducing waste of taking a look at the way you now use water. Economical use of water could result in lower utility bills or keep them from going higher.

As you and other family members go about performing daily personal and household chores, follow these conservation reminders to reduce water use:

Keep a bottle of drinking water in the refrigerator to eliminate running the water until it gets cold.

Don't let faucets run for washing or rinsing dishes. Fill a container with water for this purpose or put the stop in the sink drain.

Brush teeth before shaving. Use the hot water faucet allowing the cold water in the line to get hot enough for shaving instead of wasting water (or letting it run down the drain) until it gets hot enough for shaving.

Use a glass of water to rinse your mouth after brushing your teeth rather than running water over the toothbrush and using the toothbrush to rinse your mouth.

Take shorter showers. Turn the shower off while soaping if the showerhead is equipped with a shutoff valve.

Fix leaking faucets. A leakage of 90 drops/minute adds up to 300 gallons of water lost per month — or over 3,000 gallons a year "down the drain."

About Home Handling of Hard Cheese

Most varieties of hard cheese will keep for a few weeks in your home. Proper temperature and a tight wrapping to prevent air contamination are the keys to prevent spoilage.

Hard cheese, such as cheddar, mozzarella and Swiss are cured for a week by cheese manufacturers. They are cut and wrapped in various films by retail stores or prepackaged by cheese manufacturers or processors.

The greatest concern is mold contamination from the air. Cheese provides an excellent medium for growth because it contains moisture and nutrients. Keep cheese tightly wrapped in plastic or other film to minimize exposure to air.

Hard cheese should not be kept out of the refrigerator for more than a few minutes, unless you plan to serve and eat all of it. Exposure to air and warm temperatures dries cheese out and causes the fat to melt. Then the surface becomes oily.

Keep hard cheese at a temperature of 40°F or below. Freezing changes the body and texture. After freezing the cheese crumbles and should be used for cooking, rather than slicing for table use.

Use cheese wrapped in a heat-seal film within two weeks of purchase. Vacuum packed cheese keeps longer. Keep all varieties of hard cheese tightly wrapped and cold.

The Magic Of Scarves

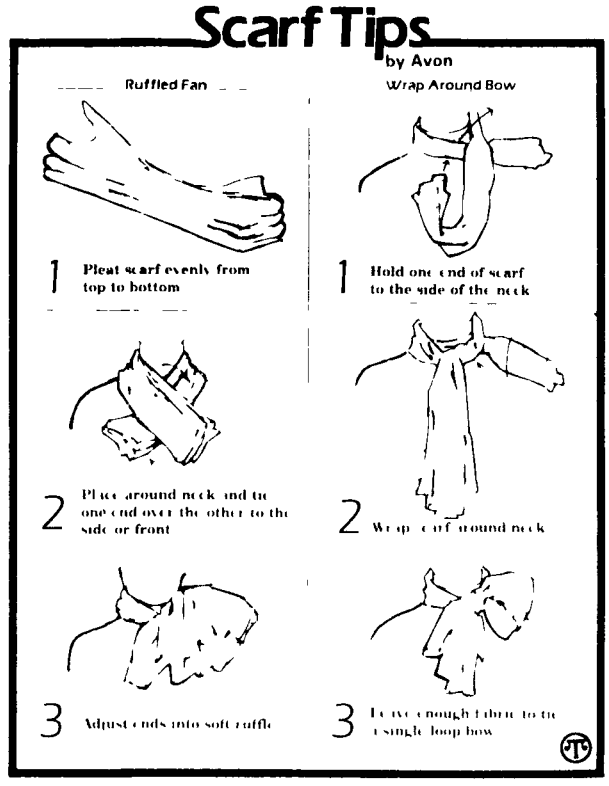
This season fashion is under wraps -- scarves are the hottest accessory. But you are all thumbs at tying the perfect bow? And is there a perfect shape and style for you?

An attractive scarf adds pizazz and versatility to your wardrobe, according to Kathleen Walas, Avon's national beauty and fashion director. "It can add a feminine touch and change the look of a blouse, a suit, or a dress."

"There are many ways to wear a scarf," said Ms. Walas. In fact, Avon has come up with a chart that features two of the most popular looks.

According to Ms. Walas, an oblong scarf can be transformed into a bow and worn as a tie that adds a dash of color or pattern to a blouse, a sweater, or a dress. It can be adjusted to a high or low position, to sit under the collar like a man's tie or dropped lower for a softer look.

A square scarf is versatile too. With it, you can create a ruffled look that adds feminine style and design to a round-neck blouse or bress. Or you can fashion a western look that adds flair to a simple sweater or dress.



Scarf Tips
by Avon
Ruffled Fan
Wrap Around Bow
1 Pleat scarf evenly from top to bottom
1 Hold one end of scarf to the side of the neck
2 Place around neck and tie one end over the other to the side or front
2 Wrap end around neck
3 Adjust ends into soft ruffle
3 Leave enough fabric to tie a single loop bow

Eggs - Pectations Is Back

ANNAPOLIS, Md.— Great Eggs-Pectations is back. For the third year Maryland cooks are invited to create a culinary specialty as nearly perfect as the egg itself. The Maryland Department of Agriculture and the Maryland Egg Council are sponsoring the egg cooking contest to find the best egg recipes in Maryland. Great Eggs-Pectations will coincide with Egg Day at the Timonium State Fair.

The contest is open to legal residents of Maryland in two categories: Adult and Youth. Adult contestants must be at least 19 years of age, and youth contestants must be in grades 6 through 12. Chefs, home economists, professional food preparers, and Maryland Egg Council Board members and their families and employees are not eligible.

Rules for the Maryland Great Eggs-Pectations will parallel those of the national competition held by the American Egg Board. Each recipe must be original (not previously published) and must include a minimum of one egg per serving.

Recipes must be postmarked no later than August 1, 1988, and be clearly identified with the entrant's name, address and telephone number during the day. Entries should be sent to: Great Eggs-Pectations, Maryland Department of Agriculture, Marketing Services, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, Maryland 21401.

Lititz Pair Make Comedy, Music Their Career

by Kathleen King

LITITZ (Lancaster) — Wolfgang Weiss and Fritzie Heimers, two eccentric Swiss handbell ringers, are alive and well, and living in Lititz, Lancaster County.

Actually, Wolfgang and Fritzie are the alter egos of Don Kinnier and Judy Townsend, 1421 Brunnerville Road. This husband-wife team bills itself as a "fast-paced blend of old-fashioned multiple-act vaudeville-variety and English Music Hall styles in which they portray all of the various characters and acts."

That's quite a mouthful, but then Don and Judy have the energy and drive to turn that mouthful of words into a stage full of delightful comedy and family-oriented fun.

Both have an extensive background in theater and music.

Don has been described as a "new vaudeville musician." A native of Philadelphia, he took up music at the age of nine, concentrating in keyboards.

Over the years his keyboard work has developed into a one of "highly improvisational nature (which) contains elements of many musical forms, including jazz, classical, ragtime and devices derived from various ethnic styles," he says in his resume.

While an engineering student at Drexel he began to accompany silent films, and now performs on the accordian, synthesizers, handbells and psaltry (a bowed string instrument). He also juggles handbells.

He also has a technical background in music, having worked for many years for Baldwin as a technical and musical traveler. It was this job that originally brought him to Lancaster County.

His wife, Judy, is a former school music teacher, who taught for 17 years. Music was not just a career, but a hobby as well for her. In fact, it was through a hobby - bell ringing - that she and Don met.

Born in Plainfield, N.J., she studied piano, clarinet, voice and dance as a child. She has been an artist in residence, a singer, performer, writer, and comedienne.

Together they have performed for schools, clubs, churches and company programs with their travelling music shows, Red White and New Ragtime Revue and Around the World in Eighty Minutes.

Don Kinnier and Judy Townsend are a Warwick Township husband and wife professional acting team whose zany, fast-paced, family-oriented programs of music and comedy are becoming increasingly well known in the area.

They are currently co-producers of Magic Lantern Mayhem a silent film and live Vaudeville series at the Chester County Center for the Performing Arts where Don has been musical director and Judy production and artist coordinator since 1980.

They coordinated on a one-woman show, The One Tomato New You Revue, starring mime Terri Mastrobuono for the Actors Company new and classic plays series and have been involved in the music for the Independent Eye of Lancaster.

Beginning July 26 they will start a six-week run with the Phineas T. Waggs All American Vaudeville Show at Willow Valley Resort.

This family-oriented variety show recreates the type of entertainment that was prevalent at the turn of the century. It is performed under a tent by four adults, three children, one dog, and two birds, and features music, comic sketches, fire-eating, juggling, magic, mime, song and dance, storytelling and hand-bell ringing.

By day they are Don Kinnier and Judy Townsend; by night they are Wolfgang Weiss and Fritzie Heimers. But, by golly, they are one zany couple.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Whenever my husband gets an idea to take a few days off from farm work, I think of food preparation. You see, when I am away, it is still my job to see that food is prepared for those left at home.

The meals that I leave in the refrigerator must be hearty ones for my son and hired man. Some things that are easy to make are not their favorites. So I leave a note with a list of available items such as macaroni and cheese, baked beans and frankfurters or lasagna and beef. Carrot sticks have always been a good choice at our house.

Desserts are something that we always have to finish our meals. And, somehow I have no trouble finding many kinds. Ice cream is usually a good choice with cake, pie or cookies added. Everytime that I bring milk from the tank, I cook a pudding. It might be chocolate, coconut, vanilla, tapioca or graham cracker. These last items can even be a good addition to breakfast.

This past month my husband has been busy tending eleven new calves. As only two were bull calves, they will not be sold. He wants to get away and scout some new deer hunting territory as the places where we previously hunted are too crowded. He counted 50 cars at the entrance of one trail this past season.

So, I had better get my sweet corn, beans, cucumbers and zucchini picked before I go away. Our daughter lives in northern Pennsylvania and so we will spend one night with her before going to New York state to see some folks that I traveled to Europe with several years ago. But first I must go to the kitchen and cook!

4-H Presentation Day

Lancaster County's 4-H Presentation Day was held on July 12 at the Farm & Home Center. About 30 4-H'ers from around the county participated in the public speaking and presentations contest.

Hippology Team

Lancaster County's 4-H Hippology Team recently was invited as guests to compete in the Southeast Regional 4-H Hippology Contest, held in Montgomery County. In the Junior Division, Jessica Hill, Conestoga, placed fourth, and Marnie Santaniello, York, placed third. Two second-year juniors volunteered to move into the Senior Division and to compete as seniors, to allow younger juniors more opportunity. They were Lori Harnish, Lititz, and Emily Garman, Elizabethtown. In the Senior Division, Sharon Harnish, Lititz, placed third. Melissa Harris, Manheim, placed second, and Sheila Kraybill, Elizabethtown, won first place.

All contestants took a written exam, and participated in 15 stations, where within a three-minute time period they had to identify objects relating to horses, such as bones; horseman's knots, hitches, and splices; components of horse feeds; parts of various tack items; poisonous plants; miscellaneous equipment etc. In state competition, to be held the last week in July, the Senior Team will also have to judge three classes of horses.

All members of the Lancaster County Hippology Team belong to the Horsin' Around 4-H Club. For more information, contact Zoann Parker at the 4-H Office, 394-6851.

'Marketplace 29 A.D.' gives glimpse of life during Jesus' time

by Becky Collins

MANHEIM (Lancaster) — If you've ever wondered what it was like to walk through a market in Jerusalem during the time Jesus was on earth, the members of Salem United Methodist Church have got a treat for you.

Next Monday through Thursday night, July 25 through 28, 116 members of the church will take visitors on a journey through time to a Hebrew market in their re-creation called "Marketplace 29 A.D."

This unique Bible-time experience has been designed to include the entire family and offers a variety of experiences to market visitors.

A highlight of the "Marketplace" experience is the opportunity to dress in the garb of Jesus' time. The costumes are provided by the church. Members of the United Methodist Women (UMW), have been working since February to costume the production, constructing 191 costumes for actors in the drama and for Marketplace visitors.

Once the family has been costumed, they are greeted by one of twelve tribal leaders (the sons of Jacob) and led into the marketplace to experience its many wonders.

Inside the 40-by-80-foot tent, members of the church have planned 14 exhibits to bring life to the marketplace. Visitors will see stonecutters, metal workers, brickmakers and basketweavers demonstrating their crafts and they'll learn to write in Hebrew with a quill at the Scribe's shop.

Their olfactory senses will tingle with the aroma of fresh breads (made true to an ancient Hebrew recipe) and the sweet smell of candy from the candymaker's tent. Their imaginations will be carried away with the enchanting tales of the storyteller and the sound of song and dance.

Visitors will also witness dramatic performances by church members as they illustrate three of Jesus' parables, including "The Good Samaritan," "Zaccheus," and "The Widow's Mite," on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, respectively.

Thursday night, as the Marketplace draws to a close, the congregation and visitors will re-enact Jesus' feeding of the multitudes before they leave the marketplace for the final time.

Working Together

"We were looking for something creative to do in lieu of Vacation Bible School," noted education director JoAnn Enders. "We started with six members of the Christian Education Commission who recruited volunteers to demonstrate their crafts. Others simply volunteered their time to the project."

The idea gained momentum, and before anyone knew it, they were discussing everything from dramatic productions to demonstrations of Jewish dances.

"We hoped to make the experience one that the whole family can partake in," Mrs. Enders added. "We think this will be much like going to a Hebrew version of Root's (open air) Market with the family."

Mrs. Enders noted that they are expecting 200 people to attend the event. "We are inviting our members and the public to come and experience the Marketplace," she said. "We don't know how many will come, but we'll accomodate them somehow," she remarked.

The Marketplace will be open from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday night. There is no admission charge, and all refreshments are free.

IT'S SO EASY

According to nutritionists, two-thirds of all American women do not get enough dietary calcium on any given day. This is surprising because it is so easy to get this important mineral from dairy foods. Individuals can meet their recommended daily allowance by consuming an eight-ounce glass of milk at each meal.

800 CHEESES

When you go to the supermarket, you may be overwhelmed by the number of cheese selections which are available. According to the United States Department of Agriculture, there are 800 different names of cheeses.

HESSTON THE PRIME LINE

Decrease Food Spoilage During Stormy Weather

WASHINGTON — Hurricanes, tornadoes, and floods are not the most pleasant thoughts for warm weather, but unfortuantely they are facts of life in many locations. Severe storms often cause power failures that can last anywhere from several hours to several days.

In addition to coping with other problems caused by these conditions, consumers need to take steps to ensure a safe food supply during severe weather, and to prevent or minimize the loss of meat, poultry and other foods which may be stored in freezers or refrigerators when the power fails. To help you weather this year's storms, here is some advice based on calls to the U.S. Department of Agriculture Meat and Poultry Hotline (1-800-535-4555).

How can I prepare in advance to avoid food safety problems during power failures?

If you live in an area where severe storms and power outages occur frequently, prepare in advance by stocking up on nonperishable foods which do not require cooking. These might include canned goods, freeze-dried foods, vacuum-packed peanuts, and sterile fruit juice in waxed paper cartons.

When your freezer is operating but not full, insert blue-ice freezer packs or freeze water in plastic containers to help keep foods frozen in the event of a power failure.

You should also try to find out where block ice and dry ice are available in your community. It is important to learn how to handle dry ice ssaaffeellyy

The power has been off for half an hour. What can I do to keep the food in my freezer and refrigerator safe?

First, call your local power company and see if they can tell you when the power will be restored. If it will be back on in a couple of hours, everything should be find, as long as you minimize opening of the freezer and refrigerator doors.

A fully stocked freezer will usually keep food frozen for 2 days after losing power. A half-full freezer will usually keep food frozen for about 1 day. If the freezer is not full, group packages together so they will retain the cold more effectively. Be sure to keep raw meat and poultry items on a tray so that if they begin to thaw, their juices won't get onto other foods.

If the power will be out for a longer period than your freezer will maintain the cold, you may want to put dry ice in your freezer. Never touch dry ice with your hands or breathe its vapors in an enclosed area.

In the refrigerator, food will usually keep for 4 to 6 hours, depending upon how warm your kitchen is. If the power will be out for a longer time, you may want to add block ice to the refrigerator to keep it cool.

The power is back on now. How can I decide what to do with foods which were frozen before the power went off?

IF ICE CRYSTALS ARE STILL INTACT AND THE FOOD IS STILL AT 40 DEGREES OR BELOW, it is safe to refreeze. Raw meats and poultry can be refrozen without substantially compromising quality. Prepared foods, vegetables and fruits can be refrozen safely; but quality may suffer. Juices can be refrozen without compromising quality.

IF THE FOOD THAWED BUT WAS HELD ABOVE 40 DEGREES FOR TWO HOURS OR LESS, it is NOT generally safe to refreeze. Raw meats and poultry should be cooked and either served immediately or frozen. Prepared foods and vegetables should be cooked or reheated thoroughly and served immediately. Fruits can be refrozen if they taste and smell acceptable. Juices can be refrozen without compromising quality. Well-wrapped hard cheeses, butter and margarine can be refrozen.

FOODS HELD ABOVE 40 DEGREES FOR OVER TWO HOURS should generally be discarded because bacteria that cause food poisoning can multiply to unsafe levels on perishables held under these conditions. Fruits and vegetables can be cooked and served immediately, as long as they are still firm and there is no evidence of mold, a yeasty smell or sliminess. Juices can be used provided they look and smell acceptable. Well-wrapped hard cheeses, butter and margarine can usually be refrozen, but should be discarded if mold or rancid odors develop.

How can I decide which refrigerated foods to keep after a power failure?

Fresh meats, poultry, lunch meats, hot dogs, eggs, milk and prepared foods should be discarded if they have been held above 40 degrees for over 2 hours because bacteria that cause food poisoning can multiply to unsafe levels on perishables held under these conditions.

Fresh fruits and vegetables are safe as long as they are still firm and there is no evidence of mold, a yeasty smell or sliminess. Juices, opened containers of vinegar and oil salad dressings, ketchup, pickles, jams and jellies, and well-wrapped hard cheeses are safe as long as there is no evidence of mold growth, and they look and smell acceptable. Well-wrapped butter and margarine can usually be kept as long as they do not melt, but should be discarded if mold or rancid odors develop.

When I arrived at our weekend home, I was greeted by an awful odor which I traced to the refrigerator. A neighbor informed me that there was a storm last week and the power was off for 72 hours. I've discarded everything that is even slightly perishable and scrubbed both the refrigerator and the freezer, but the odor persists. How can I get rid of it?

Try washing the refrigerator and freezer with a solution of baking soda and water, then place an open box or dish of baking soda in each for several weeks. If the odor persists, substitute several crushed charcoal briquets in an open container.

USDA's Meat and Poultry Hotline-- 1-(800) 535-4555- is a toll-free consumer service. The hotline's home economists can answer questions on the safe handling and storage of meat and poultry, and how to read product labels.

WHAT ARE WET BREWERS GRAINS?

By Products from the brewing food and other related industries represent a valuable source of nutrients Miracle Feeds markets these by products both in Canada and the United State

The livestock producer benefits through the Miracle Feeds custom tailored by product feeding program designed to enhance productivity

In the brewing of beer only the highest quality barley and other cereal grains are used Wet brewers grains is the portion of the grains that remain after brewing, the extraction of carbohydrates that take place in the brewing process They provide protein fat and unextracted carbohydrates as well as essential minerals

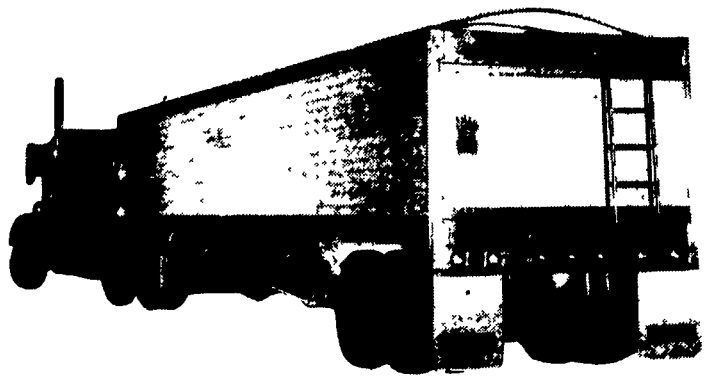
REDESIGNED 1989 TIMPTE GRAIN HOPPER



Got Grain? Then get the trailer that is Timpte tough... the Super Hopper. It's not only built to take it...it's also built to cut fuel costs. The Super Hopper is lightweight and aerodynamically designed to reduce wind drag. When there's grain to be hauled, Timpte does the haulin' best and pulls a lot easier than the rest.

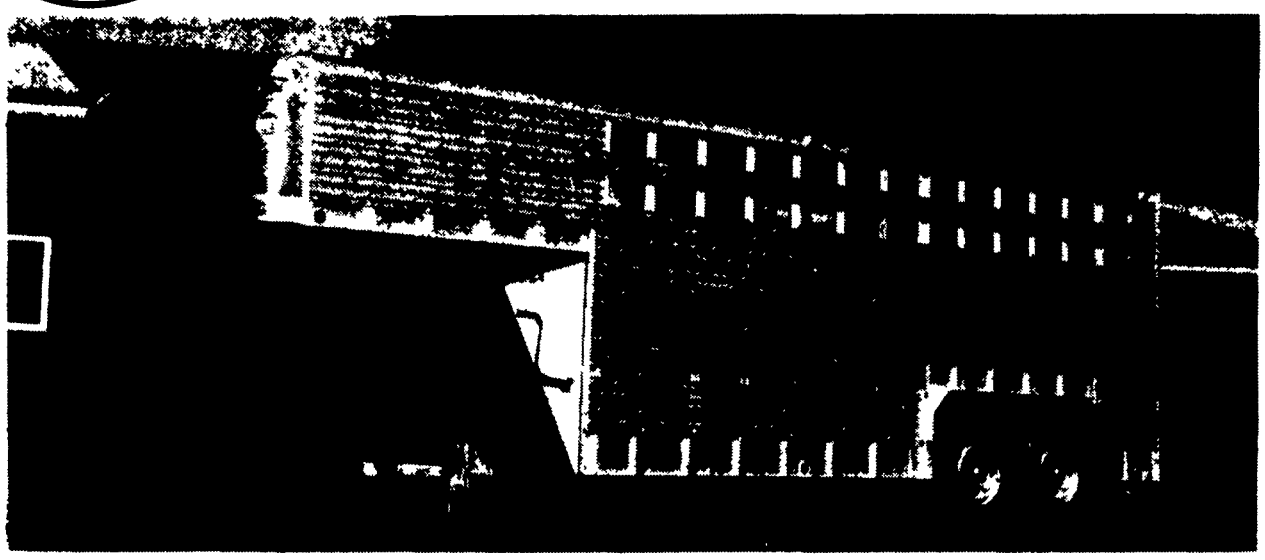
ALUMINUM GOOSENECK TRAILERS



20' Gooseneck Trailer

A versatile, lightweight, Eby aluminum stock trailer is built to provide years of maintenance free service. An Eby trailer is custom built to fit your individual hauling needs - No mass production! We use only quality components and strong alloy aluminum to manufacture what may be the last trailer you'll ever buy.

- LIGHTWEIGHT - Eby stock trailers are 25-35% lighter than comparable steel trailers. Less weight means better fuel mileage or increased payload.
- MAINTENANCE- Eby aluminum trailers won't rust. Welding and painting can cost you dollars in down time and repairs.
- DURABILITY - Eby trailers are built tough. Quality components and 6061 alloy aluminum provide the ruggedness required in a livestock trailer.

FAIR DAYS

Trappe Fair

Antique tractors, classic automobiles, the demonstration of reaping and threshing will be featured by the 16th Annual Grange Country Fair on Saturday, July 30th from 10:00 a.m. to dusk at the Collegeville Trappe Wather Authority Municipal Park, First Avenue Trappe. The rain date is August 6th.

Sponsored by Keystone Grange No. 2 the fair ceremonies begin at 11:00 a.m. with the flag raising by the Boy Scout Troop 113, the national anthem led by vocalist G. John Zvarick and the invocation by Father Francis Lennon, Pastor Emeritus of St. Eleanor's Roman Catholic Church, Collegeville. Albert Zvarick will introduce the honored guests which include government officials of the local boroughs, the county and the state. The Fair Queen will be announced and the Dairy Princess and Bee Queen will be presented.

The following schedule offers the activities of the day: 11:30 - threshing and grinding, Sam Kriebel; Livestock Division, Ed Brostek; Rabbits and Cavies, Peg Haily; 12:00 Dairy Show, Chester Raught; 12:30 Sheep Show, Gerald McMahon; 12:45 Field Demonstrations, John Mack, Jim Detwiler, Sam Kriebel; 1:30 Goat Show, Nancy Turmbauer; 2:00 Antique Car and Truck Parade, Richard Franks; 2:30 4-H Baby Beef Show, Charles Mentzer; 2:45 Antique Tractor Parade, Harold Detweiler; Gasoline Engines, Harold Stump; 3:30 Barnyard Olympics (children's games), Bonnie Moore; Bum Bah Bucketeers, Louise Conway; 4:00 Community Spirit Marching Band, Joe Axsmith; 5:00 Country Music, Charlie and His Friends, Charles Gabel; 5:30 Cider Press Demonstration, Felix Zvarick. The Petting Zoo supervised by Julie Wismer will open during the day. The steam calliope will be furnished by Dick Franks and Jane Maris will be at the keyboard.

A new feature will be the giving of prize money to the livestock division winners in two classes - those 13 years and under and those 14 years and over. The prizes range from $45 each in the dairy, sheep and beef classes to $15 for rabbits. This division is under the direction of Ed Brzotek of the Soil Conservation Service.

While various types of food will be available the main feature will be the pig roast from 4:00 to 7:30 with the cost of $6.50 for adults and $4 for children.

Helicopter rides through Hawk Helicopter Service will be available for viewing the farms and the encroaching residential and industrial developments.

Local crafts people will demonstrate their skills in leather, wood, pottery and other media with items for sale. A new feature will be 15 dealers with quality collectibles.

General Chairman is Albert Zvarick, Co-chairman is Charles Wismer, Jr. and Grange Master is Matthew Wismer.

Carroll County Seafood Festival

The Carroll County Farm Museum is bringing the ocean to you for a change. On Sunday, August 21, the Museum will host the First Annual Carroll County Seafood Festival from 12:00 until 6:00 p.m. Come and enjoy your favorite foods from the sea - crabs, shrimp, fish, clams and other delectibles prepared by many of the area's finest restaurants and clubs.

The price of admission is $3 for adults and $1.50 for children and seniors. The entrance fee includes guided tours of the historic 1800 mansion and demonstrations by craftspeople in the authentic outbuildings on the museum's 140 acres of lush lawns, beautifully landscaped gardens and stately shade trees.

The Festival also will feature many demonstrations and exhibits on lifestyles of the people of the Chesapcake, its estuaries and tributaries. Demonstrations will include boat building, knot tying, crab picking, and the Baltimore Aquarium's "Creature" exhibit which focuses on live horseshoe crabs, hermit crabs, sea stars, and sea urchins. Water-related crafts on display and available for purchase will include scrimshaw, duck carving, water painting, and much more. Continuous entertainment will include jazz, country, folk and sea chanteys.

The highlight of the Festival will, of course, be the food. Eateries and organizations that will be having booths include Captain's Quarters, McDaniel's, Champs, Yen Haddad, Friendly Farms, and many others. The bill of fare will feature such items as steamed crabs and soft-shell crabs, surf and turf kabobs, steamed shrimp, fried clams, turtle soup, catfish, crab cakes, and more.

Please note that no alcoholic beverages will be sold nor allowed on the premises during the Festival. Non-alcoholic beer will be available.

For more information about this new and exciting event, write to the Carroll County Farm Museum, 500 South Center Street, Westminster, Maryland 21157. Or, call (301) 848-7775 or 876-2667.

Franklin County Fair

Any single Franklin County girl between the ages of 16 and 20 may compete in the Fair Queen Contest at this year's Franklin County Fair. Participants must be sponsored by one of the clubs or organizations that are members of the Franklin County Fair Commission.

The contest will be held at the band stand on Monday, August 22 at 7:30 p.m. Contestants must give a two-minute speech on "What part of the Franklin County Fair especially interests me or is most meaningful to me."

Any girl wishing to participate, needing more information or needing a sponsor should contact Carole Weachter at 263-0041 in the evenings.

Deadline for entries, which may be found in the Franklin County Fair Premium List and Program" available at Franklin County banks and other county businesses, is August 6. Mail entries to Franklin County Fair, P.O. Box 49, Chamberbsurg, PA 17201.

Black Powder Shoot

MUMFORD, N.Y. — The tranquility of Genesee Country Village and Museum will be split by blasts of Civil War era cannon, muskets and carbines August 13 and 14 during the museum's annual Black Powder Shoot.

The arms, like those used in the Civil War, will shoot live ammunition and breakable targets each day, with points earned by each team for accuracy and consistency. More than 20 teams, all members of the North/South Skirmish Association, will compete in the shoot. The teams will travel from as far away as Ohio, Michigan and Virginia to participate.

The Black Powder Shoot competition is based on activities that took place on a Civil War skirmish line, with all participants wearing Civil War uniforms, both Union and Confederate. The competing units are based on units which actually saw service in the Civil War, including the 108th Regiment from Rochester, N.Y., which is hosting the event. The 108th Regiment was formed in 1862 with most of its members recruited from the towns and villages of Monroe County, N.Y.

Early each day, the units will form up on the museum's Great Meadow and march to the firing area. At the end of the competition, a trophy will be awarded to the unit who has the most authentic uniforms and military bearing.

On Saturday, August 13 carbine team matches will test the skill of the shooters as they fire at clay pigeons, dyed flour-filled three-inch pots and four-inch square wooden blocks. In the mid-afternoon, cannon competitions will be held with cannons shooting at hanging water-filled cans. When the cans are hit, they explode, giving spectacular evidence of a direct hit.

On Sunday, musket teams will compete on the firing line, and there will be a non-competitive cannon demonstration. Closing ceremonies wrap up the day at approximately 4:00 p.m.

The musket shooters will load their guns Civil War style, with the shooter reaching into his cartridge box, pulling out a round of ammunition, biting the cartridge wrapper open with his teeth and pouring the black powder into the musket muzzle. He will then use a ram to force the musket ball down the muzzle. The event is timed, so expertise at this maneuver is measured by the clock. The competitors are battling the clock as well as the other teams' ability. The event is timed at five minutes, but most teams are completed in two or three minutes.

Most of the action of the Black Powder Shoot will take place in the Upper Staging area of the museum, an area away from the historic village. This has been done because the concussion of the cannons and muskets could damage the old glass in the windows of many building in the village.

Visitors may witness the competitions at no additional charge over the regular museum admission of $8 for adults and $3.50 for children six through 14. A special two-day pass will be available on Saturday at the reduced price of $12.50 for adults and $5 for children. Children under six and museum members are admitted free. There is no seating in the Upper Staging Area and visitors are advised to bring folding chairs.

Genesee Country Village and Museum is open seven days a week in July and August from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Following Labor Day, the museum closes at 4 p.m. on weekdays and 5 p.m. on weekends.

The museum is located in Mumford, N.Y., between New York State Thruway exits 47 (Leroy) and 46 (Rochester). Maps and directions to the museum are available for the asking at each of the Thruway exits. The museum is also a 20-minute drive west of Avon Exit 10 of Interstate 390.

Parking at the museum is abundant and free. The Depot Cafeteria and the Victorian Refreshment Pavilion, plus additional food tents, will be in operation during the Black Powder Shoot. The museum also provides picnic tables free to visitors.

The cannon will roar at the Black Powder Shoot, to be held at Genesee Country Museum Aug. 13 and 14. Civil War era cannon, muskets and handguns will be loaded with live ammunition and shot at breakable targets during the two-day event.

Cecil County Fair

It's time for the 35th Annual Cecil County Fair. This year's fair will be held July 31 through August 6 at the fair grounds at Fair Hill, Md.

The rabbit and poultry shows will begin the week's activities. The animals will be entered and judged on Sunday. Between 1:00 and 5:00 p.m. Sunday all other exhibits will be accepted by various department chairpersons.

Last minute exhibits will be accepted on Monday morning between 9:00 and 11:00 a.m. Judging will be conducted between 1:00 and 5:00 p.m., after which the buildings will be open to the public.

The Republican Chicken Bar-B-Q again will be available between 4:00 and 7:00 p.m. The opening ceremonies followed by the crowning of the Cecil County Farm Queen will begin at 6:30 p.m. The main attraction on Monday will be the TNT and Redman State Sanctioned Tractor Pull. Modified, Pro-stock, 2-wheel drive trucks and 4-wheel drive trucks will be competing for cash prizes and trophies. Here is a high performance show with lots of power, power, power!

Beginning at 10:00 a.m. on Tuesday local farmers and area agri-businessmen will gather for Ag Progress Day. The feature of the day will be haying demonstrations. Interested persons can pick up free fair passes for this event at their area equipment dealers. The Farm Bureau Women's Committee will be serving lunch at the site. Tuesday evening's local tractor and truck pull promises lots of entertainment as all watch friends and neighbors join in the fun of pulling. Many classes feature brother against brother or occasionally husband against wife. Come on out and cheer your favorite on to victory.

Each day throughout the week will be performances by the Animals of Distinction. Here is good, wholesome family entertainment with nationally known dogs performing. Young and old alike will fall in love with these dogs and their costumes.

Don Gabriel and The Memories will be on stage for two different performances Wednesday evening. Featuring outstanding 50s music, this group is talented, presenting tasteful Rock'n Roll of the 50s era. Come dressed in your bobby socks, poodle skirts and white bucks, ready to enjoy a delightful evening of musical memories.

The ever-popular Demolition Derby will be returning again this year. Register early for participation in this event. Forms are available from fair President, Carl Stafford, 301-398-2756. Daytime activities on Thursday will include the Holstein Dairy Show, 4-H Dog Show and the 4-H Garden Tractor Contest. The main attraction on Thursday will be the country music show and the appearance at 7:00 and 9:00 p.m. of Michael Twitty, son of Conway Twitty. Mike is a refreshingly open, friendly, modest and garrulous young man. His musical range includes 50s rock, traditional and contemporary country, gospel and ballads. This is an evening you won't want to miss.

The Demolition Derby is back on Friday night for another night of heats in preparation for the finals on Saturday night at 8:00 p.m.

As the fair enters its closing day on Saturday, activities begin early with the Fun Run and 5K Run. Entry forms are available at the Cecil County extension office. Winners in the various classes will be receiving prizes. Including T-shirts and trophies. Put in your running shoes and join the run at 8:30 a.m. The Pretty Baby Contest promises to be another successful event on Saturday morning.

The action-packed Volleyball Tournament will be held at 2:00 p.m. Get your teams together and join the fun. Class A is for six-member teams and Class B for nine-member teams. There is no entry fee and a $50 prize will be awarded the winners in each class.

All in all the week will be packed full of fun, action, excitement and just plain family entertainment. There surely is something for everyone. Load up the family and come on out to the 35th Annual Cecil County Fair, August 1-6.

Tioga County Fair

For 21 years the Tioga County Fair has been constantly changing and improving. At the fair this year, held August 3 through 8, the number 1 priority is a fun-packed schedule offering lots of entertainment for folks of all ages to enjoy.

Back again for the third year running is the popular daily door prizes. Last year winners took home a quilt, a 15 gallon shop-vac, a circular saw and cordless screw driver, a set of Faberware cookware, $50 gift certificates for gas and $50 gift certificates for groceries.

To compliment the craft market will be a display of old-time crafts and demonstrations. Last year crafters were on hand to demonstrate the spinning of wool into yarn, making straw brooms, shoeing a horse and carving statues out of wood with a chain saw.

Know how to dip wax into candles or make soap? How about weave baskets or churn butter? Anyone who would like to participate by demonstrating an old-time craft at the Tioga County Fair should contact Scott Gitchell at the Tioga County Historical Society, 120 Main Street, Wellsboro, PA. 16901 or call 717/724-6116.

For individuals who wish to bring a flea, craft or farmers' market to the fair all week long can contact Guy Bravo, RD 5, Box 258, Wellsboro, PA. 16901 or call 717/724-2590.

An indoor craft show and demonstration will be held on Friday, August 5, from 10:00 a.m. until 7:00 p.m. This is the day the quilt offered as a door prize will be made. Space for crafters is available for rent and tables will be furnished upon request. There will be a $5 discount on any table that demonstrates a craft.

Reservation deadline for the indoor craft show is July 31. For more information or forms, contact Dora Tice at RD 1, Box 29, Mainesburg, PA. 16932 or call 717/549-2244.

Also all week long, the Tioga County Farm, Lumber and Mining Museum, sponsored by the Tioga County Historical Society will be open to visitors on the fairgrounds, free. See farming, lumbering and mining tools, plus antique household items that were all once used by Tioga County residents.

Entertaining crowds several times a day will be the Flying Wallenda Aerial Thrill Show.

The Farm Stock and Modified Tractor Pull is Wednesday night, August 3, at 7 p.m. Spectators will be charged $3 at the gate. Pullers can register at 6 p.m. Contact Kevin Houghtaling, RD 2, Box 241, Middlebury Center, PA. 16935 or call 717-376-2821 evenings.

Country singing sensation Helen Cornelius will perform Thursday, August 4, at 7:00 p.m. and again at 9:00 p.m. Don't miss this fantastic lady who was named "Best Female Vocalist" in 1978 by the Academy of Country Music. Tickets will be $7.50 at the door.

Mini-modified tractors and 4x4s will pull Friday night at 7:00 p.m. Gate price is $3. For more information, call Kevin Houghtaling.

But if the roar of engines and the taste of dust isn't appealing, how about the country sounds of the ever popular Dan McNett Band. Their show, by popular request, is from 8:30 p.m. until midnight and is only $4 per person.

Sample all kinds of goodies, from cheese to taste-tempting dishes on Ag. Promotion Day, Saturday, August 6. The event will take place from 10:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. with representatives from Pennsylvania commodity organizations such as the beef, dairy and maple industries.

Also on Saturday is the Horseshoe Tournament at 11:00 a.m. Anyone can compete. Just contact Fred Kennedy at 717/742-3807 for more information.

Evening entertainment Saturday begins with the Demolition Derby at 7:00 p.m. Then at 8:00 p.m. is the Disco Dance in the Youth Center Building until midnight.

Senior citizens will be honored with free admission Sunday, August 7, from 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. Church begins at 10:00 a.m., followed by the opening of exhibit buildings at 11:00 a.m. There's an Ox Roast at noon and a Grange Show free in the Youth Center Building at 3:00 p.m.

The Horse Pull is another afternoon attraction Sunday at 1:00 p.m. Tickets at the gate are $2. For more information, Call Don Greene at 717/724-7100.

Don't forget Gospel Night in the Youth Center Building. Dennis Bliss will sing selections from his two albums, in addition to some of the newer songs.

Car buffs can enjoy the antique and classic car show Sunday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Those with cars to display will have a good time, too. There is no entry fee and all participants can even enter the fair grounds free. Cars must be on the grounds by 9:00 a.m. and must not leave before 5:00 p.m. Ribbons will be awarded for the oldest car and the best appearance in each category. Contact Colleen Houghtaling at RD 2, Box 241, Middlebury Center, PA 16935 or call 717/376-2821 for more information.

Monday, August 8, opens with Discount Day with only $1 admission per carload from 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m.

A chicken barbecue will be held at noon with free entertainment in the Youth Center Building at 2:00 p.m.

The Canyon Squares will give a free squaredance demonstration at 7:00 p.m.; then the Chicago Knockers, an all-girl and wrestling troupe from the Windy City will delight all ages with their dancing, modeling and of course, mud wrestling. The Wellsboro Gazette's own reporter, Terry Miller, and advertising agent, Bob Miller, will team up for the celebrity match in which they'll learn a thing or two from the Knockers, no doubt. See it all for only $4.00.

Don't forget to enter fresh vegetables, canned goods, handcrafted items, photographs, plants, flowers, hay, grain and livestock in the judging competitions. Pick up a 1988 Tioga County Fair Premium Book available at many area businesses for rules and regulations.

Can't find a Premium Book? Call fair secretary Anne Clark at (717) 549-8176.

Mercer County Grange Fair

"Pennsylvania Agriculture—The Pride That Shows" is the 1988 theme for the 24th annual Mercer County Grange Fair, which will be held July 31 to August 6 at the Grange fairgrounds on Route 58. The fair will be open Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. with a vesper service conducted by the Good News Quartet. Participating in the service will be Lynn Gilley, Mel Kauffman, Alice Baker, Cliff Baker, and Carol Prestopine.

All activities are open to the public including entries of fresh and canned fruits and vegetables, eggs, hay, grain, floral exhibits, needlecrafts, art, photography, crafts, apiary and maple products, baked goods, hame and dairy, nuts, beef cattle, sheep, and rabbits. There will be a youth section for those 16 years and under in most of the above categories.

On Tuesday morning, August 2, judging will begin at 9:00 a.m. All entries wil be open to the public at 5:00 p.m. The pet parade, which is a big event for the kids, takes place at 5:30 p.m. There will be a new Junior Grange prince and princess elected at 6:30, and a pony pull at 7:00 p.m.

The Greenville Community Theatre will present "Magic Theatre" at the entertainment building at 8:00 p.m.

Table games will be held throughout the week. Lunches and dinners will be served Thursday through Saturday. Other refreshments will be available Tuesday through Saturday. At 7:00 p.m., Wednesday, August 3, a parade is scheduled. We encourage all Grange members, businesses, individuals, organizations, and bands to make this the best year ever. Judges will be available for all categories. For more information about the parade, call 412/662-3513.

On Thursday, sheep, beef and dairy cattle, and rabbits will be judged. At 6:00 p.m., a special baking contest for bread, cakes, pies, and candy will take place. There also will be a demonstration hour at this time. At 7:00 p.m. there will be a horse pull, frog and toad jump, and other games and competitions.

The weigh in time for the truck and tractor pull is 5:00 p.m. Friday. Two hours later there will be a variety show at the entertainment building. There is no admission fee for the show.

Saturday will begin with a fun horse show at 9:00 a.m. During the afternoon there will be family-oriented contests and a little tractor pull at 2:00 p.m. for children ages 2 to 10.

Pocono Mountain Slates Jamboree And Chili Cook-Off

BLAKESLEE (Monroe) — The Pocono Mountain Jamboree and Chili Cook-off is slated for Sunday, August 14, at Big Boulder Lake near Blakeslee. Proceeds will benefit the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, according to Ken Knize, general manager at Big Boulder Lake and Chili Cook-off chairman. Team entries are now being accepted.

Chili chefs will fire up their stoves at 10 a.m., with chili tasting beginning at 1:30 p.m. in the Chili Tent. The first prize winner will be awarded $500, a three-foot trophy, plus an opportunity to compete in the Chili Cook-off state championships, which could lead to a $35,000 grand prize in the world championship. The second place winner will be awarded $300 and a trophy, the third place winner will receive $200 and a trophy, and 4th through 20th place winners will receive beautifully engraved plaques.

"The main purpose of a chili cook-off is good people gathering to have a good time," Knize said. "Our goal is to make this Chili Cook-off the best in the East, while at the same time, generating funds that will benefit a very worthwhile cause."

A maximum of 40 teams may participate in this year's contest, which offers more than $1,200 in prizes and trophies. Each team, which will consist of one cook and up to three assistants, will be required to submit a $25 entry fee. All entry fees will be donated directly to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Contestants must be members of the International Chili Society, which requires a membership fee of $15 per team member. The Chili Cook-off will adhere to policies structured by the International Chili Society, which sanctions chili cook-offs throughout the United States and several foreign countries.

According to the rules, chefs may use a wide variety of ingredients for their chili, but are forbidden to use beans or spaghetti.

Other chili cook-off activities include a Shout and Holler Contest, the People's Choice Chili Award, and a cash prize for the best looking Chili Booth.

Music, dance, arts and crafts will also be main ingredients throughout the day, with live entertainment beginning at noon and continuing through 6:30 p.m. Feature bands include the Daisy Jug Band, the Keystone Band, East Side Dave and the Pine Ridge Mountain Boys, the Jiggers, the Holt Twins and the Oklahoma Dan Band. An old-time fiddler's contest is scheduled for mid-afternoon, hosted by special guest Randy Cramer, three-time state fiddler champion. Tony Talarico will serve as master of ceremonies and co-host for the day.

Lodging accommodations at Big Boulder Lake will be available, with special discounted rates for chili cooks and their teams, according to Knize. Big Boulder's nearby campground at Fernridge will also be available for both camping and recreational vehicles.

The Big Two Resorts, Big Boulder Lake along with its companion resort, Jack Frost Mountain, are located in the Pocono Mountains of Northeast Pennsylvania, near Exit 35 of Pennsylvania's Northeast Turnpike Extension or Exit 43 of Interstate 80.

Chili cook-offs have become a major fund raising event in the U.S. with the International Chili Society reporting hundreds of sanctioned cookoffs benefitting local and national non-profit and charitable organizations. Information and memberships are available by contacting the International Chili Society, P.O. Box 2966, Newport Beach, CA 92663.

For more information about the Pocono Mountain Jamboree and Chili Cook-off, call Cook-off Chairman Ken Knize at (717) 722-0101 or write to him at Big Boulder Lake, c/o Pocono Mountain Jamboree, Box 702, Blakeslee, PA 18610-0702.

Eastern States Exposition

The Eastern States Exposition has allocated a little more than $1.5 million for capital improvements to the 175-acre fairgrounds.

The expenditures are part of an on-going effort to keep the West Springfield, Mass., facility attractive and up-to-date for the one million plus fairgoers who annually attend the 12-day Big E. The grounds also serve as the home of many other events throughout the year, including the American Craft Council Craftfair, The Western Mass. Home Show, horse shows, car shows, camping exhibits and other attractions, all of which draw hundreds of thousands of visitors.

Behind the scenes improvements completed throughout the year not only enhance the grounds, they also contribute to the economic well-being of the area since the Exposition officials prefer to contract with local firms for various supplies and services.

Major renovations to the Brooks Adminstration Building were recently completed. Built in 1949 and last renovated in 1959, the building now sports a new portico which houses an elevator, balcony and storage area. The $1.1 million project ncludes handicape restrooms and entrance ramps The nterior was gutted and redesigned to effect more efficient use of office space

Other capital improvements include such projects as.

- Continued beautification of the grounds with additional landscaping in many areas including the south side of he Brooks Building

Additional drinking fountains nstalled n everal areas

- Doubling the number of handicap parking spacesd at Gate 9A.
- Relocating the Miller Bandshell directly in front of the Coliseum and purchasing additional bleachers to create a larger area for more people to sit and enjoy the shows.
- Additional bleachers and trash barrels, 50 picnic tables and umbrellas and 100 park benches were also obtained for fairgoers' comfort and convenience.
- A new gazebo-style information booth opposite the Massachusetts building to provide service for the public.
- Additional signs on major highways' directing travelers to The Big E, plus additional signs on the fairgrounds to guide visitors to the many special attractions and facilities available at fairtime.
- Continued upgrading of fire alarms and sprinklers throughout the grounds to ensure safety for all.
- General upgrading of all the buildings.
- On-going improvements to The Big E Coliseum including more new seats.
- Renovating restrooms in "C" Barn, a major horse complex.
- Installation of an emergency generator in the Better Living Center as a public safety precaution.
- Improvements to various areas of historic Storrowton Village.

Continued improvements have helped make the Big E what it is today — one of the most appealing among the top 10 fairs in the nation.

This year' Big E, 'New England', Great State Fair" is scheduled Sept. 14-25

Montgomery County Ag Fair

Sunday, August 21 has been set aside for the county 4-H activities. The day begins at 8:00 a.m with the 4-H horse show on the ballfield. This event will continue most of the day in anticipation of the nighttime events At 7:00 p.m. the 4-H parade will begin and follow a route around the airgrounds ending at Racing Park where the floats will be judged and the 1988 Montgomery County Agricultural Fair Queen will be crowned At 8:30 p.m. auction will be the 4-H cake auction There cakes that have been judged and awarded prizes in the 1988 Fair will be auctioned off This is a very exciting auction with the bids sometimes getting as high as $3,000 for a grand-prize winner Following the cake auction the 4-H'ers will end their day with special entertainment. A great day for our 4-H'ers who have worked all year on their projects for Maryland's Montgomery County Agricultural Fair

Farm Philosophy

By Newton Bair

Everybody's A Specialist

In every field of endeavor there are specialists. Those in the field of medicine like to have their patients "referred" to them by an ordinary doctor, a General Practitioner who knows something about everything but not all there is to know about anything.

For example, a GP may refer you to a neurologist to have your brain checked, or maybe an opthalmologist if there's something funny about your eyes that he doesn't understand. The opthalmologist, after giving you a vision-field test might send you back to the neurologist to find out if the nerves to your eyes are wired right. The eyes look O.K. to him, but the brain isn't getting the picture. The eyes are O.K., but he prescribes new glasses anyway.

Well now, the neurologist can't find anything wrong with the wiring, so he figures it must be your blood pressure or else your heart that's off-beat. So back you go to the cardiologist, who started you on the merry-go-round in the beginning. You have an EKG, a CAT scan, colonoscopy and a sigmoidoscopy, a liver biopsy and your pacemaker re-programmed. By this time you have forgotten why you went to the Doc in the first place! Anyway, the minor complaint you started with has now become a series of major issues, all of which will look great on your charts when you end up in the hospital. Thank heaven for the specialists!

Actually, it is imperative that there be specialists in almost every profession. Knowledge is piling up so fast that no one person can absorb it all. It's getting harder to find a farmer who isn't some kind of specialist. You can zero in on dairy, swine, poultry, or crop production. Crop producers are specialists in corn, soybeans, cantaloupes, artichokes or rudabagas, while swine projects are broken down into feeders, porkers, or breeders. Poultry is even more specialized as broilers, layers, or pullets. They all end up as "spent hens", but they enjoy their special status on their way to the dinner table.

Those of us who still like to putter around with a little of this-and-that on the farm and in the garden must make use of specialists. We call the County Agent, who can "scrutinize the inscrutable" and is omnipotent in the world of Know-how. Actually, the County Extension office is staffed by mini-specialists who are armed with books and manuals, and a computer hot-line to the real thing at the University.

It boils down to this. Everybody has to start their career as a specialist, if it's only washing dishes. If they are good at it and love it intensely, they may stay in the field and become an expert. Or they may sample other pathways of life and become fairly good at many things, but expert at home. A Jack-of-all-Trades is still handy to have around, but don't expect specialized expertise from one.

It is possible to specialize and become expert in more than one profession, but the ever growing mountain of knowledge makes total mastery more difficult. We salute and respect the expert skills of all specialists, and the only reason we make fun of them is to cover up our own shortcomings.

The specialist can help to simplify and define a very screwy and complex world. In short, they are the mechanics that make it possible to "un-screw the inscrutable".

Ziegler Receives Meat Science Award

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre) — John H. Ziegler, professor emeritus of food science at Penn State, received the Signal Service Award of the American Meat Science Association during the 41st Annual Reciprocal Meat Conference held at the University of Wyoming, Laramie. The conference is co-sponsored by the National Livestock and Meat Board and AMSA.

The Signal Service Award recognizes an AMSA member for devoted service and lasting contributions to the meat industry and the American Meat Science Association.

Dr. Ziegler has made significant contributions to the meat industry through teaching and advising students as well as participating in reasearch dealing with the evaluation of meat animal carcasses emanating from genetic, nutritional, and management processes.

Ziegler has taught more than 3,000 students and authored 130 scientific and popular papers dealing with meats and meat animal production over 30 years of teaching at Penn State. His primary professional interests include meat animal carcass evaluation, fat and lean metabolism and distribution, residue deposition and meat processing and marketing.

Ziegler was also instrumental in the planning and presentation of an annual Meat Packing and Processing seminar series which was developed into a regional seminar. In addition he is active in a number of professional and honorary organizations, Penn State food science committees and local volunteer and government agencies and committees.

Ziegler received his B.S. degree in 1950 and his M.S. in 1952 in animal husbandry from Penn State; his Ph.D. in animal industry was completed in 1965. He and his wife, Jane, have three sons.

USDA Authorizes Haying In 6 More Counties

HARRISBURG — The US Department of Agriculture has approved four more counties for emergency haying and grazing of 1988 conservation reserve and conservation use acreage. These counties are Chester, Greene, Delaware, Forest, Lancaster, and York.

Under provisions of this program, producers may request authority from the local county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office to permit other producers use of this acreage or to harvest and sell hay from this acreage. "The purpose of this relief is to allow an improved supply of livestock feed in severely affected areas of the state," said Don Unangst, state executive director of ASCS.

This brings to 62 the total number of counties approved to date.

Bedford Holstein Sale Has $2000 Top

BETH GRAY
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD — Twenty-one cows averaged $1255 and three calves averaged $307 in the Bedford County Quality Holstein Sale at the county fairgrounds here July 14.

Mowry Farms of Roaring Spring entered the highest bid of $2000 for four-year-old Hillmont Bell Polly, VG, consigned by Hillmont Farm's Jay and Kirk Hillegass of Berlin, Somerset County. Sired by Carlin-M Ivanhoe Bell and out of Hillmont Performer Perky, she had a three-year-old lactation of 21,650 lbs. of milk at 3.8 percent butterfat for 832 lbs. of butterfat. The sale topper is due to calve this month to Crescentmead Chief Stewart.

Nearly matching the high bid was an added entry from John Foster of Huntingdon, Globe-Run M Max Adela, that commanded $1900 from Keith Fisher of Claysburg. The three-year-old's last lactation totaled 14,772 lbs. of milk at 4.2 percent butterfat for 614 lbs. of butterfat. Out of Globe-Run Handsome Ada, a cow classified Excellent at 93 points, she was sired by Globe-Run Lar Y Mat Max. She carried an August expected calving to Hanoverhill Triple Crown.

A two-day-old heifer consigned by Singing Brook Farms of Imler paced the calf offering, selling for $325. She was sired by Whittier-Farms Ned Boy and out of the four-year-old Singing Brook Tony Gal who sold for $1450.

Bedford County Holstein Club President Russell Wyles noted that the sale offering was down by half from usual. "It's the dry weather," he surmised. "People are afraid of whether they're going to have feed for these cows" and thus were reluctant to put them on the market. "Prices are going real good for what the weather is," Wyles added.

V. Art Kling of Landisburg was auctioneer while Oren C. Bender of Accident, Md., was in charge of pedigrees. The County Holstein Club sponsored the sale.

Hillmont Belly Polly, a four-year-old from Hillmont Farms, Berlin, Somerset County, led the sale offering of the Bedford County Holstein Club, commanding $2000.

Order No. 4 Base Milk Price $11.79 For June

ALEXANDRIA, VA — Middle Atlantic Order Market Administrator Joseph D. Shine today announced a June 1988 base milk price of $11.79 per hundredweight and an excess milk price of $10.15. The weighted average June price was $11.75 and the butterfat differential for the month was 15.4 cents. The base milk price was down 3 cents from May and was 68 cents lower than last June. The weighted average price was unchanged from May and was 69 cents lower than a year earlier. The gross value of June producer milk was $59.4 million, compared to $64.3 million a year ago.

Mr. Shine said that producer receipts totaled 507.0 million pounds during June. The average daily delivery of 2,700 pounds per producer increased 27 pounds or 1.0 percent from last June. Class I producer milk totaled 239.9 million pounds and accounted for 47.32 percent of total producer milk receipts during the month, compared with 47.14 percent in June 1987. Base milk accounted for 91.86 percent of total producer milk receipts in June compared with 92.34 percent last year. The average butterfat test of producer milk was 3.61 percent, up from 3.52 percent last June.

Middle Atlantic Order pool handlers reported Class I in-area milk sales of 197.8 million pounds during June, a decrease of 1.0 percent from a year earlier after adjustment to eliminate variation due to calendar composition.

PA Crime Stoppers

Pennsylvania Crime Stoppers is offering a cash reward UP TO $1,000.00 for information leading to the arrest of Lori Anne Stafford. If you know this person and/or where she is presently located, you are urged to call Pennsylvania Crime Stoppers TOLL-FREE at 1-800-4PA-TIPS.

Lori Anne Stafford is wanted by the Greensburg City Police Department in Westmoreland County, and the Westmoreland County Detectives Office. They have charged her with committing 36 counts of theft, and 33 counts of unlawful use of computer. She is also charged by the F.B.I. with unlawlful flight to avoid prosecution. These charges stem from incidents which occurred between October 8, 1987 and October 23, 1987. It is alleged Stafford deposited a stolen $16,000.00 check into her account in a Greensburg area bank by using her automatic teller machine card. She also deposited a Pennsylvania Department of Health food voucher by the same method, indicating on the teller machine that it was a check for $4,500.00. She then made several large personal withdrawals and also used her A.T.M. card to make numerous other withdrawals. The total loss to various banks as a result of this unlawful activity was $17,130.00. Warrants for her arrest were obtained in February 1988, however, authorities have been unsuccessful in their attempts to locate and apprehend her.

Stafford is described as a white female, age 27, with brown hair and blue eyes. She is 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighs 185 pounds. She was last seen in the company of her husband Paul and two female children, approximate ages being 6 months and 18 months. Investigators have learned they have relatives or associates in the York and

Lori Anne Stafford

Lancaster county area. Stafford was last seen driving a 1977 Chevrolet Station Wagon with Pennsylvania registration plate number RRL997. Her last known address was 128 Clark Street, Saltsburg, Pa.

Dickson Retires After 35 Years

BALTIMORE — The Farm Credit Bank of Baltimore, the mid-Atlantic region's premier agricultural lender, announces the retirement of Senior Vice President, C.F. Dickson.

A 35 year veteran, Dickson held several positions during his tenure. He worked for the Farm Credit Administration, the Production Credit Association, U.S.D.A, the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Baltimore, and the Baltimore Bank for Cooperatives, all affiliates of the Farm Credit System. He was a member of the Executive Committee and Senior Vice President, Audit and Review at the time of his retirement.

He was best known for his skills as an appraiser and an effective mediator in distressed credit situations. He consistently displayed sound judgement in these areas of expertise, and was the recipient in 1981, of the Banks' prestigious Presidents Award.

A native of West Virginia, Dickson has dedicated his life to helping the American farmer. He and his wife Bess currently reside in Timonium, Maryland.

The Farm Credit Bank of Baltimore serves over 53,000 borrowers in Maryland, Virginia, Delaware, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

Guernsey Association Relocates

COLUMBUS, OH — In 1983, the American Guernsey Association (AGA) moved from Peterborough, New Hampshire, to Columbus, Ohio. Since then, the AGA has shared office space and various services with the American Jersey Cattle Club (AJCC). After August 1, 1988, the AGA will again have a new address.

The new office will be located in Reynoldsburg, a suburb just east of Columbus. The AGA's new address after August 1 will be 7614 Slate Ridge Boulevard, P.O. Box 666, Reynoldsburg, Ohio 43068-0666. The Association will keep its current phone number of (614) 864-2409.

In order for both the AGA and the AJCC to be financially responsible to each membership, the two offices will now be located in different buildings. However, the joint efforts will continue. Combined genetic recovery programs, occasional shared field work, a joint type-trait appraisal program, joint blood-typing efforts, cooperation on milk marketing efforts and continuation of the data processing agreement will all be maintained.

PA Crime Stoppers

Pennsylvania Crime Stoppers is offering a cash reward UP TO $1,000.00 for information leading to the arrest of Lori Anne Stafford. If you know this person and/or where she is presently located, you are urged to call Pennsylvania Crime Stoppers TOLL-FREE at 1-800-4PA-TIPS.

Lori Anne Stafford is wanted by the Greensburg City Police Department in Westmoreland County, and the Westmoreland County Detectives Office. They have charged her with committing 36 counts of theft, and 33 counts of unlawful use of computer. She is also charged by the F.B.I. with unlawlful flight to avoid prosecution. These charges stem from incidents which occurred between October 8, 1987 and October 23, 1987. It is alleged Stafford deposited a stolen $16,000.00 check into her account in a Greensburg area bank by using her automatic teller machine card. She also deposited a Pennsylvania Department of Health food voucher by the same method, indicating on the teller machine that it was a check for $4,500.00. She then made several large personal withdrawals and also used her A.T.M. card to make numerous other withdrawals. The total loss to various banks as a result of this unlawful activity was $17,130.00. Warrants for her arrest were obtained in February 1988, however, authorities have been unsuccessful in their attempts to locate and apprehend her.

Stafford is described as a white female, age 27, with brown hair and blue eyes. She is 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighs 185 pounds. She was last seen in the company of her husband Paul and two female children, approximate ages being 6 months and 18 months. Investigators have learned they have relatives or associates in the York and

Lancaster county area. Stafford was last seen driving a 1977 Chevrolet Station Wagon with Pennsylvania registration plate number RRL997. Her last known address was 128 Clark Street, Saltsburg, Pa.

Not only does Pennsylvania Crime Stoppers pay rewards for information leading to the arrest of its "Fugitives Of The Week", cash rewards UP TO $1,000 will also be paid for information resulting in arrests of persons involved in ANY serious crimes or the capture of ANY OTHER wanted persons. If you have information on this "Fugitive Of The Week", ANY OTHER SERIOUS CRIME, or WANTED PERSON, call Pennsylvania Crime Stoppers TOLL-FREE at 1-800-4PA-TIPS. Callers do not have to give their names.

Dickson Retires After 35 Years

BALTIMORE — The Farm Credit Bank of Baltimore, the mid-Atlantic region's premier agricultural lender, announces the retirement of Senior Vice President, C.F. Dickson.

A 35 year veteran, Dickson held several positions during his tenure. He worked for the Farm Credit Administration, the Production Credit Association, U.S.D.A, the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Baltimore, and the Baltimore Bank for Cooperatives, all affiliates of the Farm Credit System. He was a member of the Executive Committee and Senior Vice President, Audit and Review at the time of his retirement.

He was best known for his skills as an appraiser and an effective mediator in distressed credit situations. He consistently displayed sound judgement in these areas of expertise, and was the recipient in 1981, of the Banks' prestigious Presidents Award.

A native of West Virginia, Dickson has dedicated his life to helping the American farmer. He and his wife Bess currently reside in Timonium, Maryland.

Guernsey Association Relocates

COLUMBUS, OH — In 1983, the American Guernsey Association (AGA) moved from Peterborough, New Hampshire, to Columbus, Ohio. Since then, the AGA has shared office space and various services with the American Jersey Cattle Club (AJCC). After August 1, 1988, the AGA will again have a new address.

The new office will be located in Reynoldsburg, a suburb just east of Columbus. The AGA's new address after August 1 will be 7614 Slate Ridge Boulevard, P.O. Box 666, Reynoldsburg, Ohio 43068-0666. The Association will keep its current phone number of (614) 864-2409.

In order for both the AGA and the AJCC to be financially responsible to each membership, the two offices will now be located in different buildings. However, the joint efforts will continue. Combined genetic recovery programs, occasional shared field work, a joint type-trait appraisal program, joint blood-typing efforts, cooperation on milk marketing efforts and continuation of the data processing agreement will all be maintained.

1st LAW Of Hoober Reconditioned Axial-Flow Combines

SEVEN (7) YEARS OLD IS NOT EQUAL TO (≠) WORN OUT

Because of the simple design of the CASE IH Axial Flow Combines, they can be reconditioned by Hoober's expert combine mechanics to like new condition, so they will provide 2nd and 3rd owners years of satisfactory and profitable operation.

2nd LAW Of Hoober Reconditioned Axial-Flow Combines

2500+HOURS PLUS (+) HOOBER RECONDITIONING EQUALS (=) YEARS OF DEPENDABLE SERVICE.

2500+ hours on a conventional combine usually means it will be too much trouble to be dependable. Axial-Flow Combines with 2500+ hours reconditioned by Hoober's have proven to run for years when bought by farmers in Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and New York.

3rd Law Of Hoober Reconditioned Axial-Flow Combines

A CASE-IH AXIAL-FLOW COMBINE SERVICED BY EXPERT HOOBER COMBINE MECHANICS EQUALS (=) LITTLE OR NO DOWN TIME DURING HARVEST.

When Hoober's expert combine mechanics service Axial-Flow Combines in the off-season, they run trouble-free through the season.

TORQUE AMPLIFIERS & CLUTCHES

Over the past 8 years, we have sold thousands of T.A.'s to satisfied customers across the U.S. Some of our best customers are I.H. Dealers.

We do complete job or center housing while you wait or will sell you the parts.

Our prices on T.A.'s with the Dana Sprag, is still $595.00 with a 2 year warranty.

We also have units and parts available to rebuild old style T.A.'s, including Ramp & carrier sets for $300.00

Clutches, Pressure Plates
PTO Drives & Water Pumps

We have clutches available for most all IH tractors; including many heavier than original. We also have clutches for many other brands.

- Compare Our Prices -

All clutches & T.A.'s will ship U.P.S. and are sold on an exchange basis. Core charges Apply.

Now Is The Time To GUNITE The Interior Of Your Silo

The SOLLENBERGER SILOS "BIG JIM SYSTEM"

The Big Jim TOP UNLOAD, BOTTOM DISCHARGE silage system lets you enjoy bottom delivery without the high cost. The feed drops by gravity down a hole formed in the center of the silage. So you never have to climb a silo to change doors, you don't have to raise the unloader to fill, and you will have a clean chute because the silage or haylage doesn't drop down the chute.

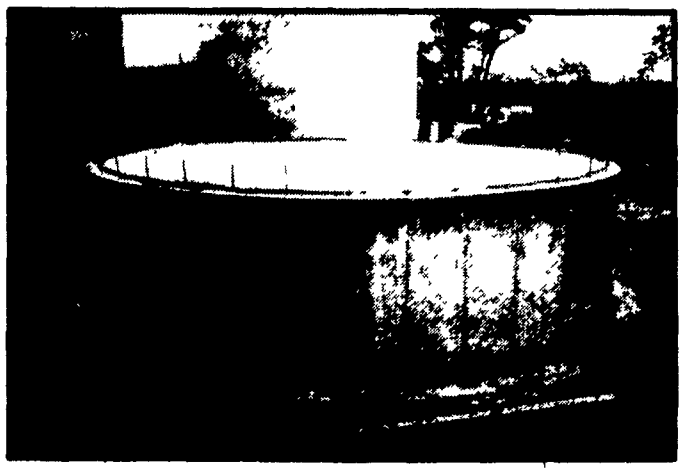
The simple design eliminates belts, pulleys, and adjustments. Since there's no need for an impeller, the full horsepower can be used more efficiently for big volume, fast feeding.

The Big Jim System is now 30 years old, and the many improvements over the years have made it a system with very low maintenance costs and long life.

Sollenberger Silos Corp. is now 80 years old, and our recent improvements on the Big Jim silo make the "Sollenberger Silos Big Jim System" something you've just got to see.

We will invite you to attend a field day at a couple of farms with the Big Jim silos; but until details are complete, please study the pictures, ask us for some free literature, and ask for names of farmers who have taken advantage of this "innovation in silage storage and feeding."

Now, more than ever, you need to store your precious feed in a poured concrete silo! The light colored, solid 6" concrete wall reflects the suns rays and practically eliminates heat damage. Some structures magnify the heat so that your stored feed, especially the protein, is severely affected.



Big Jim silo base with concrete floor, 5' off the ground with easy access tunnel. The silo is then built on the base.

OUR NEW POWER PACK™ UNLOADER LOOKS ABOUT LIKE ANY OTHER SURFACE DRIVE UNLOADER.
BUT LOOKS ARE DECEIVING! HERE'S WHY:

- Longer Wear Acid and abrasion resistant stain less steel impeller paddles will last much longer than low-carbon steel paddles
- More capacity New 20 forward pitched roughage auger flighting design assures greater capacity and less wear
- More convenience Easier to raise for refilling You don't have to drag Power Pack drive wheels into its raise position you roll them easily
- Attention to detail From chipper wheels to auger knives we made everything better And we added remote start stop control as standard equipment

So take a close look at Power Pack It's a lot better in a lot of ways!

GRAIN PROGRAM
Master Mix Protek and Hoke Mills, Inc. Flaked Feed Mix
Topdress Master Mix Protek 1890's

"We started on the Protek concentrate program when it first came out. In September of 1985, our R H.A. was 20,615 lbs. milk and 760 lbs. fat By September of 1986, we were up to 22,500 lbs. milk and 792 lbs. fat."

"Although we felt we had good breeding, we couldn't get enough pounds of the flaked-pelleted feed into the cows to support any more milk. That's when we started on the Topdress 1890 program. We were able to actually reduce the pounds of feed we fed each cow per day, but still increased in milk. We started on the Master Mix Topdress 1890 program in October of 1986. By September of 1987 our R.H.A. was up to 23,829 lbs. milk and 827 lbs. fat. And finally, in January of 1988, our R.H.A. broke the 24,000 lbs. mark and over 860 lbs. fat.!"

"It's important to concentrate on good management and good breeding, but you need a feeding program that's going to allow your cows to milk to their fullest potential. We feel the Master Mix Protek and 1890 program does just that."

Topdress Master Mix Protek 1890's

"Two years ago we were on another local flaked feed and switched to a flaked feed from Sensenig's made with Master Mix Protek. Before feeding Master Mix Protek, I never had a 60 lb. average. Now, for the past 5 months the cows have been averaging over 60 lbs. milk per cow per day, and the butterfat percent has stayed the same. Breeding is going well and the cows freshen in good condition."

"I'm feeding some Sweet Bulk N' Flakes and have cut back a little on hay. The cows really like the Sweet Bulk N' Flakes. I don't like to be without it!"

½ Sensenig's Flaked Feed made with Master Mix Protek

"I'll tell you how it is. While I was on a local mill's flaked feed other salesmen would try to sell me their feed They told me not to go on Master Mix Protek because the Master Mix Protek program would increase milk but lower my fat Well, I am now on the Master Mix Protek program and my milk is up but fat is up also. I'm running a better fat test than I ever have. I have a 3.9-4.0% test. The highest test I ever had before, even with my lower milk production was 3.6-3.7%.

"High milk production on the Master Mix Protex program sure didn't hurt my breeding either. Breeding is good."

"We started on the Master Mix Protek program in 1984 when it first came out. We are very pleased with the results Our R.H.A. is 19,566 lbs. milk and 744 lbs. fat. We are especially pleased with the fat test and for the past 7 months we have been at or over 60 lbs. of milk per cow per day."

"The Topdress Master Mix Protek 1890's really help the cows get a better peak We used the topdress roasted beans, but the cows go for the 1890's."

GRAIN PROGRAM
½ Master Mix Protek and cob chop mix
Topdress Master Mix Protek 1890's

"We first started with Master Mix Protek in December of 1986 when we began feeding the 1890 high energy topdress pellet By February of 1987 we were also on the Master Mix Protek concentrate. When we started the Master Mix Protek program our herd was at 18,519 lbs of milk and 658 lbs. fat. By October 1987, our RHA was up to 20,359 lbs. milk and 711 lbs. fat. Our cows have been averaging over 65 lbs. of milk for the last 6 months, even though our Days In Milk is up to 157 days "

"I have a lot of confidence in the topdress 1890's We were topdressing a roasted bean mix, but the cows really jumped when we went to the 1890's. We tried going back to the bean mix, but the cows dropped in production. On the 1890's the cows really hold their lactation persistency. It is also important to get late lactation cows in good condition for their next lactation. The 1890's help keep the cows in good condition and make re-breeding easier."

"I'm feeding a little less hay and feeding Sweet Bulk N'Flakes. I would hate to be without them, as the cows really wait for them!"

Farrowing Crate Designs

Fifty years ago farrowing crates were unheard of. We farrowed sows in conventional pens, or outside on pasture. As outdoor farrowing lost popularity in favor of "confinement" systems, producers continued to look for ideas to minimize labor and save pigs. One of those ideas, the farrowing crate, forever changed the concept of farrowing house management.

CONVENTIONAL CRATES As most producers know, the early farrowing crates were wooden or steel stalls, usually 2 feet X 7 feet, bolted to the floor. Caring for the sow and pigs was easier in crates. But more importantly, crates reduced crushing losses -- which are a constant challenge in conventional pens.

The next major change came when producers bolted the crate to a slotted surface and raised all the hardware a foot or two off the floor. With this modification, a lot of nice things happened. First because of the slotted surface, pigs stayed drier and cleaner. That makes it harder for diarrhea problems to get a foothold. And because the pigs lie a foot above the floor, they're also a foot above the drafts.

At about the same time we were making the switch to raised crates, many producers began to blend some of the "European" ideas into the crates -- like bending bottom rails of the crate away from the sow. Rails with a "bow" give the sow a little more area when she's lying down and give the pigs a lot more space to nurse, especially when mom weighs 500 pounds. A slight modification of the bowed rail is a row of "fingers" that also project out from the sow.

Another supposedly European design uses farrowing crates narrower than the standard 24 inches. The goal of using a narrow (20 inch) crate is to keep the sow from "coming down like a ton of bricks" when she lies down, which in turn should reduce crushing losses.

Still another modification of the farrowing crate is to shorten it by 12 inches to an overall length of 6 feet. Other than space savings, I'm not sure what the intended advantage is of short crates.

Stanley Curtis at the University of Illinois recently completed an evaluation of various designs of farrowing crates. Here's what he found:

1. Wide crates increased stillborns (.2/litter) over narrow crates.
2. Wide crates tended to increase crushing.
3. Long crates increased stillborns by .2 per litter.
4. In the straight crate, productivity is affected by height of the lower bar. In this study, the 10-inch height seemed the best.
5. Pig survival rate was not affected by crate design.

Knee Lesions-a	Bottom Rail Day 7	Day 14	21-Day Pig Wt.
Fingered	1.6	1.9	14.1
Bowed	1.6	2.1	13 4
Straight 8" Hgt.	1.8	2.2	13.2
Straight 10" Hgt.	1.4	1.7	13.9

a0= no lesions, 3=severe lesions.

TURN-AROUND CRATES

In a separate study, Curtis and his co-workers looked at a completely different design -- a turn-around crate. At one end, the crate widens to 44 or 48 inches and at the other end, it tapers to a point. The center section is either 22 or 24 inches wide. So sows can turn with a minimum of effort.

* Feed and water at the wide end.
* Feed and water at the narrow end.
* Feed at the wide end, water at the narrow end.
* Water at the wide end, feed at the narrow end.

What did they learn? Given the chance, gilts turn around a lot -- almost 12 times a day on the average. Gilts in this study turned just as often when feed and water were both on the same end. So the study proves that pigs like to turn. Unfortunately, performance was not measured.

HILL-SIDE PENS

For those that think the farrowing crate is here to stay, be advised that many producers are finding some good things with the "hill-side" pen. The hill-side pen, overall, is 6 X 6 or 6 X 7. That sounds normal enough, except that it slopes 8 to 12 inches from one end to the other. On the lower end, an 18 inch creep area extends across the entire width of the pen.

As the theory goes, newborn pigs will slide into the creep, dry off, and return to sow to nurse when they have a little more vigor, and are in less danger from crushing. So far, the theory seems to be holding water. Studies at VPI and Texas Tech both indicate that sow productivity is at least as good as conventional crates. Compared to flat pens, crushing losses are less with the hillside pen. Sows lie with their head up or down, but the udder almost always faces the creep area. The bottom line is that if you're not crazy about farrowing crates, the hillside pen would be preferred over a conventional pen.

Some tips on construction. Use a totally slotted floor. If you choose woven wire, or plastic coated woven wire, mount the wire

National Junior Charolais Group Elected

MANHATTAN, KS. — Officers and directors for the American-International Junior Charolais Association (AIJCA) were elected at the group's 19th Junior National Leadership Conference held June 20-24 at Kansas State University.

Todd Williams of Girard, Kan., will be the 1988-89 president with Howard Hecht of Paynesville, Minn., serving as vice president. Rounding out the national junior executive committee are Sharla Adams of Madisonville, Texas, as secretary and Clifford Mitchell of Koshkonong, Mo., as treasurer.

Juniors elected or appointed to the 10-member board of directors were Waylon "Bub" Miller of Dallas, Texas; Andrea Clemons of Sparta, Tenn.; Meghan Casey of Fort Worth, Texas; Brian Cwach of Yankton, S.D.; Jamie Eggleston of Wessington, S.D.; Mark Hecht of Paynesville, Minn.; David Naser of Washington, Pa.; Joyce Downey of Hope, Ind.; Paul Miller of Spring Grove, Pa.; and Quatro Brooks of Alvarado, Texas.

These are the new officers for the American International Junior Charolais Association. They were elected at the groups 19th Junior National Leadership Conference.

The four officers, along with the board of directors, will be responsible for planning and carrying out the activities of the 700-member youth organization.

Pennsylvania Angus Breeders Show Results

CENTRE HALL (Centre) — Indian Creek Farm of Stahlstown, Pa., walked away with the Clifford Allen Teets Memorial Award at the Pennsylvania Angus Breeders Show, which was held here on July 7 through 9. Indian Creek Farm showed the grand champion bull, Manhattan of Indian Creek, a 4-5-87 bull sired by Broadway out of R.J. Julie 1975. This bull also was named the junior champion bull.

Indian Creek Farm was top in the get-of-sire class as well with offspring out of Broadway.

Pennsylvania Hog, Pig Inventory Up 8%

HARRISBURG — Inventory of all hog and pigs in the United States on June 1 is estimated at 56.2 million head, according to the Pennsylvania Agricultural Statistics Service.

The inventory is 8 percent above a year ago and 15 percent above June 1, 1986. It represents the highest June 1 inventory since 1983, PASS reported.

Breeding inventory at 7.53 million head is 7 percent above 1987 and 17 percent more than two years ago. Market hog inventory, at 48.7 million head, is 8 percent above a year ago and 15 percent higher than two years ago.

The December 1987-May 1988 national pig crop was 46.6 million head, up 8 percent from last year and 15 percent above two years ago. Sows farrowed during the six-month period at 6.0 million were 8 percent more than the previous year and 14 percent more than two years ago.

U.S. hog producers intend to farrow 6.2 million sows during June-November, an increase of 7 percent from the same period in 1987 and 14 percent more than two years ago.

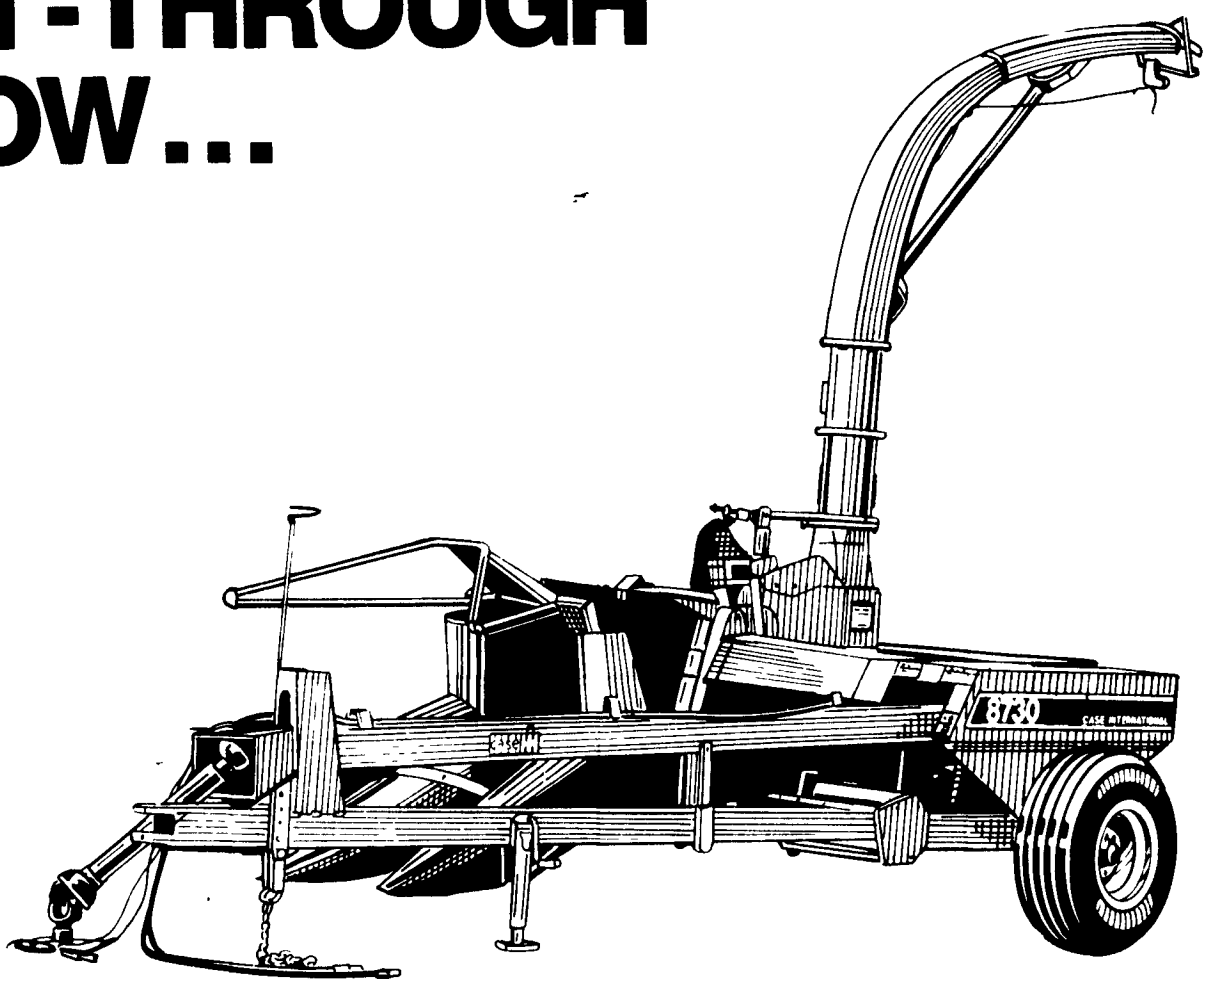
TAKE ADVANTAGE OF STRAIGHT-THROUGH CROP FLOW...

With Case IH 8700 Series Forage Harvesters



Whatever your tractor size or forage crop, you'll find a Case IH Forage Harvester to meet your needs. Unlike many similar units, the 8700 Series straight-through crop flow design puts more horsepower into cutting...less into crop handling. A highly efficient eight-knife cutting cylinder also provides more output on less fuel by using a scissor action that eliminates bunching and carryover

Choose from three models

- 8710 Forage Harvester. For tractors of 60 to 115-PTO horsepower. Has many of the features found on the two larger units.
- 8720 Forage Harvester. For use with tractors ranging from 60 to 175-PTO horsepower Can handle slightly heavier crops, faster
- 8730 Forage Harvester. This top-of-the-line unit is designed for tractors with 90 to 250 horsepower for high-production operations

- 72 and 84-inch pickup
- Seven-inch direct cut
- Two-row narrow crop
- Two-row wide crop

so the rectangular openings run across rather than up and down. That gives the sow more traction. Attach fingers to the bottom rail of the creep area and extend them to or close to the floor. (Texas Tech used 4 fingers, spaced evenly across the width of the creep.)

SUMMARY

It's tough to show much difference in sow performance in different types of crates. With the limited data available, the "fingered" crate looks good. So does the narrow crate. But I would estimate that more producers in this state have bowed crates that are 24 inches wide, than those that have narrow or fingered crates. And to my knowledge, the wide bowed crates are not creating any problems.

For producers that prefer pens over crates, the hill-side pen deserves a hard look.

Pork Producers Launch Effort To Pass Referendum

Des Moines, IA — The official launch of a united effort by the nation's pork producers to pass the upcoming pork referendum took place during the recent 1988 World Pork Expo in Des Moines. A solid grass roots venture to encourage high voter turnout at the polls on September 7-8 is quickly taking shape. Passage of the pork industry referendum would guarantee continuation of the 100 percent Checkoff which makes possible promotion and research programs of benefit to America's pork producers.

Virgil Rosendale, a pork producer from Augusta, Illinois, is president of the National Pork Board which has the responsibility for collecting and disbursing checkoff funds. Rosendale told a news conference at World Pork Expo, "America's pork producers are unified as never before. I think most producers realize that it takes all of us working together to carry out effective programs."

Approximately 850 local referendum committees are being formed through the 45 member state associations which are affiliated with the National Pork Producers Council. Local leaders representing all segments of the pork industry including producers, Pork Council Women, market managers, packers, agribusinesses, extension and VoAg instructors will be involved in the referendum effort.

During initial development of the 100% Checkoff concept in 1985, a task force made up of a geographical cross-section of the nation's pork producers was established to recommend provisions of the Pork Act itself. That same producer task force has been working for months now, putting together plans for the referendum campaign.

John Hardin, Jr., a pork producer from Danville, Indiana, is cochairman of the national 100 percent Producer Task Force. "One of the main reasons for having a referendum after a checkoff is in effect for a period of time is to provide real evidence to producers that the dollars they put into the program are working," Hardin told the Expo news conference. "The success of The Other White Meat® campaign and introduction of America's Cut™ are pretty powerful evidence that the 100 percent checkoff is providing producers outstanding dividends in the form of increased consumer demand," Hardin said.

Karl Johnson, a pork producer from Mankato, Minnesota, is the other cochairman of the producer task force planning referendum strategy. "Personal producer involvement in the referendum campaign is important," Johnson said. "The best way to encourage voting is personal one-on-one contact with neighbors - producers who believe in the checkoff talking to their fellow producers," he added.

Independent research conducted by the National Pork Producers Council and others indicates that approximately 76 percent of the nation's pork producers approve the checkoff and its programs. "But that doesn't mean that 76 percent will have the motivation to go to their local Extension Office and actually vote September 7 or 8, or even request an absentee ballot," Hardin said.

"The beef people did an outstanding job of turning out a supportive vote," Johnson said. "It's going to take a great deal of work to match their record of 79 percent approval, but we know pork producers can do it."

A simple majority of those casting a vote in the referendum is required for passage. There is no age limit, and anyone who has raised hogs or pigs for sale in their name since the start of the 100 percent checkoff on November 1, 1986, is eligible to vote in the September 7-8 referendum.

As the referendum campaign gets underway there is strong evidence that for the first time in nearly a decade the demand for pork is increasing. Veteran agriculture economic analyst Glenn Grimes of the University of Missouri reports demand increased 2-3 percent in the first four months of 1988. It was up 5 percent last year, and that, Grimes told an Expo news conference, "put $6 or more per head in producers' pockets last year."

NPPC President Hankes says "$6 is a pretty fantastic return on a 31 cent per animal investment." Hankes says, "The real winner in the 100% checkoff is the individual producer, because, with a relatively small investment, the producer can reap big benefits."

Hankes is convinced that the documented return on producer investment that is now being shown to America's pork producers, will translate into a positive vote for continuation of the checkoff at the pork referendum September 7 and 8.

FIRST COW

In 1611, nine years before the Pilgrims arrived at Plymouth Rock, the first dairy cattle were brought to Jamestown. A census made in the Virginia colony in 1625 recorded 364 cows.

AGING CHEESE

The flavor of Cheddar cheese is determined by the aging process which involves storage under controlled temperature and moisture. Cheese that has a mild flavor is 30 to 90 days old, medium flavor is four to nine months old, and sharp flavor is more than nine months old.

Mohr Named Associate Director Of York Seedway Store

HALL, N.Y. — Frederick S. Mohr Jr. of Reading, PA has been appointed to a new position by Seedway Inc. in their York, PA sales division. Mr. Mohr will serve as associate sales and marketing director beginning in mid July. The position was created to enable Seedway to serve customers in the region more effectively.

Fred attended Delaware Valley College and has completed several technical courses in agriculture and business management at Penn State University. He has wide ranging agronomic and sales experience. He has effectively held prior positions with Reading Bone Fertilizer Company and, most recently, as manager of the seed division at F. M. Brown's Sons, Inc. of Reading, PA.

Fred is a member of the PA turfgrass council, PA forage and grasslands council as well as the PA Seedsmen's Association.

Frederick S. Mohr Jr.

The White model 140 tractor is being produced at the firm's Clearwater, Ohio plant.

New Tractor Line Begins Production at White-New Idea's Ohio Plant

COLDWATER, OH — Ohio Lieutenant Governor Paul Leonard and Ohio Director of Agriculture Steve Maurer were on hand to inaugurate Allied Products' White-New Idea Division's new tractor assembly line, as the first tractors began to roll off the line at the company's Coldwater, Ohio plant last month.

The new production line represents the culmination of a consolidated initiated by Allied Products during the past year, which has combined the company's White Farm and New Idea Divisions. The White-New Idea consolidation is expected to result in operating cost savings of approximately $12 million, as well as strengthen the Division's and Allied Products' commitment to the farm equipment market.

"We are very proud in Columbus of the merger and investment that has brought this event to fruition. I'm constantly reminding people in the state of Ohio that our number one industry is farming. We have to continue to invest resources and bring new sciences and technologies to bear on the agricultural industry. We don't want the farm industry of Ohio to become part of the rust belt. We will have to continue to upgrade the industry, re-tool it, and modernize it. This new tractor assembly line in Coldwater will serve as a step forward in this process," said Paul Leonard, Ohio's lieutenant governor.

"The White-New Idea consolidation and the tractors rolling off the new tractor assembly line signify our long-term commitment to the farm equipment market," said Charles Lunger, senior executive vice president and COO of Allied Products. "We have maintained this commitment, even in the face of the numerous mergers, consolidations, buyouts and bankruptcies that have plagued the farm industry over the past few years. This consolidation strengthens this commitment, and enhances our ability to expand our market share and increase profits."

The new $2-million assembly line, which includes a newly improved paint system, has begun production with the White model 140 tractor, a heavy-duty row crop tractor in the mid-range horsepower category. This model features a six cylinder 359 C.I.D. Cummins "B" diesel engine delivering 26 percent torque rise and near "constant power." The White 140 is one of the most fuel efficient tractors on the market today.

Unverferth Hubs Feature Precision Machined Inserts

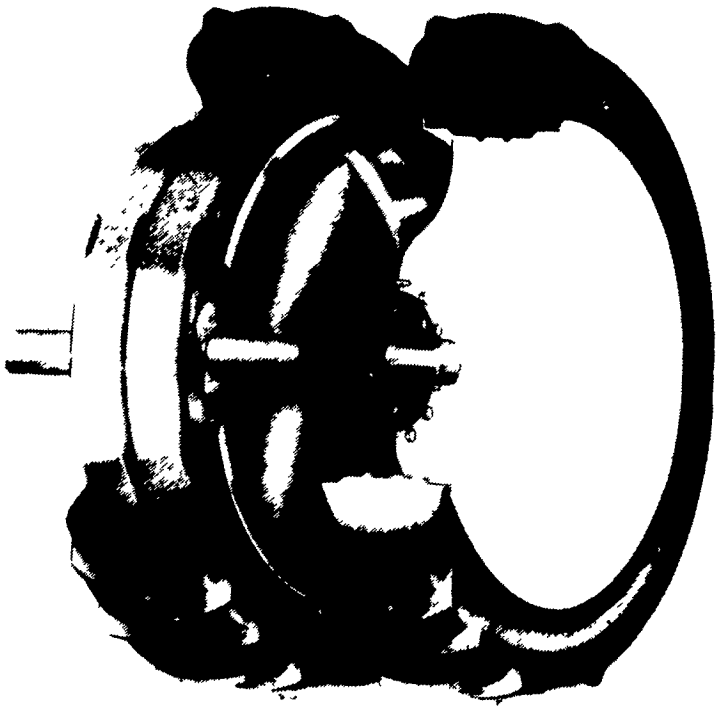
KALIDA, OH — Unverferth Manufacturing Co., is now manufacturing its economical, Wedg-Lok® direct axle hub with fully precision machined inserts for exact fit.

Constructed of high-strength ductile iron for durability, the inserts wedge and lock the hub to the axle. One insert is keyed specifically to the tractor's axle and the other insert is radiused. For easy removal, both inserts are designed with two jack bolts each.

Engineered for tractors of any horsepower, Wedg-Lok® hubs can be installed quickly and easily since all mounting bolts are located on the outside.

The Wedg-Lok⊂ hubs are part of a direct axle wheel system which includes two three-piece hubs, two wheels and mounting hardware. The system features a guide pin that simplifies mounting and allows the hub and wheel to be removed as one unit. Optional hub extensions in 5, 10, 13 and 15-inches for varying the distance between the dual and original wheel.

For free literature or more information contact Unverferth Manufacturing Co., Inc., P.O. Box 357, Kalida, OH 45853; 800/322-6301, FAX 419-532-2468.



This hub has a fully precision machined insert for exact fit. It is constructed of high-strength ductile iron.

Harvesting Device Reduces Grain Loss

NEW YORK, NY — A new device that enables farmers to reduce grain losses during harvesting has been developed by an Australian company, Harvestaire Pty. Ltd.

The device is a plastic extension finger that can be simply attached to existing harvesting fingers with a standard bolt.

Extensive trials in Australia have demonstrated that the system is an unqualified success when used in the harvesting of light, low or shatter-prone grain crops.

Currently the device is undergoing suitability trials in the U.S. and Mexico. "If these trials are successful — and we are confident they will be — we expect substantial orders from these two countries," said Don Brooks, managing director of the company.

In the U.S., the finger is being used for soy bean and other edible bean harvesting, and in Mexico, for garbanzo (chick pea) harvesting.

The device is also suitable for crops in Zimbabwe, Argentina and Ecuador (soy beans), Venezuela (soy beans and sesame seeds), Saudi Arabia, Libya, Algeria, Morocco, Iran, Iraq and Egypt (mainly for sesame, chick peas and lupins), Austria, Britain, Belgium, Denmark, France, Italy, Norway, Spain, Sweden and FR Germany (rapeseed and barley).

Australian farmers have found the extensive fingers ideal for the harvesting of many grain crops, including shatter-prone lupins, mungbeans and linseed.

Advantages of the finger are the price, lightness and strength. "In addition to the price and strength attributes, the plastic extension fingers have proven to be much safer in use than metal extensions," Brooks indicated. When metal extensions break, they can cause severe damage to the threshing mechanism of the harvesting machine, with a serious resulting loss of time and money while repairs are being made," Brooks added. "The plastic finger is about one quarter the cost of steel or cast

(Turn to Page D8)

These plastic extension fingers, which can be attached to existing harvest fingers, cost one quarter less than and weigh less than steel or cast-iron finger extensions.

Peet Retires From Agway

LANCASTER — Elwin Peet has retired after 39 years of service with the company as a driver and then a manager.

Elwin Peet, of 2723 Sherwood Lane, with his wife, Judy, started his career in 1949, in Mansfield, PA as a driver with the Grange Federation League (now Agway). After serving in the U.S. Army for two years, he became plant manager in Greene, NY. He was then transferred to Bloomsburg in 1961, Newtown in 1965, and Lancaster in 1969.

As an active member of the Modern Heat Council of Lancaster County, Peet is a past president and director. He is also a past president of the Tri-County Chapter of PA Farm Cooperative Youth Program in Montour, Columbia, and Luzerne counties.

FIRST CEREAL

In 1882, the first commercially manufactured breakfast cereal was created. Shredded Wheat and its successors have made breakfast the number one consumption period for milk.

BUTTER

It takes approximately 11 quarts of milk to make one pound of butter.

MAKE IT REAL

For predictable results and real dairy flavor, good cooks check for the "Real" Seal on milk and milk product packages. Only products conforming to federal and state standards of identity can be certified to carry this seal.

Harvesting Device

Fingers are molded from extremely durable, pliable polypropylene. They will bend, but can easily be returned to operating position. The material is UV stabilized, protecting it from sunlight.

The finger is simple to fit or replace. Standard fingers are individually bolted on, and they can be sold in bank configurations if desired. They fit any brand of original finger, or can be fitted to a four-in-one, no-choke finger manufactured by Harvestaire.

The company has an established reputation as an exporter of harvesting equipment to the U.S., Canada, Mexico, Argentina, Brazil, Venezuela and the Middle East.

Harvestaire recently began exporting another new product — a knife section for harvesting machinery. This section is being used in the U.S., Canada, Mexico, Argentina, Ecuador, Venezuela, and several Middle Eastern countries.

"The big advantage of our section is that it lasts twice as long as conventional ones," Brooks said. "We have achieved this by creating a change in manufacturing techniques and twice the depth of the serrations of previous knife sections."

SLICK CONCRETE CAN BE ROUGHENED

SCABBLING is an effective way to avoid unnecessary losses of cattle. The SCABBLER makes bands about two inches wide approximately 1/8" to 3/16 in. depth. This gives sufficient area for good footing while allowing you to scrape the smooth surface as before. It is near enough to the surface to give your cows full advantage of the roughness and deep enough to remain effective for years. It greatly aids in heat detection.

And the good news is that it is reasonably priced. You have the choice of doing it yourself or having us do it for you. We offer service right to your door. Call us for more details.

Deere Spreader Reduces Maintenance, Increases Durability

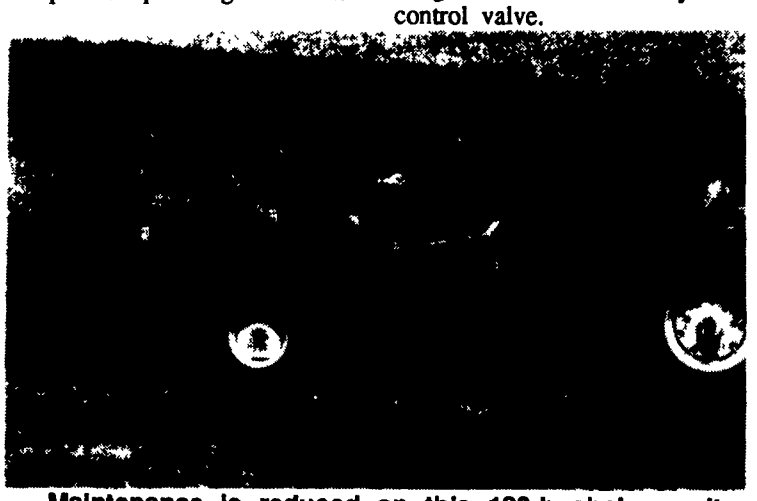
MOLINE, IL — John Deere has introduced the 350 spreader with a 180-bushel capacity and several new features.

Maintenance is reduced by using a fiberglass-reinforced, plastic floor and special sides with a water-resistant, resin-impregnated coating. Floor and sides will clean easily and will not rust, rot, wear off or break.

A 30½ -inch diameter main beater, with tip speed up to 2,977 feet per minute and a bevel gear drive, improves the spread pattern. A primary v-belt drives the main beater and optional upper beater. The beater combs are ¼ -inch, heat-treated, high-carbon steel. The upper beater is available for large load spreading in hay fields or pastures.

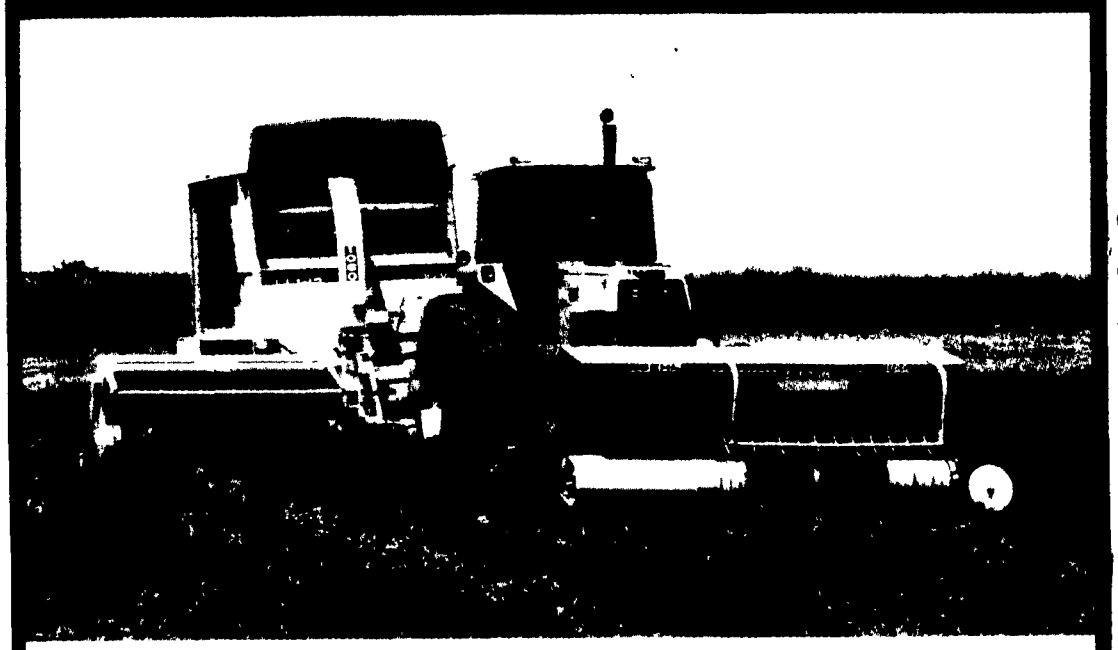
The apron drive is hydraulic and controlled from the tractor. It features fewer mechanical parts and has six unloading speeds. The 67 t-rod apron chain has a 16,000-pound tensile strength.

Optional equipment includes galvanized steel extensions to increase capacity, a hydraulic endgate for load containment and metering the discharge rate, and an endpan for spreading finer material. A diverter valve, controlled from the tractor seat, is available to operate the hydraulic apron and endgate with one remote cylinder control valve.



Maintenance is reduced on this 180-bushel-capacity spreader by using a fiberglass-reinforced plastic floor and special sides with a water-resistant coating.

GEHL



Harvest in half the time

A Gehl windrow merger on the front of your tractor combines two windrows into one to cut haylage harvesting field time in half. You get big fuel savings, improved uniformity of cut, more crop harvested at its nutritional peak, plus less wear and tear on your tractor and reduced soil compaction.

Gehl forage harvester advantages

Compare these unique Gehl features to the competition. You'll see why Gehl forage harvesters are leading the way.

- AutoMax load sensing system lets you operate your harvester at maximum capacity without fear of downtime due to overloading
- One-side cutterbar adjustment is fast and easy—without reversing the cylinder. Plus Gehl's in-head hydraulic knife sharpener sharpens the entire knife bevel - not just the tip
- Overrunning clutch protects your tractor pto when disengaging power to the forage harvester
- Metal Stop metal detector, totally Gehl designed for improved performance. Prevents harvester damage and hardware disease in your livestock
- Choose from three high-capacity models designed for today's wide range of tractor horsepower
- Plus Gehl's forage boxes and blowers speed crop delivery to save even more time at the silo

Six Grad Students Selected For J. Fielding Reed PPI Fellowships

ATLANTA, GA — Six outstanding graduate students have been named as 1988 winners of the "J. Fielding reed PPI Fellowships" awarded by the Potash & Phosphate Institute (PPI). Grants of $2,000 each are presented to the individuals. All are candidates for either the Master of Science (M.S.) or the Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) degree in soil fertility and related sciences.

The 1988 recipients were chosen from nearly 50 applicants who sought the Fellowships. The six are:

- Jessica G. Davis-Rainey, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas;
- Matthew J. Eick, University of Delaware, Newark, Delaware;
- Seth H. Frisbie, Cornell University, Ithaca, New York;
- Stuart J. Georgitis, Montana State University, Bozeman, Montana;
- Brian J. Lang, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minnesota;

Richard P. Wolkowski, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisconsin.

"We are very pleased to offer this recognition and encouragement for an elite group of young scientists. All of the applicants for the fellowships have impressive records," said Dr. R.E. Wagner, President of PPI and the Foundation for Agronomic Research (FAR). "These individuals and their education institutions can be justly proud."

Scholastic record, excellence in original research, and leadership are among the important criteria evaluated for the Fellowships. Following is a brief summary of information for each of the winners:

Jessica G. David-Rainey is a candidate for the Ph.D. (Doctoral) degree in soil fertility at Texas A&M University. Her research program involves root distribution of sorghum and millet as influenced by fertilization and soil physical and chemical properties She conducted research in West Africa and has gathered considerable data on intercropping and the soil-root-nutrient system. Previously, Davis-Rainey completed a B.S. degree at Cornell University and a M.S degree at Texas Tech University, where Dr. H.M Taylor was her major professor. She graduated from Abington (Pennsylvania) High School and has an outstanding record academically and in other activities Dr. L R Hossner serves as chairman of her Ph D research advisory committee

Matthew J. Eick is pursuing the M.S. degree at the University of Delaware. His research program is concerned with the effect of salinity on potasium (K) reactions in soils and soil fractions. Data from Israeli and Delaware soils will be used with plant uptake and yield data to model the effects of saline (salt) water on K availability and mobility. This information should have implications for quality of water in crop irrigation in many areas of the world. Eick earned his B.S. in Agronomy-Soil Science at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, graduating with honors (cum laude). A native of New Jersey, he has also been a leader in various community and charitable groups. His program of research is under the direction of Dr. D.L. Sparks.

Seth H. Frisbie is seeking the Ph.D. degree in soil fertility at Cornell University. His research is addressing the loss of nitrogen (N) by ammonia volatilization. His hypothesis is that, with proper organic matter management, the loss of N due to ammonia volatization can be significantly reduced. As part of his M.S. program, also at Cornell, Frisbie developed an analytical technique for measuring inorganic carbon in small volumes of solution. A native of Massachusetts, he graduated with honors from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and currently is a member of three national honor societies. His Ph.D. work is under the direction of Dr. D.R. Bouldin.

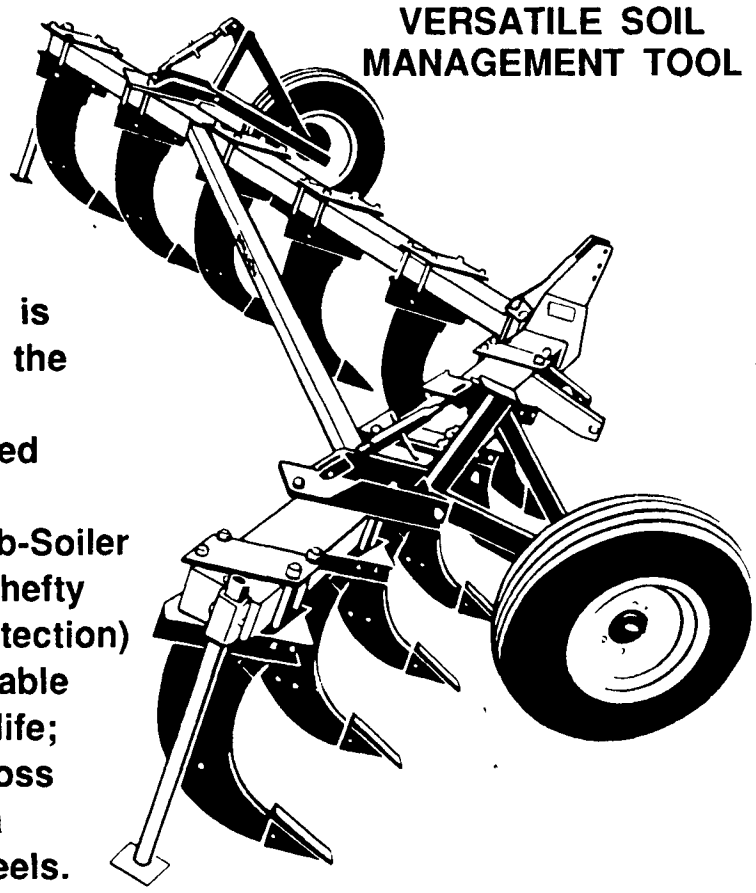
Stuart J. Georgitis is working toward the Ph.D. degree in soil fertility at Montana State University. His program concerns improvement of soil testing methodology for K, phosphorus (P), and sulphur (S) by development of a multi-element extraction technique-- the phytoavailability soil test (PST) Such a technique could be a more reliable and practical tool in soil analysis and should also serve as a scientific tool for understanding soil-plant interactions and ion movement in soils A native of Maine, Georgitis attended Colby College and received his B.S and M.S. degrees from the University of Maine. He has also been involved in various college and community activities. Dr. Earl O. Skogley as advisor for his Ph.D. program.

Brian J. Lang is a candidate for the Ph.D. degree in agronomy-plant physiology at the University of Minnesota. His research is directed at understanding the roles of K, harvest management and cultivar in dinitrogen fixation and winter survival of alfalfa. The hypothesis is that the degree of dinitrogen fixation may affect the coldhardiness and winter survival of the plant. In a related study, he will determine the effect of cultivar and K fertilization on photosynthate partitioning of alfalfa during cold acclimation. A native of Wisconsin, Lang received the B.S and M.S. degrees from the University of Wisconsin Dr. Craig C Sheaffer serves as major advisor for his Ph.D. program.

Richard P. Wolkowski is pursuing the Ph.D. degree in soil science at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. His research project is investigating soil compaction and plant nutrient interactions. He is seeking to assess the effects of soil compaction on the plant availability of nutrients and the crop response to applied N, P and K. Results indicate that detrimental effects (reduced corn yields) from soil compaction may be partly offset by fertility management, particularly row-applied K. Wolkowski recently relinquished his staff appointment in Cooperative Extension in order to devote full-time to his Ph.D. program. He earned his B.S. and M.S. degrees at the University of Wisconsin. His Ph.D. work is under the supervision of Dr. Larry G. Bundy.

Sub-Soil Chisel Plow Penetrates to 16 Inches

A POPULAR AND VERSATILE SOIL MANAGEMENT TOOL



The husky, curved shanks of the Sub-Soiler dig down as deep as 16 inches, shattering compacted layers of plow sole and lifting the hardpan while it is being broken. Once the soil is opened, moisture gets down to the newly created loose soil; root systems are no longer restricted and better drainage results.

What makes the BRILLION Sub-Soiler better? Check these features: hefty shank mountings (shear pin protection) with lateral adjustment; replaceable wear strips to prolong shank life; rugged, wide chisel points; cross braces on all models for extra strength and optional gauge wheels. Available in two frame sizes, four models — with 5, 7, 9 or 11 shanks.

Maryland Senator Presented With USDA Commendation

BEL AIR, MD — Senator William H. Amoss, District 35 serving Harford and Cecil Counties, has received a commendation from the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, Richard E. Lyng, in recognition of his initiative in sponsoring Senate Bill 741, which encourages Maryland farmers to place highly erodible lands in pasture, forest or natural wildlife grounds.

"I commend your efforts to obtain passage of Senate Bill 741, Maryland Conservation Program," stated Secretary Lyng. "This important piece of legislation should significantly enhance the clean-up and preservation of the Chesapeake Bay. Your interest and support to Maryland agriculture and conservation are appreciated."

James C. Richardson, State Executive Director of the U.S. Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service in Maryland, presented the award to Senator Amoss, on behalf of the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture.

Senate Bill 741, which became effective July 1, 1988, adds $20 per acre to the already substantial financial incentives provided by the Federal Reserve Conservation Program, under the Federal Food Security Act of 1985. The new State Conservation Program, will "piggyback" on the federal program.

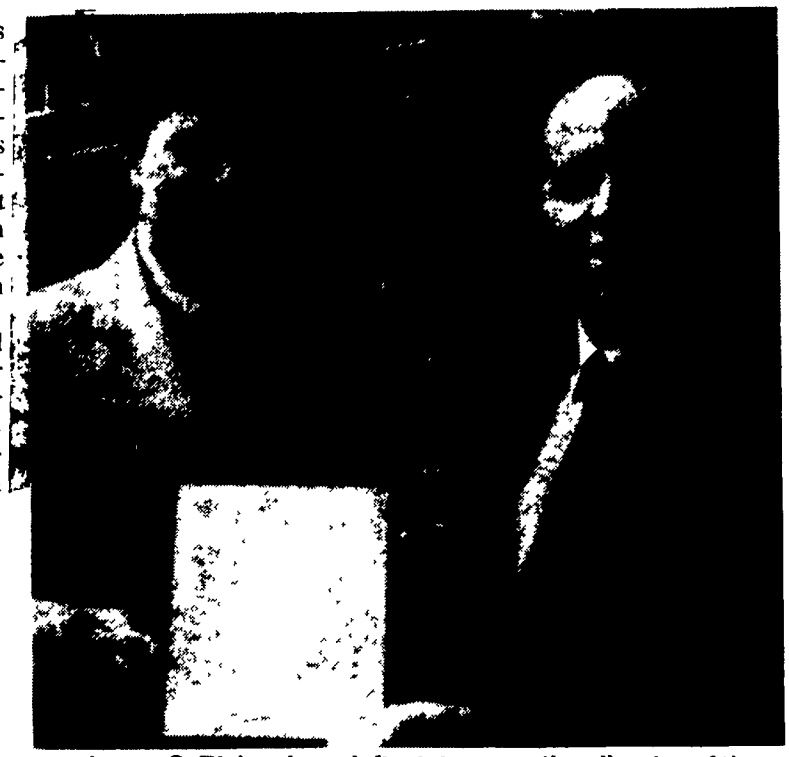
"The program gives extra encouragement to those farming highly erodible lands in critical areas, and around waterways and marshes leading to critical areas, to practice conservation methods. It is designed to help farmers establish buffer areas along the Bay and its tributaries," states Senator Amoss.

"While establishing these conservation areas, farmers will not lose the use of the land for pasture or forestation," indicates Senator Amoss.

"In the past, Maryland's response to the Federal Conservation Program has been poor," indicates Senator Amoss. "Twenty-three percent of Maryland farmers are eligible to share in this program, yet fewer than one percent have done so." While ranking 14th in federal eligibility for the reserve program, Maryland places 42nd in participation.

"The new state legislative and increased financial incentive for participation should creat greater interest in conservation by Maryland farmers," comments Senator Amoss. "I am hopeful that those who are currently cropping highly erodible lands along streams and in critical areas will give renewed consideration to the conservation program."

The next sign-up period for the Federal Reserve Consevation Program begins Monday, July 18th, and will run for three weeks. Applications and program information may be obtained by calling the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in the county of residence.



James C. Richardson, left, state executive director of the U.S. Agriculture Stabilization & Conservation Service in Maryland, presented a letter of commendation to Senator William H. Amos, District 35 serving Harford and Cecil counties.

Apple Growers Use Combination Sprays To Combat Insect Pests

MOORESTOWN, NJ — In apple orchards throughout the mid-Atlantic region, tufted apple budmoth has held a billing on the "most wanted" list of insect pests for much more than 10 years. Each year from June through August; this pest can be found in nearly every orchard from Pennsylvania to the Carolinas, chewing its way through apples and leaves.

By itself, the budmoth isn't exceptionally difficult to control, however, in most orchards its presence is compounded by a variety of other insect and mite pests that also are feeding on fruit and foliage. Collectively, this broad spectrum of pests can be a formidable challenge for apple growers concerned with protecting their crop and profits.

Fortunately, "prescription" pest control programs, whereby two or more insecticide or fungicide products are mixed together to form combination sprays, are available to help apple producers stop the budmoth and other insects.

Marshall Kuntz, a fruit management consultant in Adams County, noted that nearly all growers in his region use combination sprays today versus a single insecticide product.

"When combining or tank mixing two or more products together you can generally use a lower rate of chemical than would be necessary if any of the materials were applied individually," Kuntz explained. "Combination sprays are especially useful for controlling several different species of pests that are often present in the orchard at once. Using lower product rates can also help to minimize the likelihood of pest resistance developing over time."

Don Baldwin, Dow Chemical technical service specialist for mid-Atlantic region fruit crops, notes that in addition to helping growers reduce pesticide costs, combination sprays also can have a positive impact on orchard IPM programs.

"Most growers in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia are concerned with protecting predators in their orchards. The small, black Ladybird beetles (S. Punctum), for example, are very important for mite control in orchards, so growers may try to avoid using certain insecticides that harm these beneficials," Baldwin said. "Another strategy is the use of lower rates of those insecticides that are harmful in order to minimize the negative impact on the beneficials."

This year, mite predators are more important than ever because few miticide products are presently on the market, and those which are available have become less effective in recent years. By using insecticide products that are easy on beneficials, and by using reduced product rates in combination sprays, it is possible to achieve both broad spectrum pest control and maintain a healthy predator population in orchards.

Two of the most commonly used insecticides for controlling tufted apple budmoth include chlorpyrifos (Lorsban* 50W insecticide) and methomyl (Lannate insecticide). While each of these materials will control tufted apple budmoth when used alone, a combination spray with both materials is often recommended by pest control specialists as an effective broad spectrum treatment that fits well with IPM programs.

Baldwin notes that this year, new product use recommendations allow Lorsban 50W insecticide to be used in combination with methomyl at reduced rates.

The advantage of this combination are that growers get excellent control of tufted apple budmoth, rosy apple aphid, San Jose scale and other pests with the Lorsban 50W insecticide, plus they can control white apple leafhopper, spotted tentiform leafminer and other insects with the methomyl," Baldwin explains. "When combining these two insecticides, growers also typically use lower rates of product than would be required if either product were used alone."

For more information on pesticide combinations, apple growers are encouraged to contact their local agrichemical products dealer or consult state extension fruit pest management guides.

Soybean Expo '88 To Feature Soviet Ag Leader

ST. LOUIS, MO — More than 2,000 soybean farmers, family members and agribusiness representatives are expected to attend Soybean EXPO '88 in the Denver Convention Complex August 5-8.

"We urge anyone who plans to attend to register before July 1 because that's when registration fees will increase," said American Soybean Association (ASA) President Wayne Bennett, an Arkansas farmer.

Saturday morning's General Session II will feature Dr. Victor F. Lishchenko who is an agricultural project leader at the Institute of U.S. and Canadian Studies, a branch of the Soviet Academy of Sciences. David Frye, a well-known impressionist of political celebrities, will also entertain at this session.

A special "early bird" soybean quality session will be presented on Friday afternoon, August 5, featuring Dr. Lowell Hill of the University of Illinois, Dr. Charles Hurburgh of Iowa State University, ASA Director of Quality Programs James Guinn, Dr. Walter Fehr of Iowa State University and William Lester of Ag Processing Inc.

Concurrently, the Chicago Board of Trade will present an "early bird" session on soybean marketing. Both sessions will begin at 1:00 p.m.

Following these "early bird" sessions, the Chicago Board of Trade will host the EXPO opening reception. ASA President Wayne Bennett will address attendees during General Session I. This session also features motivationalist Joe Griffith and a special audio-visual presentation on the EXPO theme "Make The Difference." The Grand Opening of the Trade Show, sponsored by Monsanto Agricultural Company, will complete EXPO's first day activities.

On Saturday and Sunday there will be 13 "Special Opportunities for You" (SOY) Sessions covering a wide range of topics aimed at assisting U.S. soybean farmers increase profitability through production and marketing techniques.

DuPont Company will host a Trade Show luncheon on Saturday with Willie Mays, a member of major league baseball's Hall of Fame, as the special guest. On Saturday evening, BASF Corporation will host a special event for the entire family at Heritage Square in the Colorado foothills.

U.S. Representative Charles Stenholm (D,TX) will address the annual SoyPAC Luncheon and annual meeting on Sunday. Special entertainment for the ASA Awards Show on Sunday evening will include Danny Davis and the Nashville Brass and comedian Jerry Clower, both sponsored by Soybean Digest Magazine.

U.S. Senator Howell Heflin (D,AL) will be the speaker at the Presidents' Luncheon on Monday. Elanco Products Company will host the final EXPO event on Monday evening.

For Soybean EXPO '88 registration information, please call 800/USA-SOYA (314/432-1600 in Missouri).

ASCS Asks Farmers To File Acreage Reports

YORK — "We encourage all farmers, whether they participate in farm programs or not, to file an acreage report and protect their crop acreage bases," said W. Dean Manifold, vice-chairperson of the York County ASC Committee.

He said by certifying crop acres producers establish documentation for future crop acreage bases and also eligibility for different benefits under farm programs, if they decide to participate.

Farm program participants are required to report crops and acreages planted, the uses to be made of these crops, and cropland acres to be devoted to the acreage conservation reserve. When farmers report to the ASCS office, they can review aerial photographs of their farm and pinpoint the fields in which the crops are grown. This information is then documented for program compliance and crop acreage bases.

Manifold, from Stewartstown stated, "It is mandatory for farmers who are participating in this year's programs to file an acreage report, because without the report, they are not really a program participant." Manifold said the report must be filed in order to determine the level at which producers are eligible for price support loans, deficiency payments and other program benefits.

Manifold stated that the York County ASCS Office will be open extended hours, until 7:30 p.m., Thursday evenings. Farmers may report acres during this time. Appointments are required since a limited number of employees are on duty during the extended hours. The ASCS Office is located at 120 Pleasant Acres Road in York. Phone (717) 755-2801. Final certification dates for program crops in York County are: July 15 for spring seeded crops, except oats.

As of June 15, 1988, 500 farms in the county had reported fall-seeded and spring-seeded crops, according to Manifold.

"Eligibility for participation in all programs administered by ASCS is established under law without regard to race, color, age, sex, religion, national origin or physical handicap."

The satisfaction that comes from doing a good job of farming

Liming is one of the most important factors in keeping your soil in the highest productive range. A good pasture with a pH of 6.5 or higher for example will make 300 to 400 lbs. of beef per acre and produce up to $100 gross income per acre. This means with the help of lime profits from pastures can compare favorably with feed or row crops.

Plan Ahead For Fall Alfalfa Crops

NEWARK, DE — Farmers who prefer fall seedings of alfalfa will want to start getting ready now, according to Dean Belt, University of Delaware Extension agent. Before planting, growers should consider such things as site selection, soil fertility and pH, soil preparation and inoculation of seed.

Select a field with deep, rich, well-drained soil that can hold water during drought conditions. "Alfalfa won't tolerate poor drainage," says Belt, "so be choosy. Don't plant in a field simply because it's available. Also don't plant where high levels of triazines have been used within the last year."

Liming should start at least a year before the intended planting date. Begin all seedings with a soil test. Alfalfa needs a soil pH of 6.8 to 7.0, and the crop uses high rates of calcium, phosphorous, potassium, boron and sulfur.

When fertilizing, use liquid manure as a top dressing only on older stands that are thick and weed-free, says Belt. Apply no more than five tons per acre--the nitrogen in the manure stimulates weedy stands and the crop may be lost.

Soil texture for conventional alfalfa should be fine but firm. Plant seed no more than one-quarter to one-half inch deep. Loose or poorly worked soil allows seeds to fall into spaces too deep for germination. To help work the soil, the agent recommends using a cultipacker or a cultupacker seeder.

To control weeds, apply Eptam or Balan preplant 4 to 6 inches deep. Use these on pure alfalfa stands only. If broadleaf weeds become a problem, Belt suggests using 2, 4-DB after alfalfa seedings have at least two trifoliate leaves and weeds are no more than 3 inches tall.

If farmers are considering no-till, it should be used only on fields where pH is at the proper level, fertility is up, and weeds are under control. Barley or wheat stubble provides excellent ground cover for no-till alfalfa as long as the ground is level and perennial weeds are under control.

A successful stand of alfalfa also requires inoculation. Inoculants are small, living organisms called rhizobia. They're easily killed by heat and should be stored in the refrigerator. While many companies inoculate seed prior to bagging, Belt strongly suggests that farmers inoculate the seed anyway.

"Getting off to a good start will greatly influence the quality and longevity of the stand," says Belt. He recommends that Delaware growers plant their alfalfa between mid-August and mid-September.

Are Good Times On Their Way?

VIRGIL E. CROWLEY
Professor Emeritus
Farm Management Extension

Agriculture may be headed toward more prosperous times. Producers are getting significantly higher prices for cattle and relatively strong prices for other categories of livestock. Stronger demand for grains, including soybeans, also contributes to improved farm prosperity. Combine these factors with low inflation, reduced farm debt and improving farm real estate values and they point to better times ahead.

However, before celebrating perhaps we should take a more critical look to see if the good times truly are returning. There is little question that farmers with cow and calf operations are in a position to finally earn some well deserved profits after a relatively long period of low or zero profits. Also, farmers with well managed swine operations have had more past year; more times during the shown improvement, what about other major agricultural sectors important to Pennsylvania?

Well managed dairy operations continue to offer profit possibilities, but serious milk surpluses may be ahead, which could adversely affect dairy farmers income. Poultry, another major agricultural sector, is one where profits have changed to losses or marginal profits in many operations.

While many of the livestock sectors have become profitable, or continue to be so, the grain sector remains financially troubled.Even with the grain sector continuing to be depressed most observers of the agricultural scene agree that the economic situation of the nation's farmers has improved and will probably improve further in 1988.

While improvement has been made, the farming industry still has a long way to go to return to full prosperity. One of the major problems confronting farmers is developing an adequate cash flow that will permit replacement of capital, pay operating expenses and provide sufficient income for family living needs

What is the long run outlook for agriculture? Will there be a continuing improvement in farm income and increased prosperity? A recent report from midwestern agricultural economists was not particularly optimistic concerning future farm income. Their general consensus was that the prices of agricultural products would stay relatively the same and some commodities would probably decrease in price over the next few years. They also expect prices of inputs (seeds, fertilizers, chemitaxes. They predict increased government regulation, especially in the areas of agricultural chemical use and manure disposal. The midwest economists also expect government farm programs that support various commodity prices to be sharply reduced.

If these predictions are reasonably accurate, and many of us would agree that they could be, then farmers will face even more intense pressure on farm income and on their cash flow position.

What is the implication of these predictions for farmers? Does it mean that farming will no longer provide an opportunity to earn a decent living, and a way of life? Not necessarily, but it does mean that farmers will need to place added emphasis on many of the farm business practices that have been recommended in the past and often will have to operate in a more regulated climate.

It is important to remember that not all sectoss of agriculture are affected in the same manner. While some segments of agriculture are suffering serious economic hardships other segments may be enjoying prosperity. It has nearly always been that way and there is no indication that there will be significant change in the farming sectors.

Obviously there could be many factors which would make these longer range predictions fail to come to pass -- weather, war or some natural disaster in various parts of the world. The cattle markets of recent weeks have provided ample proof that supply and demand factors still have a profound influence on prices farmers receive for their product.

If all things remain relatively normal, farmers in the future will need more detailed farm records, not just farm accounts but an accurate record of all farm activities including crops planted, fertilizers used, rate applied, chemicals used, application rate, date of application and weather conditions at time of application.

Farmers will need a projected cash flow that is as accurate as they can possibly develop They should consider incorporating a risk factor into their cash flow by increasing projected cash flow expenditures by some percentage to compensate for the uncertainty that affects farm production, such as weather and new technology.

The managerial demands on farm operators will increase significantly in the years ahead and the rewards will be adequate for those farmers who can meet those demands. While the demands will be great, the challenges should make farming an even more exciting career in the years ahead.

Ground Beef Purchases Authorized To Help Offset Drought Impact

WASHINGTON, D.C. — To help cattle producers hurt by the drought, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has set aside an additional up to $50 million to purchase bulk ground beef for domestic food assistance programs.

Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng authorized USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service the additional monies in surplus commodity funds (Section 32) today. He said the additional purchase of surplus bulk ground beef--as well as pork if market conditions warrant--will provide market assistance to the nation's producers. Lyng said this action will help stabilize conditions in the commodity markets which have responded strongly to the drought news recently.

USDA estimates that an additional $50 million in Section 32 funds will purchase approximately 45 million pounds of bulk frozen ground beef. This will be in addition to the regularly scheduled purchases planned for this fiscal year.

The drought has reduced forage supplies, increased cow marketing, and depressed cow prices. USDA figures show the price of utility cows is down sharply from $50 per hundredweight in early May. By mid-June, cows were selling for $37 50 per hundredweight, down 25 percent.

Under authority of Section 32 of Public Law 74-320, AMS purchases surplus of perishable commodities for donation to schools, institutions, and other eligible domestic outlets. These purchases are funded from customs receipts.

Berks County 4-H'ers Win State Awards

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre) — Three Berks County 4-H'ers were named state winners in the 1988 National Awards Program. They will be eligible to attend the National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

Sheila. Newhard was named state winner of both the Edwin T. Meredith College Scholarship and home management categories; Gwendolyn Perry was named state sheep winner; and Tammy Balthaser was named state Food Careers Scholarship winners.

The daughter of Ronald and Lila Newhard, Sheila will be entering Penn State in the fall. She has served as president, vice president, secretary and treasurer of her local 4-H club, and assistant social chairman and assistant news reporter of County Council. She also assisted with club activities and events as a teen leader and completed projects in food and nutrition, sewing and leadership.

Sheila took part in 4-H Fair, Recognition Night and Communication Night at the county level, and Fashion Revue at both the county and regional levels. She also participated in state events such as Capitol Days and Achievement Days. Newhard was selected as Outstanding 4-H Girl in 1988.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Perry Jr., Gwendolyn is a senior at Fleetwood Area High School. A 4-H member for nine years, she has served as president and secretary of her local 4-H club, and vice president, secretary and news reporter of the county club. She also assisted with club activities and events as a teen leader and completed projects in sheep, market lambs, clothing and textiles, cooking, vegetables, flowers, photography and leadership.

She took part in county Fashion Revue, Sheep Round-Up, Clothing Round-Up, 4-H Fair, 4-H Recognition Night and 4-H Communications Night. Regional activities include Fashion Revue, livestock judging, Sheep Bowl, and Leadership Forum, Capitol Days, Achievement Days, Penn State 4-H Week, Farm Show and Fashion Revue are state activities she has participated in, while national events she attended include Citizenship Washington Focus in Washington, D.C. and an International 4-H Youth Exchange trip to Japan. Gwendolyn has previously been honored as a Farm Show Junior Showman.

The daughter of Wilson and LaVerne Balthaser, Tammy is a freshman at Penn State majoring in food science. A 4-H member for seven years, she has served as president, vice president and secretary of her local 4-H club, and treasurer and social chairman of the County Council. She also assisted with club activities and events as a teen leader and completed projects in dairy, swine, poultry and leadership.

Tammy took part in county Recognition Night, Communications Night, 4-H Fair and 4-H Development Board. She participated in Penn State 4-H Week and Leadership Congress at the state level and also participated in numerous national events including the 1984 Poultry Judging Contest in Louisville, Kentucky, the 1986 National 4-H Congress in Chicago, the 1986 Dairy Management Workshop in Blacksburg, Virginia and the 1986 Dairy Reproduction Workshop, also in Blacksburg.

These 4-H'ers are three of the 45 Commonwealth 4-H members selected as state contest winners in the various project categories. They were judged on the basis of their project work, leadership ability, and participation in county and state activities. They were picked from among the more than 78,400 Pennsylvania youth who annually take part in Cooperative Extension's educational 4-H program.

Montgomery County 4-H'er Wins State Award

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre) — Craig Kinsky of Lansdale, an outstanding Montgomery County 4-H member, was named state Agriculture Careers Scholarship winner in the 1988 National Awards Program.

Kinsky will be eligible to attend National 4-H Congress in Chicago, December 3-8, where he will compete for one of six $1,000 scholarships. Support for the Agricultural Careers Scholarships is provided by the DEKALB Foundation.

Carroll L. Howes, 4-H awards program coordinator at Penn State, who announced the award selection, said Kinsky was judged on the basis of his project work, leadership ability and participation in county and state activities.

He was picked from among the more than 78,400 Pennsylvania youth who annually take part in Cooperative Extension's educational 4-H program

The son of Charles and Judith Kinsky, he is a freshman at Delaware Valley College of Science and Agriculture. A 4-H member for 10 years, he served as secretary and treasurer of his local club. He also assisted with club activities and events as a teen leader and completed projects in dairy, rabbit, steer, sheep, calf and riflery.

Craig Kinsky

Kinsky has taken part in county activities such as 4-H Fair, Mall Days, and nursing home visitation with the "Have Animals, Will Travel" program. He also participated in regional livestock judging and rabbit bowl, as well as Penn State 4-H Week. He is one of the 45 Commonwealth 4-H members selected as state contest winners in the various project categories.

Tree Planting In Pennsylvania Is On Increase

HARRISBURG — The number of acres of land being planted to trees in Pennsylvania is increasing. "One major factor contributing to this increase is the conservation reserve program," reports William Clifton, woodland specialist for the USDA, Soil Conservation Service (SCS).

The conservation reserve program was enacted as part of the Food Security Act of 1985. It encourages farmers to stop growing crops on highly erodible cropland and plant it to trees or grass through 10-year contracts with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Michael Capp, in York County, saw the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) as an opportunity to stop farming a marginally profitable, steep field. Tree planting provisions of CRP offered Capp a chance to get financial help in planting the field to trees. He also will receive an annual rental for the land for 10 years from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

According to Capp, there were several reasons for his decision to convert 14 acres of steep eroding cropland to trees. Number one on the list was the attractive feature of the land rental payments for 10 years. Also, he figures 10 years from now he will be well along the way towards receiving some kind of a return from the white pine trees that were planted.

"Also," Capp stated, "one year a heavy rain right after crops were planted caused a lot of gullying and soil erosion in the field. The trees will hold the soil in place and also provide some habitat for wildlife."

After submitting a bid to have the land placed in the conservation reserve, planning help was provided by Craig Keeran, PA Bureau of Forestry and Riggs Harwell, Soil Conservation Service.

Capp contracted with Bob Bingman, consulting forester from Etters to have the trees planted Bingman, who provides forestry services in a number of counties in southeast Pennsylvania, said there has been a substantial increase this year in tree planting. He alone has planted 75,000 tree seedlings this year compared to 30,000 last year.

The national goal for the CRP program is 45 million acres. Up to the present time, more than 25 million acres have been accepted during the 2½ years CRP has been in existence.

CRP has been hailed as the greatest tree planting effort in the history of the U.S. "During the next two years or so that the CRP will likely be around this tree planting record can only continue to climb higher and higher," added Clifton.,

The next signup for CRP will be July 18 to August 5. Additional information on CRP or tree planting is available from ASCS and SCS offices.

Consulting Forester, Bob Bingman and his crew planted 75,000 tree seedlings this year so far compared to 30,000 last year.

CHICKEN FEED IS BIG MONEY

Don't Waste It!

For fifty years BIG DUTCHMAN CHAIN has been carrying feed to chickens. And for fifty years poultry equipment companies, including Big Dutchman, have tried to find a better way. There isn't one...only other ways.

If you are a poultryman who is tiring of "pie in the sky" claims of extra cage rows per house and truckloads of feed savings... then look to Big Dutchman, the leader in poultry cage equipment systems. Take a "hands on" look at time-tested fully proven cage systems, to find out why producers are putting over a million layers every month into new Big Dutchman installations. Then look to the really successful poultry farms world wide and you will find Big Dutchman Chain carrying the load.

TWO GREAT PRODUCTS FOR TWO DIFFERENT JOBS

HAY CURE

Aids in curing hay up to 30% moisture, thus saving protein rich leaves It also aids in getting hay, which is not quite dry in ahead of bad weather

ADVANTAGES OF HAY CURE

- Has a lower PH reading
- Dry, free-flowing, absorbent material
- Less corrosive - easier on equipment
- Easy handling
- More economical
- Contains 30% propionic acid
- Lower cost of application
- Proven effective on farm test

Improved Buffered Propionic Acid

SILAGE CURE

An aid to making good silage better by stimulating fermentation during the first 72 hours after ensiling, thus promoting rapid acidification and reducing heat and energy loss.

A Proven Blend of Enzymes and Bacteria

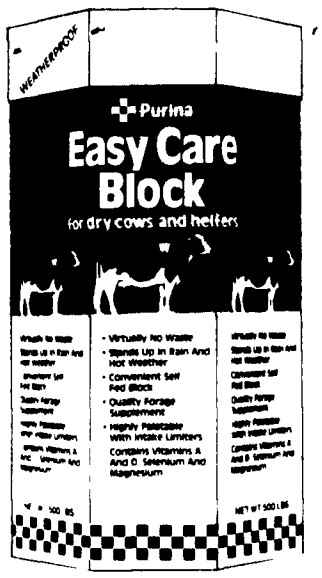
Grain Short?
Consider these alternative programs

1. Easy Care Block



is a 22% protein block formulated specifically as a feeding supplement for dry cows and heifers. Available in 50 and 500 lb. blocks

- Weatherproof
  Like its companion product, Easy Care Blocks stands up to all kinds of weather, so waste is minimal.
- Highly Palatable - with Intake Limiters
  Molasses-based for palatability but contains intake limiters to prevent over consumption when fed as recommended. Dry cows and heifers get what they need – no more, no less.
- Balances Forages
  Supplements forages to provide the balanced nutrition important to dry cows and heifers. Easy Care Block is formulated specifically to the nutrient requirements of dairy dry cows and heifers.
- Self Fed
  Saves both time and labor – especially on hard to reach temporary pastures.
- Contains Vitamins-Minerals-Selenium and Magnesium
  Meets Vitamin A and D Requirements when fed as recommended and supplies Selenium and Magnesium lacking in some forages.
- 1 to 3 # per head per day consumption
- Full-Feed roughages
- Can reduce or replace grain feeding to heifers and dry cows.

Note: Our Easy Care & Hi-Octane Milking Blocks HAVE NOT gone up dramatically in price & remain a good, convenient, feeding value

2. Purina Complete Feeds and Grain Stretching Products With And Without NPN

For best feeding EFFICIENCY try a Purina Mills Complete Dairy Feed or Checkermix to meet the nutritional needs of your lower producing cows. Then topfeed a high-protein, performance concentrate to those cows above 50# milk per day.

With this "split-cart" program you won't over feed your lower producers while meeting the higher nutritional requirements of early-lactating, fresh cows.

Call Your Local Purina Dealer or Farm Consultant To Customize A Program For Your Herd.
